A VEGETABLE WONDER!

Copyright, 1888, by Peter Henderson & Co.
HENDERSON'S NEW
BUSH LIMA BEAN
Can and Should be Grown in every Garden on the Continent.

Of all the Novelties in Garden Products ever sent out, there is nothing so entirely distinct and valuable as this New Vegetable. The old Lima Bean can only be grown on poles, while the NEW BUSH LIMA grows and is cultivated exactly like the common bush or snap bean (growing only 18 inches high), and from the time of its bearing in July, produces in abundance delicious Lima Beans throughout the entire season until frost. It has, besides, an additional value, in that it is two weeks earlier than any other Lima Bean, being fit for the table in from 40 to 50 days from time of planting.

Price (by mail) 25 cents per packet, 5 packets for $1.00, 12 packets for $2.00. (12 packets sufficient for an ordinary-sized family for the season). Directions for growing on each packet. Remittances can be sent either by Post Office Order, Postal Note or Stamps.

VOL. XLIII. MARCH 30, 1889. No. 1,098

Wall street ought to be happy, but it is not. Rates out West are maintained, and about all the roads make a better exhibit than last years. Net earr ings show a larger gain than gross earnings. Money is easy, and here we are on the verge of April without any gold shipment to speak of. Europe is certainly buying our bonds and stocks, and is taking more of our provisions and corn than ever before in our history. Notwithstanding all these favorable factors, stocks have been drooping, and it is the bears which is the aggressive party. The fact seems to be that the conservative investor is again proving himself a goose. He would not sell last year when Burlington, Atchison, Rock Island and the Grangers generally were too high. Now that the bad news has been discounted in the price of securities, he is eager to sell his investment stock. It is strange that the most long-headed and prudent men will insist in buying stocks when they are assuredly high, and in selling them when their price declines. Prices ought to be better after the April settlements.

The diplomatic appointments of President Harrison are generally excellent, and Secretary Blaine should get his share of praise for the selections, as it is incredible that his advice should be disregarded in every instance. The son of Abraham Lincoln will not make much of a mark as a speaker at the festive gatherings in London, but he will be an object of interest, and, as he is a man of discretion, will not be likely to compromise the interests of the country he represents.

A great deal has been said since Mr. Gould's letter to Mayor Grant was published, about the "loop" desired by the Manhattan Company to increase their facilities at the Battery Park terminus. It is doubtful, however, whether one person out of ten has any kind of an idea of what the Manhattan Company really asks for, and in return for which they declare the present rapid transit accommodation of the city would be considerably increased. So that our readers can form a sane judgment on the matter, and speak from the merits of the case and not from prejudice and in tune with public clamor, we print elsewhere in this issue a map to scale of the Battery Park, showing the existing elevated lines and the proposed "loop." It will be seen that the Manhattan Company ask for only twenty-four feet of the park, partly parallel to and adjoining the existing structure. The concessions they desire would not materially detract from either the present beauty or serviceableness of the park. It is in no sense the gross piece of vandalism it would appear to be from the tone of the daily press and the idea which the public has of the matter.

Even at the expense of reiterating what has been said before in these columns on this subject of rapid transit we must again point out that the city could not pursue a blinder, a more suicidal policy than its present attitude toward the elevated roads. These roads, and these alone, can give quick relief to a condition of things which has become, not only an intolerable nuisance, but is stunting the growth of the city, damaging its prosperity and driving population to surrounding towns. In saying this we are not condoning any evil done by the Manhattan Company, or holding up Jay Gould as a public-spirited citizen, or ignoring Mayor Grant's project or any of the many excellent transit schemes which have been made public in the last twenty years. We do recognize, however, that even under more fortunate circumstances that experience permits us to imagine, no road not in existence to-day can help us in our immediate difficulties. At best they are all three, four, five or more years away. As Lawson Fuller told Mayor Grant, any scheme yet to be born must go through the measles, whooping cough, scarlatina and other troubles, and about its survival and attainment to maturity there must always be doubt. The best scheme ever proposed —the Arcade Road—that for twenty years was engineered and managed with indomitable courage and remarkable skill was killed when its success seemed most certain. It is senseless to ignore facts which everyone recognizes. The obstacles that beset Bunyan's Christian on his way to Heaven were not more numerous than those which any and every new scheme will have to confront before it goes into operation. On the other hand, here is the Manhattan Company's system constructed and in operation. It may not be an ideal system, it may be totally inadequate for the future, but it is all we have got to-day, and by slight concessions, and with the work of a few months it can be greatly improved, so that transit will be a more comfortable and more rapid matter than it is. Why not accept the half until we can have the whole?

It is to be hoped that common sense will prevail in this question. The public, of whom Mayor Grant is the representative, should give the Manhattan Company the hearing that has practically been denied to it. Mayor Grant should call back the officers of the company whom he dismissed with the assurance that his mind was so firmly made up that prolonged consideration of their views was useless. By falling back upon the excellent policy outlined in his address, wherein he invited everyone to give him ideas and suggestions for his fullest attention, and by learning what concessions to the public the Manhattan Company are willing to make in return for concessions from the city, some arrangement might be reached which would better subserve the interests of everybody than the present policy of looking to a remote future for the requirements of to-day.

Of course one reason of the unpopularity of the Manhattan Company is because Gould and Sage are its principal owners. Yet the two men had nothing to do with bringing the system into existence. To Cyrus W. Field more than to any one man does that credit belong. We have often condemned Field for his rapacity and for the league he made with Jay Gould and Russell Sage; but his service in laying the first cable as well as in building the "L" roads of this city will be remembered to his credit long after this generation has passed away.

With this hostility to the "L" system, the public naturally turn to the Mayor's plan of a commission to locate a route and organize a company to do the work. But, to begin with, this scheme would require time. The Evening Post thinks that Mayor Grant should not be permitted to appoint the commission until he has been a year in office; then there will be fighting in the courts, quarrelling among the promoters, and blackmailing by the lawyers and politicians. After six or eight years had elapsed what kind of a road would be built? A viaduct would be too costly. An underground structure would be out of the question, unless indeed it was an Arcade Road. The traveling public would never go through a noisome hole underground when given the choice of traveling with comfort in the open air. As the underground road would not run for less than five cents, it could get but little business of its own, and its charter would naturally fall into the hands of its rival. Keeping in view all the circumstances of the case, it is our deliberate conviction that the only rapid transit we shall have for the next quarter of a century is that furnished by the elevated roads.

One of the anomalies of our American municipal governments is the efficiency of some of the departments and the wastefulness which marks the control of others. What can be more admirable in its management than our fire department? New York gets a splendid service at a minimum of cost. Our Croton water department is equally well managed. We have a police force we are proud of. Our educational machinery might be improved upon, but there are no monetary scandals connected therewith. But our public markets have always been a scandal to New York. The petty officials employed are recruited from the lowest type of politicians; for half a century the blackmailing of the marketmen has been the rule and not the exception. The revelations brought out in the recent investigation is a pretty good specimen of the way in which public markets have been managed for at least two generations.

Matters will doubtless be better for a little while now that Senator Daly has been made Superintendent of Markets. Although a Tammany Democrat he has made an excellent record at Albany; but, of course, the difficulty has been that in reality we have had no markets. The so-called Washington Market was a collection of broken down sheds in which it was impossible to maintain order or a system. Dealers did not wish to give this market up as it did an enormous business, but its limited area and lack of proper accommodations tended to build up a swarm of little butchery and grocery shops all over the city, which fact has helped to make living very costly in New York. No city can fulfill its duty to its citizens without proper market facilities. Buildings must be provided where all kinds of meats and vegetables can be purchased at the lowest cost and with the least friction.

The time has come when New York should have a system of markets laid out to meet its future requirements. They should be edifices worthy of what will be the most populous and rich city on the globe, for we may take it for granted that some time or another that New York, Richmond, Kings, Queens and Westchester Counties will all be united under one vast municipal system. Our market places should be superior to those of the mediæval and ancient worlds. They should contain accommodations for armories and places to hold mass meetings and monster musical gatherings. When we have markets that will be a pride to the city there will be no danger of their being mismanaged.

The Building Boom—Its Causes and Prospects.

The sharp revival of building activity in New York City this spring, after a period of depression extending over twelve months, has not yet received the serious consideration it calls for. The fact that there has been a revival of industry has, of course, been widely noted, and the figures and other information on the subject given from week to week in THE RECORD AND GUIDE have, as usual, been copied by the daily press. But this has left a great deal of importance unsaid which it is now time to say, for operations are sufficiently far advanced to warrant it and make any general conclusion reached tolerably safe.

Approaching the subject, two matters stand forth as of prime importance for consideration: (1) The cause of the present activity, and (2) its probable financial result. Both may be treated as one, for obviously the latter depends in great part upon the nature of the former. One step, however, is necessary at the outset, and it is to mark the difference between operations north of 59th street and south of that street; for broadly speaking there is a difference in the character of the two. Certain important factors in operation in one section are scarcely existent in the other, and only confusion results from including the two districts in the same purview. For instance, "speculation" has a force upon building north of 59th street immensely greater than it has south of 59th street, where operations depend largely upon changes in the character of localities, the growth and necessities of trade, and similar circumstances. In short, conditions appertaining to the individual play a part in operations north of 59th street, which south of it is played by conditions appertaining to locality. Consequently we shall separate the two in what follows and confine our view in this article to the section north of 59th street.

Preceding Conditions.—What were the conditions amid which the present "boom," as some call it, commenced? In 1886, and especially in 1887, building in this city was phenomenally active. The annual expenditure for new construction, which, since the sudden increase in 1881, had fluctuated between $42,000,000 and $46,000,000, rose at a bound to $58,500,000 in 1886 and to $66,849,000 in 1887. Beyond a doubt there was over-building in these years, and the condition of the market resulting therefrom was not removed by the return to normal activity in 1888, when $47,000,000 was expended. The supply of buildings remained greatly in excess of the demand. The proof of this, if proof be necessary, is that on the west side alone, north of 59th street, as late as last fall, of the 1,089 buildings put upon the market from plans filed between April 1886 and April 1888, 603 remained unsold, and the number was undoubtedly increased by the completion of the work commenced later than April. Further proof of the excess of the supply over demand is found in the "difficulties," which in 1888 befell, not only so many "speculative" builders, but some of the strongest men in the trade.

The dawn of the present year promised better things which have not been realized. Even to this day the demand has not improved materially. The numerous "trades" which the official filings reveal, and the difficulty that is experienced in disposing of new dwellings and flats at satisfactory prices on either the east or west sides at auction or by private treaty are evidences of this. Scores of cases to point might be given. Only last month a dwelling was offered at the Exchange for the third time within the last few months, yet the owner had to bid it in, though it is said he is willing to sell it for $10,000 below cost.

The Commencement of Activity.—In spite of these adverse conditions building operations were started in January, 1889, with an energy at least equal to that of 1887; and they have been continued without pause to the present hour. In January and February, this year, the number of plans filed for the entire city was 548 to cost $9,517,865, against 560 to cost $8,976,720 in the same period of 1887, and as we are dealing with the upper part of the city it is to be noted that this increase in activity was proportionally greater north of 59th street.

Where are we to seek for the cause of this? In an insufficient supply of houses? On the contrary, we have seen that, if anything, the market is overstocked. In an urgent demand? That cannot exist, when builders are "trading" houses even for suburban property, and a considerable proportion of the parcels put up at the Exchange are bid in for lack of purchasers at reasonable figures. Because of a deficient supply of suitable buildings? That cannot be; for the new work is of the same general character as last year's and the year's before. No; it is plain we must look elsewhere for the cause of the present activity; and in surveying the field it seems the "boom" is due principally to (1) cheap money, (2) cheaper material, (3) more efficient labor, (4) the open winter.

The Causes of the "Boom."—The first of these, as stated above, is the most important. Probably few persons have given to it the consideration it merits. Everyone knows that a great deal of building, especially in the northern part of the island, is done upon loaned capital. Borrowed money is the sinews of war of the speculative builder. Without it he is helpless; his activity fluctuates with the ease with which he can obtain it. Few, however, know how large a part of the building above 59th street is done upon borrowed capital. In the table below the total number of dwellings north of 59th street, for which plans were filed during February, and their cost are given, with the number dependent upon loans:

	Total No. of buildings and cost.	No. of miscellaneous buildings.	No. bldgs erected with aid of building loans.

Total No.	157	19	74
Total cost	$2,721,175	....	$1,393,500

* All flats. † Nine flats and thirty-six dwellings.

The column headed "Miscellaneous Buildings" refers to small one-story structures and edifices of that character which are included in the total number of buildings, but might have been omitted. As it is, it qualifies the figures. This table has been prepared with a great deal of care. Each plan filed in February has been subjected to investigation, and the result, as given, is practically accurate. If anything, the amount of work done on loans is larger than we calculate it. We see from this that about half the operations in number and amount projected during February for the section north of 59th street were based on borrowed money; and after this it requires no demonstration to show how cheap money and active building are correlated.

The vast building operations of 1886 and 1887, which overstocked the market, pretty well exhausted the financial resources of the speculative builder. He passed 1888 in trying to "hold" his position. But the twelve-month's pause in operations had a double effect; it made capitalists more willing to lend and operators readier to borrow. Supply and demand were created at the same time. Inaction is financial death to the speculative builder. The mere momentum of one transaction often forces him into another. He cannot stand still; for he is working on too steep a grade. Stimulus from any quarter increases his operations. The quieter times in 1888 not only gives him to-day a freer command over money (which, due to the smaller investments made that year in railroad construction, etc., and the natural increase of capital was obtainable on lower terms than ever), but cheapened the cost of both material and labor. Manufacturers, whose sales during 1888 had been greatly curtailed, were willing to make concessions for business; and labor, somewhat pinched by idleness for twelve months, was not only ready to work for less, but to work steadier and to put up with the "driving" of foremen, and exactions which would not be tolerated if employment was not so scarce. We learn that builders have been operating as much as 10 per cent. cheaper this year than last. Along with this state of affairs came the phenomenally open winter, creating an unusual stir which was not without its effect; for builders, like other men, are usually tempted to follow the band that goes by their door-step.

The causes of the revival of activity, then, are plain. It was not an increase in the demand for buildings, or an insufficiency in the supply. The capitalist offered cheap money, the manufacturer cheaper materials, the mechanic cheaper labor. The builder, to whom activity is a vital necessity, though recognizing clearly the true state of the market, felt as most men do, that his chance of scoring some of the successes which are always visible was as good as anyone else's, and was induced to again begin operations. The movement once started increased rapidly, until to-day the building in hand and projected is not a whit less than in the phenomenal spring of 1887.

The Probable Outcome.—The cry of people to-day, as of old, is, "Speak unto us smooth things; prophesy deceits." In the past, however, we have rigidly abstained from this course, which has won us too many friends to permit anything to induce us to depart from it now. Every business man must see that such activity in building as now exists in face of a well-stocked market is extremely dangerous. Its continuation means trouble and reaction. The existing demand, or the prospective demand, does not warrant any such extensive operations as are now under way. As to the great future before this city we have no doubt, but a large proportion of the men now operating north of 59th street cannot wait for the future. They cannot carry their investments very long beyond the day of completion. If there were any prospect that the rapid transit problem would be solved immediately their position would be safer; but there is no such prospect. There is nothing that we can see just at present that is likely to turn demand strongly toward property in the northern part of the island. For that we must wait until rapid transit is assured. Money may become tight; the present work has already increased the price of materials and labor, and with the slack demand for houses and a well-stocked market we think it is time the caution signal was put out all along the line.

The Corbin Building.

[See Illustration.]

The architect of this very noticeable and noteworthy edifice, with the common misfortune of a 20-foot front on Broadway for an elevator building of eight stories, has had the unusual compensation of a side 160 feet long. This constituted a real architectural opportunity, of which he has availed himself, to produce a building in many points highly successful, and at all points extremely interesting.

The vertical division is rather unfortunate, being into two parts of nearly equal magnitude and importance and similar in treatment. Proportion cannot exist between two members. There must be a third term. In the Corbin building, the first four stories are grouped, with a strong string course dividing them from the superstructure. The lower three are in stone of two colors, and the fourth would be a frieze to this substructure, but that the large opening of the Broadway front and the like openings on the John street side of the corner and at the east end are carried through into the fifth story, where they are closed by large arches. The wall of the long side is slightly recessed between the flanking pavilions, and the fourth story is here distinguished from the wall below by the difference in material, a tawny brick succeeding to the darker stone, by the form of the openings, which are round arched, whereas those of the second and third story are lintelled, though the same grouping is maintained, and by a string course at the summit of the stone work. The arrangement would be admirable in a four-story building, but the eighth story repeats the fourth, with differences of detail indeed, but with the same effect of a frieze to the three stories underneath, and thus strengthens the impression that the front is cut into halves, or rather that one building is imposed on another. We cannot find the disposition happy that produces this impression, and must regard it as a drawback to the complete success of the composition.

On the other hand, the sharp differences of treatment between the lateral pavilions and the central wall are admirably calculated to heighten the impressiveness of the building. A street front 20 feet wide and eight stories high is necessarily a monstrosity. But a tower 20 feet square and eight stories high attached to a long building, even of the same or nearly the same height, need not be a monstrosity at all. The slight projection of the pavilions suffices to account for their development into towers by an additional half-story and by a separate and steep roofing. They are still further distinguished by the difference in treatment. As has been explained, the first four stages of the tower, corresponding to four distinct stories in the main wall, are comprised under single openings. It is questionable whether these would not have been more effective, as the distinction between pavilion and curtain wall would certainly have been sharper, had the arches of the first story in the corner tower been omitted and their places taken by transoms, as in the pavilion at the east end. There can be no doubt, however, that the architect chose wisely in not attempting to give the effect of breadth in the towers, which he could not in any case have attained, and in bringing out and even emphasizing the height as he has done by the accentuation of the angles. For the large arches depend for their abutment on the height of wall above the impost, and this mechanical truth is apprehended even by people who are not aware of it or who do not reflect upon it, when they see a wide arch turned between unloaded or lightly loaded piers, and receive a disagreeable impression of weakness in consequence.

In one respect the treatment of the lower half of the building is reversed in the upper half. Whereas the lower half of the tower is occupied by one large opening, contrasted with separate stories in the wall, the upper half has two stories united under pairs of round arches, over each of which arches a pair of smaller arches is aligned, flanking large round arches running through the three stories and inclosing the projecting oriels of metal which constitute the sashes of the openings. There are six of these openings, and the extent of the front and the size of the openings themselves make the arcade an impressive piece of street architecture. We have said that the architect chose wisely in rather accentuating than dissembling the height of his terminal towers by bringing out their vertical lines. He has chosen as wisely and has produced an effective contrast by accentuating the lateral expanse of the wall between them. Its perpendicular lines are nowhere emphasized, and the continuous piers structurally required are interrupted by moulded string courses, directing the eye to the length of the wall above the first, third, fourth and seventh stories, and by an unbroken cornice further emphasized by a rich shell frieze and by balustrade. The wall thus seems to possess even more than the very respectable dimensions it has in fact.

The detail of the building may perhaps be fairly subjected to the general criticism—that it is too rich for the purpose of a merely commercial building. It is no more liable to this than many, indeed than most, of the current commercial architecture, while in little of that architecture is the detail so good. Moreover, there is a distinction to be drawn, which is observed in this work. Elaborate stone work means costly stone work, while terra cotta is so tractable that elaboration in it is little more costly than plainness, plainness beyond a certain point appears mere negligence, and elaboration up to a certain point merely shows the designer's knowledge of the capabilities of his material. The stone basement here is not ornate, with the exception of the rich and effective entrance on the John street front, while the second and third stories are of a severe and absolute simplicity. The effect of them, which is very good, proceeds merely from the carefully studied relation of the voids and solids, and from the skillful and expressive treatment of the masonry heightened by the slight contrast between the two tints employed in the stone. The terra cotta is much more elaborate, and equally good of its kind. All the detail in it is good, and especially noticeable is the treatment of a flat arch of which the pier is pointed at the top to form the skewbacks of the arches, an expressive bit of design heightened by the decoration. In color the building is very successful. The slight contrast just mentioned between the two sandstones becomes a much sharper contrast between the tawny brickwork and the reddish brown of the terra cotta. In spite of what we regard as a serious mistake in the composition, the Corbin building is a refined and enjoyable piece of architecture.

Our Prophetic Department.

GOTHAMITE—The sale of ninety-eight lots west of Morningside Park, belonging to the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum, will be a notable event, and will be the beginning of a process that will greatly improve one of the most beautiful sites on the island. It seems to me that in time the costliest and most fashionable houses will be on the avenues extending west and north from Morningside Park. This seems a proper time to speak of the practice of locating charitable and reformatory institutions in fashionable quarters of the city. The fashion of occupying ground which is very costly, thus checking the multiplication of fine residences, is utterly inexcusable. Look at the Roman Catholic Asylum on 5th avenue, the institution on Riverside Drive, the Cancer Hospital, the Bloomingdale Asylum, the Chapin Home, and the swarms of charitable institutions which would be far better placed amid rural surroundings away from the city. On this Morningside Hill there is an Episcopal Home to be located which formerly had very modest quarters in the 9th Ward. It seems to me poor policy and bad taste to situate these homes for the care of genteel paupers in choice localities.

SIR ORACLE—You should bear in mind that the trustees of these institutions are generally rich men who do not take kindly to purchasing property that is undesirable in itself. Then it pays to buy choice locations before they are in demand. See what money has been made by the Columbia College property, the Sailors' Snug Harbor allotments, also this Bloomingdale Insane Asylum. The unearned increment eventually greatly enriches them. Note how wise Roman Catholics have been in purchasing property. Go to any city in the country and you will find Catholic institutions invariably located in sections which are certain to improve very greatly in value. Mark, for instance, the Catholic institutions of this city how wealthy they have become because of the natural growth of population.

GOTH.—The point I wish to make is, that these hospitals and charitable institutions would be better placed out of rather than within the city limits. Of course the emergency hospitals and those in which students are instructed in surgery and medical practice must be convenient to the medical colleges. But the homes for old people, the houses of refuge, the orphan asylums, and those for the treatment of chronic diseases, would do better if situated twenty or thirty miles away from the city.

SIR O.—What you say is worth thinking about. Invalids suffering from lung troubles or diseases of the air passages should not remain in this city or Brooklyn; but the institutions to care for them should be built in Jersey, in the dry pine regions, the air of which is healing and soothing. Tens of thousands of valuable lives might be saved if this natural sanatarium to the west of us were taken advantage of. I agree with you that the location of a cancer hospital in the fashionable quarter of the city was ill-judged and injurious to surrounding property. Cancer could be just as well treated amid country surroundings, where the eyes of the patients could rest on green fields, brown sand and the negative tints of lake and river. Then the pavilion-hospital system could be thoroughly tested. It is a mistake to build great stone or brick structures for permanent hospitals. They become infected in time, and no fumigating or cleansing will purify them. Under the pavilion system the temporary wooden structures, after being used for a time, are destroyed.

GOTH.—The area of our island is so limited that I doubt the wisdom of taking up large sections of it for reformatory schools, homes and asylums. By the way, I noticed in the report to the Legislature that the Roman Catholics receive twice as much out of the city treasury for their charitable institutions than do the Protestants. Is not this an anomalous state of things?

SIR O.—Yes; I believe that the Catholics get nearly a million per annum and the Protestants about $500,000. But there is reason for this favor shown to the one Church over many sects. The former is magnificently organized, while the efforts of the latter are dispersed and therefore ineffective. The State and city payments are made on the number of persons actually cared for or benefited by the charity seeking city or State aid. Now, as the Catholic is the Church of the poor it can make the best showing of needy people. Still, it is a pity that some way is not devised by which the public funds could not be used by any Church or sect—Catholic or Protestant. The exemption of Church property is, I think, wrong in itself. All real property should be treated alike in the matter of taxation.

GOTH.—To digress a little from the main subject: What is to be said of the medical profession of the United States as compared with other countries?

SIR O.—I judge that our leading physicians and specialists hold their own compared with those of Great Britain and the Continent. But I am quite clear that the average American doctor or surgeon ranks far below those of Europe. In the Old World the student, to begin with, has to have a good general education, and is generally a graduate of a college. After passing through the curriculum of medical studies he is forced to go before a commission of government experts, who insist upon a high grade of efficiency before giving a diploma to practice. A certificate under those circumstances means something. How different in this country! Any illiterate fellow can become a student in nine out of ten of our medical colleges. At the end of two or three years he is entitled to a diploma, on the payment of a fee, from the college from which he matriculated. This is the fatal weakness of our medical education. Taking the country through the majority of colleges are catch-penny affairs, and their diplomas are given for a fee and not because the owner of it is competent to practice in the medical profession. Hence the swarm of incompetent young fellows sent out yearly with a license to poison and butcher their fellow-men. There are more mortifying failures in medicine than in the ministerial or legal professions. You see a knowledge of anatomy and drugs is not generally useful. Many of the would-be doctors become drug clerks or drift into business. A well-known physician tells me there are probably more suicides among young doctors than in any other profession. Moneyless and friendless in a business in which they are unsuited they are tempted to take themselves out of the world, which they can do under circumstances that tend to a concealment of their crime.

The American newspaper press has been eulogizing the late John Bright in a way his real merits did not warrant. Bright was a Quaker manufacturer who came into prominence in England as an advocate of the repeal of the corn laws. He had some rare gifts as a speaker. His language was idiomatic, and his thought full of fire and passion. His efforts in behalf of free bread have been overpraised; for all he seemed to care for was to reduce the price of the food of the laborer so that he could accept less wages. The play of free competition produced the most revolting results in Great Britain, as is shown by the parliamentary investigation which tells the story of factory life in that country. The world listened with wonder to the stories told of long hours, starvation wages, the forcing of whole families—men, women and children—into factories where their united labor was only barely sufficient to sustain their miserable lives.

The state of things grew so bad that a movement was started in behalf of the working classes to protect them from their cruel taskmasters. John Bright made himself conspicuous by his vigorous opposition to every measure of relief to the working classes. He voted against any reduction in the hours of labor, or any stoppage of the practice of mothers and children being forced into the factories. The Earl of Shaftesbury, who was the leader in this beneficent legislation, was abused roundly by John Bright at one time in so scandalous a manner that he was later forced to make a public and humiliating apology. It is curious to note that the disasters Bright predicted from the shortening and limiting of the hours of labor were never realized, for the market for English goods kept steadily enlarging as the working people were being better treated. Still, John Bright was popular in this country, as he took our side during the civil war. He was bitterly opposed to Irish Home Rule, and went out of his way to insult his old friend, Wm. E. Gladstone, the most magnanimous of men, for the latter's advocacy of the Irish cause. Mr. John Bright possessed a noble style of oratory, but he often put it to the most ignoble uses.

Men and Things.

The proposition to place a portrait of the late Edward H. Ludlow in the board room of the Real Estate Exchange deserves the support of every member of that body. Mr. Ludlow was one of the first organizers of the institution which has now attained to such importance. He was its first president, and for that reason alone, if for no other, his portrait should appear upon its walls. But it was the excellent judgment, the executive ability and the kindly courtesy of the man, more than the position he held, that makes those who knew him wish that his portrait should be placed within the precincts of an institution whose welfare he had so much at heart, and to whose success, when it was most needed, he contributed so large a share.

Mayor Grant impresses one as a man who knows his business. He has a bright, good-natured, intelligent face, and a brusque, decided manner. In his committee meetings he has an admirable fashion of bringing men to the point. All hearings and informal discussions have a tendency to run off on side issues, and a man who appreciates the bearing of the question and knows the value of time is invaluable under the circumstances. This Mayor Grant does, and does effectively. Though, perhaps, as you see him lolling back in the chair, with his hands in his pockets, and a lazy, almost bored expression on his countenance, you would hardly expect decision.

The residents and property-owners of the 23d and 24th Wards do not like to hear their part of the city called "the annexed district." They prefer the appellation of "North New York." Their contention is that they are part and parcel of New York City, and do not want to be dubbed as though they were a small boat tied to a large vessel. "As a matter of fact," they say, "our two wards are about as large in area as the other twenty-two, and we are destined to be as populous as any of the upper wards of Manhattan Island."

A well-known citizen the other day pointed out the curious fact that there are certain blocks of private residences in different parts of the city which have been vacated for residence purposes, owing to there being hotels opposite. As an example of this he pointed to the block front on the west side of 5th avenue, between 46th and 47th streets, opposite the Windsor Hotel. The houses there have nearly all been, or are to be, turned into business buildings, while the block fronts north and south of them maintain their private character. When asked for the solution of this problem, our citizen put it down to the lack of privacy enjoyed by people who live opposite hotels. Guests peer through the windows, watch the passers-by, and become too much interested in the doings of the people who live in the private houses opposite. The latter find this offensive; hence their removal to more retiring quarters, and the conversion of their homes into business buildings.

There are 2,247 houses at present in course of construction in New York City, according to a report drawn up by an official of one of the city departments a few days ago.

The prospect of having two great music halls, one in Madison Square Garden and the other in 57th street, has again brought to the fore the name of Theodore Thomas. The newspapers complain that he has been trying to popularize classical music for thirty years, but that he has been unsuccessful. The implication in all these articles is that the New York musical public is ungrateful, unappreciative, and does not know what is best in the way of musical entertainments; but is it not barely possible that some of the trouble is in Mr. Thomas himself? He is an admirable technical musician, and to him belongs the credit of being the first to popularize Wagner's music among Americans. But he lacks fire, enthusiasm, inspiration. Those who recall Johann Strauss, who was here during the Centennial year, or even Julien, will remember the wonderful effects produced under their leadership over crowded audiences. Yet Julien was a good deal of a humbug, and Strauss was handicapped by his inability to think out a musical theme without running in a waltz measure.

The Recent Astor Purchase.

Very little attention seems to have been paid to the large purchase of vacant property by Mr. John Jacob Astor at West Farms, the announcement of which first appeared in THE RECORD AND GUIDE on the 9th inst. The property comprises 207 acres, for which Mr. Astor paid $500,000. A single sale down town involving such an amount would have received considerable attention, but the expenditure of such a large sum in suburban realty is all the more remarkable.

The property, although outside of the city limits, is four miles nearer to the Grand Central Depot than the extreme northern boundary of the city It has a water frontage of 1,750 feet on the Bronx River, and is situated opposite Bronx Park, which for natural beauty of scenery is unsurpassed by any of the new parks. It has a large frontage on the east on Westchester Turnpike, which leads to the new race track of the New York Jockey Club, about a mile and a-half to the north. The land is generally level and smooth, and can easily be made available for improvement for villa sites and residences. The time to Harlem River by the New Haven Railroad, Harlem River branch, is eleven minutes and the distance to the City Hall but eleven miles. The land was formerly held at $4,000 per acre, and recently negotiations were in progress for a sale at a similar sum. The price paid by Mr. Astor was about $2,415 per acre.

The Astors are very prudent investors. They made another large purchase some seven or eight years ago on Sherman's Creek of 150 acres, for which they paid $450,000, or $3,000 an acre. Within a few years the Vanderbilts came along and paid them $500,000 for a strip of this property for railroad purposes, comprising only 20 acres, which is equal to $25,000 an acre.

The Manhattan Road's Plea.

TALKS WITH PROMINENT CITIZENS.

Mr. Jay Gould's letter to Mayor Grant, and the Mayor's interview with the officers and counsel of the Manhattan Road, have roused public interest to such a pitch that THE RECORD AND GUIDE felt it would be of interest to know what some of our prominent citizens had to say about the advisability of granting the concessions requested by the President of the Manhattan Road. In the interesting interview which the officers of that company had with Mayor Grant, the latter laid great stress upon the popular feeling against a further encroachment upon any of the public parks by the elevated roads, and particularly opposed the Battery Park "loop" asked for by the company to increase its facilities at the southern terminus of their four lines. Some of the daily papers have represented that this loop was to completely encircle Battery Park, and so ruin that breathing space. As none of these papers have shown exactly what is asked for, THE RECORD AND GUIDE publishes, in conjunction with this article, a diagram showing the strip of land which the company needs so as to increase its terminal facilities, from which it appears that the park is encroached upon in the southern corner only, and not around the entire distance. The "loop" begins at the thick line on our map. It is 24 feet wide, and encircles a space about 300 feet wide at its extreme width, converging to, and running parallel with, the present track for the remainder of the distance.

The talks with prominent men will be read with interest. Each had something different to say. Mr. F. B. Thurber approves, Mr. E. S. Jaffray disapproves, while Mr. John Claflin gives a qualified approval, of the proposals made by Mr. Gould. Officers of banks, presidents of exchanges, and other gentlemen prominent in the community were seen. A few people in less favored circumstances were also interviewed, and their opinions, too, may be read with interest.

F. B. Thurber said: "I don't think that I have ever been accused of being a special friend of Mr. Jay Gould. I have been opposed to him in railroad matters as much as any one. But it seems to me that the privileges asked for by him are reasonable ones, and likely to result in as much benefit to the people as to Mr. Gould and his associates. At the same time all public franchises should be carefully guarded and a reasonable return made to the people for granting them, and if there are provisions regarding improved service or otherwise that ought to be reserved to protect the public interests, I would be in favor thereof. But to say that the elevated roads should not be perfected and extended simply because Mr. Gould is the chief owner in them is, it seems to me, unwise and looks something like 'biting off your nose to spite your face.'"

"Do you regard the elevated road system as in any way permanent?" asked the reporter. "Do you think that New York requires a comprehensive plan which shall solve the rapid transit problem for a generation or two, and would the granting of further facilities to the Manhattan Road result in delaying this comprehensive and more lasting measure?"

"Well, there is that side to it," said Mr. Thurber, "and it ought, no doubt, to be considered. I have not given much thought to that view. I think that the elevated roads are performing a useful purpose and are efficient for our present needs, and so far as the weight of evidence is concerned it seems to me to be in favor of allowing them to perfect their system, with such restrictions as a proper study of the subject would suggest."

"Do you think an elevated road on Broadway should be permitted?" asked the reporter.

"On general principles—other elevated roads having, as a whole, benefited property—I think it would benefit real estate on Broadway; but Broadway property-owners are themselves the best judges of that. We were at first opposed to their running past our place of business; but we soon became accustomed to them, and after two years, when asked for an opinion as to whether they had been a benefit or a detriment to us, unhesitatingly declared they had been a benefit."

"What would you think of a plan to skirt our river fronts with elevated railroads for freight and passenger traffic, the freight stations to be separate from the passenger stations, and the goods to be delivered to and from the stations by means of freight elevators?" asked the reporter.

"I have no doubt," said Mr. Thurber, "that engineering talent, backed with sufficient capital, could devise a system of delivering freight almost at our very doors, and this would be of great benefit to New York; but, judging by what would seem to be practicable now, and not looking too far into the future, I incline to the belief that we will have to depend for our rapid transit upon the present system of elevated roads. A plan for a viaduct, or to run through the blocks, would undoubtedly give faster service; but whether it could be made to pay, or whether we would not have to wait too long before the property was acquired and the road built, are problems which I prefer to leave to others to solve."

E. A. Cruikshank, President of the Real Estate Exchange, said: "I do not favor the granting of the proposed loop in Battery Park to the Manhattan Road. It would not, I think, give us increased facilities. The trains now run so close to each other during the busy hours that I don't see how they could be increased. This can be seen on standing for a little while on any of the Third or Sixth Avenue stations. To run them more closely would be unsafe. No temporary expedients, even if possible, should be considered. Any plan contemplated should grapple with a more permanent solution of the rapid transit problem."

John Claflin, head of the dry-goods firm of H. B. Claflin & Co., said: "I am inclined to give every plan for increasing rapid transt facilities a fair hearing, and I am in favor of anything that will improve the accommodations on the elevated roads. I do not see that Mr. Gould's propositions, if granted, would do any particular harm to the public. I presume that the privileges asked for by him will increase his facilities for accommodating the public, but I also think that Mr. Gould very much overstates the extent to which they will be increased by what he asks for. I am very much opposed to the encroachment by railroads upon any of our parks, and I would require to make a personal inspection of the spot to be able to form an opinion. In view of the slightly increased accommodation which the Manhattan Road would give us temporarily, would it be worth while to give up the strip of land asked for? I do not think we will really have a good and permanent system of rapid transit until we get an arcade road under Broadway. I greatly regret the recent decision of the Court of Appeals which killed the Arcade Railway plan. But as a great public measure I think it should still be built, and it could be under a commission such as is laid out in Mayor Grant's bill. Some more permanent solution of the rapid transit question is necessary, for we cannot look for more from the elevated roads, which have now almost reached their utmost capacity."

The president of a prominent down-town bank, who declined to have his name used, said: "Any temporary facilities given to the Manhattan Road will only arrest a more permanent system of rapid transit for New York City."

E. S. Jaffray, head of the well-known dry-goods firm, said: "I am not in favor of giving the elevated roads anything. They have stolen almost everything, and it is no wonder to me that they are now trying to steal more. The trains run too close together as it is, and I don't think any better terminal facilities will alter that."

"Have you thought of any plan which would be likely to solve the rapid transit problem for the next thirty or forty years?" asked the reporter, mildly.

"No," was the reply. "I don't care much about that, as I won't be here forty years hence." And with a smile Mr. Jaffray courteously took leave of the scribe.

H. H. Cammann, ex-president of the Real Estate Exchange, said: "I am very strongly opposed to the Manhattan Road being allowed to obtain the strip of land in Battery Park to increase their terminal facilities. If they want room for such termini they ought to purchase property on Greenwich street and State street, or on Whitehall and South streets, or elsewhere. They should not be allowed to further encroach on the public parks. They have watered their stock sufficiently to be able to pay for what they want. No railroad company in any city ever obtained such valuable franchises as have been granted to the Manhattan Road, and they ought to buy any property which they may require for their terminal facilities. Suppose the strip of land is given to them in Battery Park that they ask for, and let us also take it for granted that it will ease the crush during commission hours, how many months will it be in the natural development of this great metropolis before the increased passenger traffic will catch up to the new accommodations and the rush be worse than ever. Will the Manhattan Road then once more come forward and petition for additional facilities, and will the city again be asked to give this stock-watered company more privileges? What we want is more roads through and near the centre of the city. I would also favor a plan for encircling the island along the water fronts of the North and East Rivers, such as was proposed by Walton W. Evans, a well-known engineer, about a quarter of a century ago. His plan was to run a road along those fronts to carry passengers during the day and freight at night, with switch tracks running to the buildings along the line. A comprehensive solution of the rapid transit difficulty should include a consideration of freight traffic. I have had occasion to have parcels of goods forwarded to me for domestic use from Minneapolis, a distance of some 1,500 miles, and it cost me 1½ cent a pound to New York; while the city cartage from the depot to my house, a distance of only five miles, cost ¾ cent per pound. Every one of us is interested in having this remedied."

W. P. St. John, President of the Mercantile National Bank, said: "I am opposed, on general principles, to any railroads going through our parks. I am not prepared to express an opinion as to whether the loop asked for by the Manhattan Road would meet the emergency."

A prominent citizen, who declined to have his name used, when asked what plan he would suggest to solve the rapid transit problem, said: "I would have an underground road under Broadway. I think the property owners who opposed the Arcade Road made a great mistake. Broadway is the central avenue of the city. It is a wide thoroughfare, amply able to accommodate four tracks underground. I am opposed to an elevated road on Broadway, because the posts would interfere greatly with the street traffic, which is already overcrowded at the busy parts of the day. If an underground road were built it could run through the Central Park to the upper portion of the island. The great popular objection is to railroads running on or over any park grounds, because they create an unsightly structure and destroys the beauty of the scenery. But when the road goes underground you don't see anything of it. On the other hand, an underground road does not hurt the appearance of our avenues or streets as the elevated road does. I think the plan to run through the blocks would destroy too much property, and there would be a universal cry against it. I would run an elevated road through West street and South street, along the rivers, near the bulkhead line. This would not interfere with the light and easement of property. I would build such a road for freight as well as passenger traffic. I would also have freight trains on the Manhattan Road during the night and during parts of the day."

R. A. Granniss, first vice-president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, speaking as a private individual, said: "I think the elevated roads have reached their utmost capacity. I am not prepared to say whether Mr. Gould's proposals would increase their efficiency. I have thought for some time that the Arcade Road under Broadway was about the best plan to meet the future needs of New York. The second plan that suggested itself to me would be to run through the blocks, but I think that would be too expensive, owing to the cost of the right of way. A stone viaduct road would be more expensive still. So that, taken altogether, the Arcade Road seems to me the most reasonable and the least costly."

A. E. Orr, President of the Produce Exchange, said: "I think Mr. Gould's ideas are exceedingly valuable to the people of this city. Individually, as a citizen, I would willingly grant the Manhattan Road any extra facilities which they may think necessary to the development of their lines for the better convenience of the public. The officers of that road were courageous enough to build and extend their system to accommodate the upper parts of the city where it did not pay them to run, and they should be the first to be given an opportunity to see what they can do for the people. This could be accomplished under the supervision of the powers who have the protection of the people's interests in charge. The elevated road system has been of immense benefit to New York, and it is very unreasonable to oppose granting to the only road that is now able to do anything for the people any facilities which competent engineers, whether city or otherwise, may deem necessary. I think the present system of elevated roads can be made to meet the requirements of the next five or ten years. As to a future plan I don't favor an underground plan, nor do I think a road through the blocks will do. Such a road would have to charge too high a fare to obtain remuneration on the immense cost of buying the right of way and constructing the railway of solid masonry."

Richard V. Harnett said: "I would not be in favor of granting any land in Battery Park to the Manhattan Road. If they require further terminal facilities I think they should acquire them elsewhere by purchase. I think, however, that we should not be unjust to the company, but treat them in a fair manner. I believe the general management of the road is as good as it could be, with one exception. I think that instead of running five-car trains they should run them with three cars and increase the number of their trains. This, in the opinion of railroad experts to whom I have spoken, would obviate the crush which now occurs during the busy hours of the morning and evening. Although we now have five-car trains we seem to have a greater crush during those hours than we formerly had. The reason for adopting long instead of short trains is obviously for economy's sake, for to run three-car trains, and run them more frequently, means more engineers and firemen as well as more engines, and this would increase the cost of operating the road. Besides, we would have quicker transit with three-car than with five-car trains. It is easier to stop and start the former, and they can be run at a quicker speed. If the company will increase their rolling stock and develop their resources to their utmost capacity I think that they can meet the city's requirements for the next ten years."

Donald MacKay, an ex-president of the Stock Exchange, and a senior member of the banking firm of Vermilye & Co., said: "If the public will gain by giving the Manhattan Road the facilities they ask for I don't see any objection to the concessions required. I think the capacity of the elevated road system would be greatly augmented by the loop asked for by Mr. Gould, or by any loop acquired by the Manhattan Road in the neighborhood of the Battery. The termini at the northern ends of the Third and Ninth avenue lines should also be changed to conform to this loop. What I mean is this—that there should be a continuous circle of the roads, instead of there being a terminus at the northern and southern ends. This would practically do away with every terminus and enable the trains to run without a break, without stopping at any point and without any backing out or shuttle business at the Battery and elsewhere. With this object I would extend the Third avenue line at the Harlem River northwards to 155th street, and there build a circle so that passengers could connect with the eastern or western parts of the city, whether going north or south, and they could connect with Sixth, Ninth, Third and Second avenue lines.

An old newspaper reporter, who has been employed on a daily paper for a quarter of a century past, said, in his blunt way: "I would'nt give the Manhattan Road a cent"s worth more than they now have. They have already got more than they ought to have. I don't see how they are going to give us better rapid transit. I don't think we will have it until we go underground. The city is so situated, geographically, that we will have to go under the surface sooner or later. Now, I am one of those who think it ought to be sooner."

The manager of a down-town institution, who knows all about the London roads, said: "I would give the Manhattan Company all the facilities they require to develop their road and give the public better convenience, but in the meantime I would go on building a road through the blocks. I would make such a road a two-storied one, the first story to be used for way trains and the second story for express trains. This road should run through the blocks as near the centre of the city as possible. The cost of purchasing the right of way would probably be $30,000,000, but the arches could be built as stores and rented, so returning a small interest on the cost. If the viaduct road in London can be made to pay, after the heavy cost of buying the right of way, it could certainly be made to pay here. My idea is that people would rather be in the daylight than in a tunnel, and this is the solution of the problem."

The reporter "pumped" his tonsorial artist while undergoing his daily facial torture. The artist is an ex-shaver of ex-President Cleveland and ex-Secretary Whitney, and is one of the most intelligent of his class. He said: "I read every word of Jay Gould's letter to the Mayor, and I think he's quite right. The city ought to give him the loop in the Battery, if his company will pay for it. I have often stood at Battery place, and I have had to stand there five and six minutes for a train, because it had to wait till some other train backed out. If they had this loop, Jay Gould says people would not have to wait on the platforms, and that there wouldn't be the delay that now takes place. Well, I believe him, because I have seen it with my own eyes. I'd let him run a third track on every one of the lines if he'd give us better rapid transit. I don't believe in running down the elevated roads because Jay Gould mostly owns them."

An Englishman, who is employed in a down-town office, said: "Why don't you make Gould pay for the right of way if he wants anything? The people who built the viaduct road in London had to pay nearly $15,000,000 for the right of way for a loop through property between Charing Cross and Cannon street, not to speak of other property along their route."

Legislation Affecting New York City.

ALBANY, March 29, 1889.

The only bill of importance introduced into the Legislature this week affecting real estate in New York City is No. 565, introduced by Senator Grady. It amends sub-divisions 3, 5 and 6 of section 24 of chapter 342 of 1885—the Mechanic's Lien law of that date. It provides that in case the deposit of money is made with the county clerk the same shall be repaid by the clerk to the party making such deposit upon the lien being discharged by the claimants who have filed a notice of lien or liens, or upon a bond as provided in section 6; also that by order of the court for neglect of claimant to prosecute the same the owner of property affected by notice of lien filed under the act may serve notice in writing upon the claimant requiring said claimant to commence action within not less than thirty days, or show cause why the notice of lien should not be vacated and cancelled of record, and if no action is taken to enforce the claim the court may cancel the claim or bond, if any has been given, and discharge the sureties; also that an owner or owners, etc., of premises against whom a lien is filed executing with two or more sureties who shall be freeholders a bond to clerk of county where premises are situated may, upon approval of said bond by the court, obtain a discharge of such lien or confirmation thereof, if already discharged and receive the money deposited, according to sub-divisions 1 and 2 of section 24.

The following bills have been reported in the Assembly:

The bill to establish a bureau of street permits in New York City.

The bill to lay out 116th street.

The Crosby bill concerning the expenditure of the Department of Docks.

Governor Hill has signed the bill for the completion of the addition to the American Museum of Natural History in Central Park, and the bill for constructing drains and sewers in the 26th Ward, Brooklyn.

The History of the Measures for Block Indexing.

On March 14th the New York Tribune contained an article, purporting to come from Albany, making a severe attack on the bills before the Legislature in reference to the indexing of instruments affecting New York real estate, according to the block system. This was followed on Friday by an editorial, which, assuming the confused information published the day before to be true, abused Register James J. Slevin roundly in consequence. On Saturday still another article appeared, practically taking back what had been said on the previous day, and giving to a limited extent some correct information on the true nature of the bills before the Legislature and their relation one to another. The whole subject, however, is extremely complicated, and much remains to be said.

The original bill introduced into the Legislature (No. 180) provided for the repeal of the bill of 1887, and the re-enactment of all its essential features, including sections both for reindexing and future indexing according to the block system, with the exception that it left out the objectionable clause making it necessary for the city to get an index-book for every block. It was drawn by Mr. Dwight H. Olmstead, with the assistance of other lawyers. The city authorities, however—particularly Register Slevin—objected to the provision in the bill for reindexing; and as the opposition to the measure was liable to concentrate upon that point, the bill was cut in two and two acts were substituted in its place, one providing for future indexing and one for reindexing. Both of these two bills were referred to the Judiciary Committee, the former having been modified somewhat in order again to suit the wishes of the Register. That official, it seems, wished to keep for himself the preparing of the books, which, by the bill, was put into the hands of a commission, and to have the limit removed from the possible expense of the undertaking. As the bill stated that the Board of Taxes should prepare the necessary maps, and as the cost of the necessary 240 books could not possibly be more than $30,000 or $40,000, these alterations were agreed to. The work to be performed was so entirely clerical that a commission was not deemed at all essential.

When these bills came up before the Judiciary Committee four representative New Yorkers appeared at the hearing. They were D. H. Olmstead, J. J. Martin, on behalf of the Register; Edwin W. Coggeshall, representing the Lawyer's Title Co., and P. E. Rochfort, for the Title Guarantee Co. Nobody objected to the bill for future indexing, and the committee agreed to report it favorably. Objections, however, were raised to the other bill by members of the committee, so no action was taken, and the measure still remains unreported. It must be admitted that it contains objectionable features. The commission it provides for contains only three men—Mayor Grant, County Clerk Flack and Register Slevin—and there is no limit put upon their expenditure.

According to Assemblyman Hamilton, the bill for future indexing is about as good as through. It has already been ordered to a third reading and may be passed any day. As Governor Hill signed the bill of 1887 there is no reason to suppose that he will refuse to sign this. Indeed, there seems to be no alternative between the passage of this bill and the permitting the bill of 1887, with its entirely unnecessary expenditures, to go into operation in July. The pity is that this present bill will not take effect until July, 1890.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

The usual weekly meeting of this committee took place on Tuesday, Wm. Reynolds Brown in the chair. There was a good attendance.

The Committee on City Improvements reported favorably on Senate bill No. 324, which bonds steam-heating companies and others who open streets to secure the surface being relaid, after the completion of the work, in as good condition as they were before the work was commenced. The committee also reported favorably on Assembly bill No. 687, which bonds contractors who do blasting, so as to secure prompt damages on such bond to citizens injured in person or property, owing to the careless use of explosives. The bill, if passed, will make contractors more careful in blasting. The committee also reported favorably on Assembly bill No. 636, which creates a commission to inquire into the expediency of enlarging the boundaries of New York City. The committee was not prepared to favor such an enlargement of boundaries, but felt that an inquiry would bring out much information which would be of interest to the public. On a vote on the reports, the first two were adopted and the last was ordered to be laid on the table.

Mr. Crimmins proposed a resolution, which gave a qualified and general support of the Mayor's rapid transit bill. The resolution also empowered the Chairman to allow non-members of the committee to present their views next week. It is understood that Corporation Counsel Beekman will be present at next Tuesday's meeting to explain the provisions of the Mayor's bill. An amendment was offered by Thos. F. Murtha to strike out from the resolution all reference to an approval of the bill, which was lost by a vote of 5 to 12. Mr. Crimmins' resolution was then carried without a dissentient vote. The meeting then adjourned.

At a recent meeting of the Committee on Legislation a communication was read from Mr. Cyrille Carreau, in which he suggested that the committee should consider the subject of effecting certain desirable reforms in the collection of taxes which would reduce the staff of assistants, diminish the amount of bookkeeping now required, and save trouble and inconvenience to taxpayers. He also suggests that the city should allow taxpayers to pay their taxes earlier than is now customary, offering as an inducement a reduction similar to the present rebate. This would enable the city to avoid going into the market to borrow all the time, at a large annual cost. He says these reforms would save the city $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 per annum. The letter was referred to the Committee on Taxation and Assessment, to be reported upon.

Notes and Items.

The Board of Aldermen passed a resolution recently authorizing the Commissioner of Public Works to have two new elevators placed in the new Court House at an expense not to exceed $6,000, he work to be done without public competition. Mayor Hewitt, last year, vetoed a similar resolution, and Mayor Grant's action will be widely watched—at least by the builders of elevators.

The New York and New Jersey Permanent Building and Loan Association has just been incorporated by Augustus Hayward, Henry M. Lester, L. Spaulding and six others. The shares are $250 each, no capital being named in the papers filed.

A deputation from the San Francisco Real Estate Exchange, consisting of Mr. Wendell Easton and Mr. M. H. de Young, of the San Francisco Chronicle, and another deputation from the Boston Real Estate Exchange, headed by Mr. Frederick H. Viaux, visited the New York Real Estate Exchange yesterday. They were shown over the building and made a host of inquiries as to the working of the institution, with the intention of applying the experience gained to their own organizations.

Bound Volumes of the Record and Guide.

Subscribers and others can purchase at this office years 1887 and 1888 of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, handsomely bound in half morocco. This is a rare chance for real estate men who cannot afford to wait while their RECORDS are being bound. Volume XLII., the last half of 1888, or any other single volume, can be had for $4.75 per volume, or $9.50 per year As the supply is limited buyers should be on hand early.

The advance in values north of the Harlem since the Suburban Rapid Transit Road was built is instanced in the case of the Dickerson property. It comprises the block bounded by 3d avenue, Prospect place, 177th and 178th streets, in the 24th Ward. There are 3 9-10 acres, and they sold in September, 1886, for $26,000. The owner has recently been offered $60,000 for the property, which he has refused. This is an advance of $34,000 in about two and a-half years.

Real Estate Department.

The auction market has been exceedingly active this week, and the sales on 'Change for the next week or two, especially in vacant property, will be quite large. The results of sales during the current week have not been altogether satisfactory, many parcels having been "bid in," as will be seen from our report below. There does not seem to have been as much done in the brokers' offices as during the previous few weeks, although a few transactions of importance are reported. Private houses are said by brokers to be slow of sale. The figures of conveyances and projected buildings for the week show an increase over those for the corresponding period last year.

There was a fair business transacted at the Exchange on Monday and the attendance was good, the Van Brunt and Brosi estate sales attracting the most attention. The former embraced parcels on Franklin and East 10th streets, for which a total of $37,350 was realized; and the latter embraced more than twenty-one city lots, with hotel on Jerome and Woodlawn avenues in the 24th Ward. There was considerable competition for the hotel and grounds, and the bidding, which started at $10,000, was advanced by bids of $50 until $15,000 was reached and the property sold to Dederick Heuer.

The volume of business transacted at the Salesroom on Tuesday was simply enormous. Sales were held by thirteen auctioneers and the majority of them had many parcels to dispose of. The attendance was very large, particularly at the stands where the Wittschen and Ayres estate sales were held. A total of $175,800 was realized for eight parcels belonging to the former, and $95,700 for seven parcels comprising the latter estate. Alexander Bros. secured No. 11 West 4th street, northeast corner of Mercer street, at $37,000, and W. J. T. Barnes bid $66,000 for the northeast corner of Irving place and 18th street, size 27x106.8; both of the parcels mentioned were embraced in the Wittschen catalogues of sale. Among other important sales were: No 156 Washington street, northwest corner of Liberty street, which R. B. Guion secured at $51,000; No. 108 East 14th street, for which L. J. Phillips bid $42,500 for a client; No. 292 5th avenue, near 31st street, was bid in by E. R. Ladew at $120,000; No. 193 Mercer street, 24.10x100, was secured by L. Tanenbaum for a client at $27,500; an adjoining lot, No. 191, size 25x100, with four-story brick factory, changed hands last December, the consideration being $39,500. For No. 57 Bowery the competition was brisk, and $39,200 is the figure at which L. F. Hoffmann bought it. Eight lots on West 70th street were knocked down to interested parties at from $12,000 to $12,500 each. No. 10 East 56th street, 5 East 73d and 15 East 90th street were among the other properties not sold; they were knocked down at $57,750, $47,750 and $43,000 respectively. The easterly front on Morris avenue, between 164th and 165th streets, comprising eight lots, were sold separately, and a total of $21,325 secured for all.

Wednesday was also a busy day on 'Change, but the sales were not near as numerous as on Tuesday, and only a small number were of an important character. There was some competition for the premises No. 20 East 21st street, size 25x92, adjoining the corner of Broadway, and L. J. Phillips finally became the buyer for Gustave Herter at $49,950. A. D. Weekes bought two lots on the east side of 9th avenue, 50.5 feet north of 70th street, for $13,975 each. Mr. Weekes' partner recently sold two lots with partially constructed flat on the corner of 70th street, adjoining the above, for a total of $42,250. Thos. C. Higgins bid $48,241 for the flats Nos. 517–521 West 131st street, erected by Builder Meagher.

Thursday was an exceedingly busy day at the Exchange. Sales were numerous, a few were important, and the attendance was large. The result of the day's business cannot be said to have been satisfactory for very many of the parcels offered were bid in. For example, one sale embraced twenty-three pieces of improved and unimproved property in New York and Brooklyn and fifteen or more were secured by parties in interest. Another piece not sold was No. 208 East 25th street, which was knocked down at $32,700; this property was recently sold at private sale for $35,000, and the would-be buyer bid it in at $2,300 less than he had agreed to pay therefor. Among the sales were Nos. 32 and 34 Old Slip to N. L. Cort at $28,000; Nos. 875 and 873 2d avenue, corner 49th street, for $32,000 and $24,100 respectively—the former is a corner lot; Nos. 309 and 311 3d avenue, near 23d street, were bid in by F. Grasmuck at $110,000. The latter rents for $9,711 per annum and was started at $85,000.

Three parcels were sold yesterday at the Exchange, the most valuable being No. 47 West 37th street, for which Douglas Robinson, Jr., paid $30,500.

On Tuesday, April 2d, Adrian H. Muller & Son will sell the following valuable property, by order of the executors of the late James Brown: Eighteen lots on 12th avenue, 51st and 52d streets, including the entire westerly front on 12th avenue, between those streets, together with bulkhead and water rights extending to the exterior line of 13th avenue. This will afford an unusual opportunity for obtaining a fine water frontage on the North River.

Seventy per cent. of the purchase money will be allowed to remain on bond and mortgage at 5 per cent. Harnett & Co. will offer the two three-story high stoop houses at Nos. 70 and 76 East 90th street; the four-story brick tenement and store at Nos. 1036 1st avenue, near 57th street; five vacant lots on the north side of 97th street, east of 5th avenue; and, by order of the executors, the three-story and basement dwelling at old No. 131 Norfolk street, near Stanton street, with rights of air and light adjoining.

Muller & Son will conduct the much-talked-of sale of vacant property belonging to the New York Hospital Society, comprising ninety-eight lots on 10th avenue, the Grand Boulevard, 112th, 113th and 114th streets. As it is now decided that the Bloomingdale Asylum will be removed to White Plains, the property to be offered will in a few years bring much more than the current values. It is to be sold with restrictions and only private houses will be allowed to be built on the street lots. This ground is high and finely situated, and what with the Morningside Park, the near-by elevator station at 116th street, the Protestant Cathedral and other surrounding improvements, it will be very valuable several years hence.

On Thursday, April 4th, Thomas C. Smith will sell three very desirable building lots at Nos. 28, 30 and 32 City Hall place. The property offers an unusual opportuntity for obtaining a good-sized down-town plot for improvement in the very heart of the business centre of the city.

On Thursday, April 4th, John F. B. Smyth will sell the properties at Nos. 2105 to 2109 2d avenue, on the southwest corner of 109th street. They comprise three five-story tenements and stores. On Tuesday, April 9th, James L. Wells will conduct an important sale of vacant lots in the 23d Ward belonging to the estate of the late James Brown. The lots are on the line of rapid transit and are suitable for dwelling and business purposes. There are no less than 222 in all, situated on Lincoln, Alexander and Brook avenues, the Southern Boulevard, 134th, 135th, 136th, 137th and 138th streets, and they are within easy distance of the Harlem River bridges at 2d and 3d avenues. The title to the property is guaranteed.

This is an excellent opportunity to purchase some up-town and down-town properties, valuable for improvement.

On Tuesday, April 9th, F. G. Wolbert will sell about 33 acres of land fronting on the Hudson River, and extending to Bergen Line avenue, being close to the Weehawken Ferry, and situated in Union Township, Hudson County, N. J. The property will be sold in four parcels, and will be auctioned off at Taylor's Hotel, No. 15 Exchange place, Jersey City, at 2 P.M. on the above date, by order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey. Five floors, containing over 20,000 square feet of surface area, are offered on a lease at Nos. 110 and 112 East 13th street, adjoining Union square. The building is well adapted for storage, manufacturing or any other business, and was until recently occupied by the well-known firm of Van Tassell & Kearney. There is a vault under the sidewalk with 44 feet frontage and the building has windows on four sides. Communications in reference to the lease of the property can be made to Wm. T. A. Hart, at Nos. 105 and 107 East 13th street, directly opposite.

Special Notices.

Richard Walters' Sons, the well-known auctioneers of Broadway, corner 37th street, will continue to float their standard at the above auction rooms. This firm is one of the oldest in the City of New York, having had a prosperous business career of thirty-nine years, disposing of millions of dollars' worth of property, and weathering successfully all financial storms during that period. Their location is an excellent one—situated in the heart of the resident section of New York, two blocks from the Metropolitan Opera House—and is admirably adapted for the sale of furniture, etc. This house, being of undoubted responsibility, guarantees to give prompt returns and complete satisfaction to all patrons.

The Union Iron Works, of 45 Broadway, New York, manufacturers of structural iron work, have issued a very handsome illustrated catalogue devoted mainly to the subject of iron frame work for fire-proof buildings. The descriptive text, with perspectives and detail drawings, possess a particular interest in view of the attention now being given to the reduction in the thickness of brick walls for high buildings, which may be made by the use of iron columns for side wall supports, thus resulting in less expensive construction and an increase in floor area.

T. H. Knight, of No. 60 William street, who has the contract for the plumbing in the new Corbin building, an illustration of which appears in this issue, has done the work in many of the largest of the office buildings down town. Among the places where his work may be seen, may be mentioned the New York Stock Exchange, the Berkeley Lyceum building, and many of the finest dwellings in the city, where his work has given the utmost satisfaction. He was established in the year 1867, as will be seen in his advertising card in another column.

A few more very desirable and first-class dwellings are offered for sale on the old Hamilton Grange property by W. P. Seymour, of No. 171 Broadway, and W. H. De Forest, Jr., of No. 4 Wall street. Houses upon this estate have been in great demand recently, and all the purchases have been made by the intending occupants themselves. Further particulars may be found in another column.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—It has on the whole been a somewhat easier market. During the early portion of the week supply and demand made a very fair balance, and prices stood up pretty well, but subsequently arrivals ran up full, and with buyers apparently in a position to stand off and take advantage of the larger offering the tone eased away somewhat, and it was generally found to be only the very finest of stock that would command in excess of $8 per M. As a rule, however, receivers did not seem to be much demoralized or even worried over the situation. As the supply from Jersey is becoming smaller, it is expected Long Island shipments will soon cease, and the market will have to draw upon the comparatively small amounts said to exist along the Hudson. Much will, of course, depend upon the demand, and in view of so much work having been completed during the winter there is a probability of a slow measure of consumption for a while, yet the general calculation seems to be that between old and new brick there must come a more or less stimulating call calculated to infuse a stronger tone than at present prevailing. On the other hand, buyers are talking a little conservatively, and while admitting that with any kind of a liberal consumption they are likely to labor under some disadvantage until the fresh product of the season becomes reasonably plentiful, attempts to force an extreme rate will be somewhat strenuously resisted. The whole line of the river has been represented in this week's offering, including a few by canal boat loads of stock from Albany, but the latter were said to be far from attractive and failed to find prompt custom even when offered at a considerable shading. Pales, after the free movement of last week, appear to have been handled about up to present wants of regular buyers and the market is now less active and easier. Some of the very best stock still commands $3.75 per M, but $3.50 is about value of the bulk, and we have been named quotations as low as $3.25 per M. Most held-over Croton Point Fronts have been sold with prices remaining same as last season, and most negotiations thus far on Philadelphias and Trentons have been at former rates.

LATH.—While the market was not overcrowded with stock, there proved enough in hand to enable buyers to retain about former advantages. Probably the most important factor was the round wood stock, not so much in the matter of quantity or any particular indisposition of buyers to handle the stock as in the scattered condition of the supply and consequent increased competition, through which sales have run as low as $2.05 per M, but are now quoted at $2.10 and an effort making to raise that figure 2½@5c. per M. For slab stock receivers have maintained some showing of steadiness, and exceptionally talked very firm with $2.20 mentioned as inside and $2.25 per M. asked for a portion of the offering here and to arrive.

LIME.—There is really nothing new of a decided character. Receivers have had more stock to handle, but found the market in a condition to assist them promptly, and cargoes have soon disappeared without objection from buyers over cost at former figures. The State stock, too, when available found good, ready custom, and three lots from St. John, in all about 4,000 bbls., were placed at once at 95c. per bbl. It is intimated occasionally that there is likely to be considerable competition again this season.

LUMBER.—Some irregularity may be noted in the distributive business, an occasional complaint of dullness coming from dealers who have not yet caught their regular run of custom in full force, but a good balance is found in those who claim an unusual degree of animation, and altogether the quantity of lumber moving toward consumption is at least up to and probably in excess of the average for the season, and the temporary lull previously referred to is no doubt rapidly being overcome. Toward first-hand offerings demand is gravitating with more or less force and confidence. There is, of course, at this season a natural tendency to abstain from dipping in liberally, and nothing of a really speculative character can be said to exist, yet it looks as though right down on the hard pan of genuine wants, based either upon broken yard assortments or specific contracts for certain planned work, a great deal of lumber must be handled until well on toward warm weather at least, and business prospects may be considered promising and cheerful. The early break of winter affords an opportunity for renewing the claim of a shortage on logs in which even the Canadians are joining yet, but this is a factor that does not appear to have much influence here and no one anticipates any real scarcity.

Eastern Spruce undoubtedly has a good season before it, and some receivers talk as though it would be almost an impossibility for the market to undergo any reaction. Even allowing for a temporary lull in the consumptive demand, as has been suggested both as a possibility and a probability, it is expected that dealers will stand ready to take care of arrivals and prevent any important set back on value. Advices from sources of supply talk about a small quantity of logs to commence work upon, a scant offering of vessels, owing to attractions for tonnage in other directions, and a determined confidence among manufacturers as prime factors calculated to assist the position. Opinions, however, are not entirely on one side, and even among receivers there is occasionally to be heard conservative suggestions referring to the high plane of value already reached, and the competing woods that may come in to interfere with spruce on a portion of the consumptive outlet. Late arrivals from Maine report that the supply of logs in the State will be less than an average, and attributing the shrinkage to the shortness of the season. It is estimated that the cut on the Kennebec will run 25,000,000 feet less than last year, but admitted that on the Penobscot carried-over stock will, in part, neutralize the loss of the present season. It is further stated that the slow melting of snow makes it very doubtful about getting freshets sufficient for successful drives.

Within a day or two our market has been inflicted with an enormous arrival of stock, the condition of the weather having bunched up and brought in a fleet of coasters far beyond calculations, or at least that is what receivers say. A great many of the cargoes were sold and the balance will all be wanted in time, but there are too many of them to handle promptly, and buyers have gained an advantage temporarily of probably 50c. per M on the average—in some cases rather more. A recovery is predicted as soon as this stuff is out of the way, but something will depend upon how much more there is to follow and how far the wants of dealers are relieved.

Piling remains steady but not active as yet, and recent arrivals were somewhat ahead of the requirements of the market. There was no effort to urge the sale of the cargoes, however, and receivers calculate that both old stock and new will surely find sale.

Hemlock is commented upon in very strong terms as a rule. A considerable portion of the custom towards which this class of stock naturally drifts claim to be standing off in opposition to the line of cost, but sellers seem to be indifferent and frequently intimate that they have placed a larger quantity under contract than at liberty to make public. Current offerings are certainly very moderate and carefully made, and extreme prices are quoted for all grades of standard quality.

White Pine retains a generally good market, and a portion of the line of operators are quite enthusiastic in their comments upon the situation. The most promising view, however, is generally taken of box boards and shipping grades, for while other descriptions are thought sure of an increased consumption over last year other woods are likely to displace White Pine under many contingencies: and this market appears to be a Mecca toward which the pilgrims representing interior dealers and manufacturers resort in great numbers to pay their devotions to, buyers supposed to be anxiously awaiting their appearance. Generally the prospect for business is good and prices incline to harden, but the extent and permanence of the gain depends somewhat upon the manner in which sellers use their advantages.

Yellow Pine is quoted firm, and so far as anyone can be found willing to report there seems to be a pretty good sort of business doing. It was reported some little time ago that fear of yellow fever had made it difficult to obtain crews to man vessels for Brazilian ports, and in consequence retarded f. o. b. trade somewhat. This is denied at least to the extent of having reached any important proportions with a very good trade claimed as still existing, with occasional opportunities on English account and at satisfactory rates. From local sources the call, however, is a little uncertain, as a large number of orders placed early in the year are not in course of execution, and a very good portion of custom manifests a more or less indifferent mood.

North Carolina Pine continues in very good demand for both rough and dressed stock and the market in good shape. Operators are calculating upon a full local consumption this season and hoping to still further expand the area of interior distribution, and with a prospect of controlling the output indications are promising. Belief in ability to place considerable timber is also growing stronger in view of the very full value predicted for spruce.

Hardwoods as a rule do not appear to be talked of with the extreme buoyant tone noticeable in former seasons. Poplar is possibly an exception to the rule; indeed, most energies of the boomers are concentrated upon that wood, and thus far on other descriptions the claims are only for moderate unimportant gains, if any at all. A very good general consumption, however, is among the calculations, and for such woods as cherry, carefully cut and graded quarter sawed oak and ash, a pretty full sale seems assured. Walnut will probably have very poor chance on home orders, but there is reason to expect that exporters will make quite fair customers if they are tendered carefully-selected stuff either cut or in the log. Oak, too, promises to find favor with the foreign trade, with quite a fair amount now understood to be under contract.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Timberman as follows:

Prospects for log driving in Wisconsin and Michigan are poor this spring, and unless there come heavy rains soon—it is too late to think of snow—logs banked far up the streams will in some cases remain where they are until another spring. The mild weather that has prevailed for some time has melted nearly all the snow, and the total quantity now remaining is small, not to be compared with the quantity on the ground a year ago at this time. It is certainly to be hoped that there may be copious rains before long, for the failure to make clean drives this spring would leave many operators in very embarrassing positions.

Logging camps are about broken up, though a few have lingered in the extreme North to take advantage of the little snow that was left. The cut is satisfactory on the whole, though of course many have fallen behind. Others have come out about even. Very few, if any, however, have been able to put in any extra logs, owing to the suddeness with which the season closed. If the logging had continued two weeks longer at the least it is very probable that the estimated cut would have been landed. The estimates made by a number of experts place the shortage from 25 to 15 per cent. of the anticipated cut. In a short time, when reports are made, the exact amount will be known. Lumbermen do not anticipate any embarrassment resulting from the short cut, but rather an advantage. Lumber will no doubt be advanced considerably in price, and millmen will have an opportunity to thoroughly clean up the river of old stock. Comparatively few logs are left on the skids, yet fewer still would be there if loggers had had more warning of spring. Those who have quite a stock on the skids will endeavor to haul them to the river no matter what the weather is, rather than let them be worm eaten.

Wholesalers grudgingly admit that there is a little weakness displayed by a few dealers and on the price of piece stuff at that. There is no evidence at hand to show that this desire to cut prices extends to other lines of stock, but a little of this thing will soon render the whole pile shaky, and should be discouraged, when there is such an evident shortage at wholesale points farther west.

The extreme Eastern trade has fallen off a bit in the last few days. The middle East—longitudinally—is using more lumber than at any time this spring.

The movement of car stock is slow, uneven, and not at all encouraging to those wholesalers who have a large stock on hand. Railroad companies are not ordering their cars in blocks of a thousand in that free and easy way which used to keep the builders hustling and delight the lumbermen. The principal want here seems to be 6-inch siding, eight feet long, which is bringing about $27. Six-inch five and ten-foot roofing is quite slow at $33. Norway dimension stuff in the way of car sills is not over brisk.

The wholesale hardwood trade was better during the first half of the month than the dealers dare hope it will be during the last half. Just a little slowing up is being noted in the stream that flows constantly into consumption. Trade in hardwood lumber here is never absolutely bad. Sales may be light all the rest of the month and then the aggregate will show a remarkable business for March. The faces of some dealers have been rather long and their talk somewhat blue this week, but this should be attributed to the bad weather perhaps more than the conditions of trade.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman says of the Minneapolis market:

Trade continues to improve. The tendency toward a buoyant feeling gains as the condition of general trade begins to develop itself. The country dealers are buying quite rapidly and heavily now, so that the number of cars shipped from day to day does not really indicate the amount of business being done. The orders are beginning to accumulate on the books somewhat, and shipments are in some instances delayed for various reasons. In one or two instances there have been complaints of a scarcity of cars, but this is not likely to reach any large proportions, because most of the roads have plenty of cars at their command to meet the needs of all shippers. Iowa is doing her full share in absorbing lumber, now that the rates have been adjusted. The Southwest trade is all that could be wished for, while the Dakota trade has opened earlier than has been known in years. The shipments last week were 61 cars above those of the week before, and about 70 cars above those of the corresponding week last year. In view of the fact that there was a break in freight rates a year ago, which greatly encouraged shipments, this showing for the current business must be conceded to be very large. The advance from week to week has been very steady as well as remarkably large, so that the business for March is likely to show a surprising footing in the end. Prices are firm though some still are accused of cutting unnecessarily.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

The loggers are about out of the woods in the white pine districts. Estimates of the shortage on the anticipated cut range from 10 to 25 per cent. Without doubt there has been no overwhelming surplus put in the past season, and consequently there will not be the usual crowding of the mills and overloading of the markets. The manufacturers will feel that the lumber turned out this year will sell at fair prices, and there will be less than the usual urgency to sell. Conditions are favorable to an early starting of the mills to saw out carried-over logs, but the prospect is poor for an early or a clean drive of this season's input, for there is little snow to be converted into water, and the streams are low. Conditions of demand and supply are certainly favorable to a steady market through the early part of the season, and possibly an advance later in the year.

AT THE YARDS.—It can be safely said that within the past week trade has increased. The shipping demand has augmented to some extent, and the local requirement has certainly greatly enlarged under the influence of the rapid increase in building operations.

Considerable lumber is moving Eastward. The Pennsylvania and Philadelphia requirement appears to be taking the lead. The call for siding is about equal to that of last year. Clear strips suitable for siding are becoming scarce, and dealers who have a large trade in this kind of lumber are at a loss to know where they shall obtain an adequate resupply.

In spite of moderation of the shipping trade, prices are being held fairly firm. It has been asserted in some quarters that short piece stuff was being sold at $11.50 between yards. But dealers say that when they attempt to buy at that figure they find few who will listen to the proposition. The real basis of piece stuff price is evidently $12. Concessions are made on slim jims, which are in large supply. Short 2x4 and 2x12 is in especial demand, and sells for prices fifty cents better than those for the other sizes. Short timbers are good property, but long timbers, and long, heavy joists are plenty and slower of sale than last year. Later in the season, when there is likely to be more heavy building of factories, warehouses and the like, there may be more call for long, heavy stuff. But yellow pine is filling an increasing amount of this requirement.

EUROPE.

The Timber Trades Journal as follows in London market:

American Black Walnutwood.—The market has a decidedly cheerful tone, and prices are maintained with firmness. This is mostly apparent with respect to the better descriptions of stock. The unreserved lots in Wednesday's sale realized satisfactory prices.

American Whitewood.—In logs there is not very much doing, but in the case of lumber the demand has increased, and higher prices are now obtainable. Still holders are not pressing sales, as with moderate supplies a further advance in prices is anticipated.

American Oak.—In this there is no appreciable change in either demand or prices. As has always been the case cut stuff sells much more freely than logs.

Pencil Cedar.—In this, we understand, there is more trade doing. Importers are holding firm for current rates. The stock, which a short time since was reduced to a very low point, has been increased by recent arrivals, which include a good many clean, good, sound logs, which buyers will do well to inspect.

LIVERPOOL.

Walnutwood.—American moves off slowly from the yards, but the recent arrivals are readily placed, chiefly into dealers' hands, as soon as landed from the ships' sides.

And the following report from recent Hamburgh sales:

Walnut (American).—In consequence of a restriction of the import and the offer of only half the available stock prices improved, averaging for all kinds about 10 per cent. above those bid at the auction held in November last. The rise was more noticeable, however, in the better than in the inferior class of goods, and it is to be hoped that exporters will bear this in mind and thus effectively stimulate that animation which should supervene upon the quiet necessarily prevalent during the winter. Cut stuff was in great demand; the stock of scantling has diminished, that of boards and planks has been pretty large whilst the import lasted, and prices still keep up.

SALES.

Logs	4,006=1/100	200,307
Boards and planks	25,032= "	42,529	and 80,000 (squares).

STOCK.

Logs	4,353=1/100	213,872
Boards and planks	31,124= "	69,211	and 58,000 (squares).

Poplar and Whitewood (American).—No imports have yet come forward this year, and prices would probably go higher if there were a moderate demand. Sales, 151 logs=1/100 cbm. 26,307; stock, 196 logs=1/100 cbm. 35,726.

METALS.—COPPER.—Ingot really has no regular market, owing to the continued unsettling influences extant. The belief that producers, speculators and financial institutions at home and abroad had been able to come to some understanding regarding future operations appear to have been at least premature. Probably the market can be so conducted as to avert any further serious disaster, but all natural tendencies seem to be downward. The American producers have some very nice contracts made with consumers at about 16½c. before the French combine went to pieces, and they are endeavoring to make the market support deliveries on those so far as practicable, but predictions are made that as soon as the contracts expire there will be a slump to somewhere in the neighborhood of 12@13c. for Lake. Manufactured Copper is meeting with a pretty good sort of demand from most regular sources, and production is about up to the average for the season, with the position fairly steady at rates named. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in.. 16 oz. and over, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 26c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 27c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 28c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 38c.; do, under 8 oz, 28@33c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz, 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 25c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 27c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 29c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 33c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 36c. Sheets longer than 96 inches add 1c. for under 16 oz; and 2c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 25c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 28c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 30c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 32c. Sheets 60x96 and over, 25@30c., for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 31c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 28c.; 4 oz, 30c.; 12 oz, 32c.; and 10 oz, 35c. Bolt copper, ⅝ inch diameter and over, 25c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 28@31c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig continues in moderate demand, but as a major portion of the deliveries due on contract made at the commencement of the year are now completed, importers refuse to offer at former rates, and it looks as though buyers insisting upon having foreign iron would have to pay in proportion to current cost abroad. We quote at $19.00@21.50 per ton, according to brand, delivery, etc. American Pig is quiet, so far as new deals are concerned, about the only business being confined to small lots of Southern and irregular Northern brands, most of which go at prices to suit the occasion. There is, however, plenty of stock of standard make going into consumers' hands steadily upon contract, and there has been no influence brought to bear sufficient to modify original terms. We quote at $17.00@18.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $16.00@17.00 for No. 2 X do.; and $15.00@15.50 for Gray Forge. Old material of all kinds has continued to move slowly and with a degree of uncertainty. Offerings openly appear to be only fair, but an expansion of the outlet would soon find stock to fill it. We quote at about $23.00@24.50 for old rails; $20.00@20.50 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $14.50@16.00 for cast scrap, and $18.00@18.50 for car wheels. Steel rails have been sold to a moderate extent, principally at the West, but the demand is not particularly full or promising from first-class custom. Manufacturers, however, claim to know where to put their hands on some very good orders whenever buyers can show the proper financial backing. We quote at $27.00 per ton at the mills, and $28.00@28.50 do. at tide water. Manufactured Iron has a somewhat irregular market, and a number of sources of natural demand have failed to order as freely as possible. It is common to call prices about as before, but the tendency has been rather in buyers' favor. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 1.90@2.10c. from store, and refined at 2.00@2.30c.; Rods, round and square 2.10@2.20c.; Bands, 2.20@2.30c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.75@2.80c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig has not been very active, and though an attempt was made to hold the market up, the absence of demand and pretty free offerings of stock had a natural weakening effect on values. We quote at 3.62½@3.70c., as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 5c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe, 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig does not meet with very extensive speculative attention, but seems to be moving more frequently on orders from consumers, and that imparts quite a healthy undertone to the situation. We quote at about 21@21½c. for round lots and 21⅛@21¼c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plates continued firm, and with more or less stimulating accounts from abroad, a better demand was obtained from both jobbers and consumers. Offerings for early delivery are comparatively moderate. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ⅛ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $5.35@5.50, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ⅛ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $4.75@4.80, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.60@6.65; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.20@13.25; Worcester, 14x20, $4.60@4.62½; Worcester, 20x28, $9.25@9.30; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.20@4.25; Dean grade, 20x28, $8.37½@8.45; Allaway grade, 14x20, $4.05@4.07½; Allaway grade, 20x28, $8.10@8.20; I. C. Coke, B. V. grade, $4.27½@4.30; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.35@4.37½; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.65 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $4.70@4.75. Spelter has sold slowly, owing to absence of demand from brass manufacturers, it is said. Holders make no serious attempt to realize, but supplies are somewhat weighty and values easy. We quote at $4.65@4.90, according to quality.

NAILS.—Orders are increasing from most regular sources and altogether the business is in pretty good shape so far as the movement of stocks is concerned. A measure of dissatisfaction exists, however, in the absence of any basis upon a hardening of value can be secured, and sellers generally are compelled to accept former rates. Some outside lots have been offering of late. We quote at $1.80@1.85 for car lots, and $1.90@2.00 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Little or no change since our last. Demand fluctuates somewhat, especially on interior orders, as one section of country becomes satisfied and another opens up, but importers, manufacturers and jobbers generally appear very well satisfied with existing conditions, and the market is reported as in healthy form for all leading and standard grades. Stocks and assortments are equal to present wants. Linseed Oil has very good call and steady prices at 56½@57½c. for Western and 58@59c. for City. Spirits Turpentine under continued pretty full offerings from the South and a light general demand has further weakened, closing at about 50@51½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Business is fair, in some cases increasing a trifle, with conditions of market in natural order, but as yet no radical changes. Offerings moderate. We quote Pitch $1.35@1.50 per bbl.: Tar at $2.10@2.20, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

VOL. XLIII. APRIL 6, 1889. No. 1,099

We persist in the expectation that President Harrison will soon call an extra session of Congress. The business of the country is now without chart or rudder. Our bankers, brokers, merchants, manufacturers, are without any guide as to their future operations. The surplus in the Treasury is still accumulating, and until Congress meets there will be no legitimate means of getting rid of it. The country will not tolerate the policy of giving it away to the national creditors without an equivalent consideration. Secretary Blaine is on record in objecting to the policy of putting the surplus into the banks without interest. If Congress met for only two months, it could start the business of the country on a prosperous basis by voting for liberal internal improvements and the rehabilitation of our steam marine. This would furnish a productive outlet for the Treasury surplus. If Congress met May 15th, it could take a recess from July 4th to October 1st, when the tariff could be acted upon. But, however fixed, we want an early session of Congress, so that means may be provided for disbursing the Treasury surplus.

For years past this publication has been pointing out the change which has taken place in public opinion and in government action on the subject of competition. The political economy of the nineteenth century, which was born of the negative philosophy of the last half of the eighteenth century in every way magnified competition. "Let us alone," the cry was, and "supply and demand," "self-help," "a fair field and no favor" will set all matters right. It was in this school we were all educated, and our editors and politicians keep on enunciating the old axioms right in the face of their every-day experience. Herbert Spencer has lent his great talents and lucid style to the advocacy of government abstention from all interference with men's pursuits, and in trying to show that the free play of human forces cannot but in the end bring about the best results.

The working classes were the first to revolt against ruthless competition. They declared that its effect upon them was ruinous; it was the struggle for life which played such havoc in the animal world about us transferred to the sphere of human activity. It led to the massing of wealth in a few hands and the starvation of many—so the trade union came into existence to get rid of competition by uniting among themselves. The history of these organizations in Great Britain and this country shows that in a measure they have succeeded in putting a stop to competition in their own ranks. The employers have generally been beaten until recently, when they discovered the value of combination, thus benefiting by the experience of the working people.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE has looked upon the formation of trusts as a striking evidence of a general desire to get rid of competition and to put the commercial operations of man on a co-operative basis—a wasteful struggle for life in industry to be replaced by asking and conceding a fair price for a good article. In this connection the following document, which we take from the Times, is very significant:

The New York Nationalist Club was organized last evening at the Everett House in the rooms of Stewart Merritt, who was instructed by the Boston Nationalist Club to form a local branch of its organization. Among the prominent members of the present branch in Boston are: Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward;" Edward Everett Hale, Col. Thomas W. Higginson, Rabbi Schindler, the Rev. Philip S. Noxon, Sylvester Baxter, of the Boston Herald, Mrs. Mary A. Livermore, Miss Anne Whitney, and others. The meeting was called to order by Stewart Merritt. Jonathan Sturgess was elected chairman, and Mr. W. C. Temple, secretary.

A declaration of principles was unanimously adopted to this effect:

"So long as competition continues to be the ruling factor in our industrial system, the highest development of the individual cannot be reached, the loftiest aims of humanity cannot be realized. Those who seek the welfare of men must endeavor to suppress the system founded on the brute principle of competition, and put in its place another basis on the nobler principle of association. But in striving to apply this nobler and wiser principle to the complex conditions of modern life, we advocate no sudden or ill-considered changes, we make no war upon individuals, we do not censure those who have accumulated immense fortunes simply by carrying to a logical end the false principle on which business is now based.

"The combinations, trusts and syndicates of which the people at present complain demonstrate the practicability of our basic principle of association. We merely seek to push this principle a little further and have al industries operated in the interest of all by the Nation—the people organized—the organic unity of the whole people.

"The present industrial system proves itself wrong by the immense wrongs it produces; it proves itself absurd by the immense waste of energy and material which is admitted to be its concomitant. Against this system we raise our protest; for the abolition of the slavery it has wrought and would perpetuate we pledge our best efforts."

And so the leaven spreads. While Herbert Spencer is wasting his time in trying to demonstrate that government should only be a police force, that neither national nor municipal efforts should be made to improve sanitary arrangements or get rid of squalid tenements, but that it should be left to individually directed movements, all the great governments have been interesting themselves in model lodging-houses, sanitary systems and other measures for improving the health and other comforts of the populous districts. The world is certainly moving; but it is away from the Jeffersonian scheme of government and the doctrine of free competition as urged by the English school of political economists.

Conveyances, Mortgages and New Buildings.

THE QUARTERLY RECORD.

The figures given to-day showing the filings of the past three months will be read with interest by all who own or deal in realty as well as by those who are considering investing in the soil of this great city. It will be noticed that the figures for this quarter of 1889 largely exceed those of last year and, with the exception of the buildings projected, also surpass the wonderful record of 1887. The figures are displayed in a manner which enables the dullest mind to understand, and we shall therefore refer more particularly to some of the facts which have brought about the increase, as well as some of the transactions which form a part of the March business.

Estate Sales.

These are some of the large estates which changed hands during March, together with the amounts involved for the parcels conveyed:

Joshua Jones	3	parcels	$425,000
Kingsland	6	"	391,400
Van Nest	17	"	322,325
Lorillard Spencer, Sr.	10	"	232,100
Walter F. Brush	3	"	412,650
Sidney Smith	5	"	128,250
Betsey A. Hart	8	"	302,400
Total			$2,214,125

From the foregoing it will be seen that the division or sale of seven estates involved property valued at $2,214,125, equal to one-thirtieth of the total $68,484,407, the consideration embraced in 3,810 conveyances recorded during the past month. The Jones estate makes the largest showing, although only three parcels were conveyed, against some twenty which were recorded the first days of April. The amount mentioned in connection with the Brush estate needs explanation because the property was really sold for $220,660. A conveyance of part at $192,000 to a third party, who reconveyed to the heirs, accounts for the difference. More than two-thirds of the sum paid for the Kingsland estate property was bid by and secured for the heirs. The Van Nest estate embraced vacant lots only, and by far the largest portion does not leave the family.

Large Sums Involved.

Here follows a list of the largest transactions recorded during March:

	Buyers.	Amount
William st, Nos. 16 and 18, n e cor Beaver	Farmers' Loan & Trust Co.	$250,000
Broad st, No. 42, and 38 New st	Lewis S. Samuel	102,500
Trinity pl, Nos. 70-76	J. M. & L. N. Levy	172,500
Same property	Aug. D. Shepard	175,000
Madison av, Nos. 1011-1017 (foreclos.)	Exrs. Effingham Townsend	152,000
Madison av, No. 1011 (part of above)	Dr. Octavius A. White	55,000
2d av, n e cor 103d st, five tenem'ts		107,500
Total		$1,014,000

The first plot in the list will no doubt be improved by the erection of a fine office building. Parcel 2 was formerly occupied by the open Board of Brokers, and although sold at auction some time ago the deed was only lately placed on record. It may interest our readers to know that Grace Church has loaned $85,000 (over 80 per cent. of the purchase price) on the property at 5 per cent. interest. The factory Nos. 70-76 Trinity place, which was conveyed twice during the month, finally at $175,000, was sold last June by the Western Union Telegraph Company for $106,000, showing a profit of $69,000 in less than one year. Under a decree of foreclosure the new dwellings on the northeast corner of Madison avenue and 78th street were sold to the executors of Effingham Townsend for $152,000. The executors held second mortgages against the houses, and were forced to buy to secure the estate. Subsequently they resold No. 1011 (the corner house) for $55,000.

Exchanges.

Under this heading we give the most important trades shown by the March filings:

Central Park West (8th av), n w cor 82d st, 27.2x100, five-story flat	$85,000
For
72d st, No. 123 W., four-story dwell'g	55,000

The latter was afterwards resold for $50,500.

Central Park West, w s, 25 n 84th st, 20x100, four-story dwell'g	60,000
For
127th st, Nos. 277 and 279 W., two four-story flats	60,000
40th st, Nos. 138 to 142 E., Baltimore Flats	nom consid
For
Castle and 14 acres at Tarrytown	nom consid
7th av, s w cor 132d st, 99.11x75, five five-story flats	158,000
For
133th st, s s, 100 w 7th av, 12 lots	108,000
Central Park West, Nos. 1721 and 1723, two five-story flats	75,000
For
89th st, n s, 125 w 8th av, 2 lots	24,500
77th st, s e cor Madison av, Lenox Apartment House	nom consid
35 lots on 5th av, 113th and 114th sts	nom consid

Although no consideration is given in the last-mentioned trade we understand the figures to be $200,000 for the flat and $8,000 apiece, or $280,000, for the lots. The flat is mortgaged for $125,000 and the lots for a total of $203,000.

85th st, Nos. 12, 14, 18 and 20 W., four dwell'gs	$160,000
For
Prospect av lots with dwell'g and out-buildings	56,000
Total	$841,500

This total is exclusive of two of the largest trades which if their consideration was mentioned would make the figures about $1,500,000.

West Side Lots.

The following are the largest transactions recorded during the month:

76th st, s s, 100 e 9th av, 7 lots, to John C. Umberfield (with building loan)	$115,500
12th av, from 132d to 133d st, 53 lots, to John D. Crimmins	132,525

East Side Lots.

	Buyer.	Price.
2d av, s w cor 89th st, 4 lots.	James Higgins	$57,000
82d st, n s, 98 w Av B, 8 lots.	F. P. Hummel	40,000
Av B, n w cor 83d st, 28 lots.	Geo., John, Jr., and Jos. Schreiner	135,000
88th st n s, 82 w 4th av, 6 lots. / 89th st, s s, 82 w 4th av, 4 lots.	Elliott F. Shepard	110,000

The first of the foregoing parcels was sold by the Rhinelanders, who are gradually disposing of and improving lots in the same section. Parcel 2 was sold by the executors of George Jones, and parcel 4 by Thomas Rutter, who has taken back a mortgage for $125,000 of the $135,000 involved. The purchase of ten lots on 88th and 89th streets, between 4th and Madison avenues, by Mr. Shepard, as a site for stables for the Fifth Avenue Stage Company, is likely to be as damaging to the locality as was the erection of the car stables at Madison avenue and 86th street.

5th Avenue.

Here follows the changes on the choicest avenue in the city:

S w cor 38th st, 20x83, dwell'g / 38th st, s s, 83 w 5th av, 25x38, vacant. To Charlotte wife of John S. Weatherley	$100,000

No. 382, w s, 95.5 s 86th st, 28x100, four-story dwell'g, to Sarah S. Whiting	100,000
Total	$549,900

The dwelling purchased by Mr. Sharon at $160,000 was mortgaged to the Equitable Life for $125,000 at 5 per cent. Mr. Havemeyer will build an elegant residence on the three lots purchased by him, from plans by Architect Charles C. Haight. Mrs. Whiting (Belmont), who bought No. 382, was married only the other day to Attorney George L. Rives.

23d and 24th Wards.

Some of the big transactions which help to increase the figures for North New York are given below:

Brook av and Brown pl, 131st to 132d st / Brook av and 131st and 132d sts / To N. Y., N. H. & Hartford R. R. Co	$82,500
Willis av, n w cor 132d st, abt 15 lots, to Suburban R. T. Co	45,000
Alexander av, n e cor 134th st / Southern Boulevard, east of Alexander av / To Chas. H. Jenkins, Brooklyn	112,750
Willis av, s w cor 137th st, 4 lots / Willis av, n e cor 136th st, 4 lots / Edward Hirsh	48,500
Willis av, w s, from 137th to 138th st, 8 lots / 137th and 138th sts, adj, 10½ lots / Ed. Hirsh and Moses Weis	83,500
	$372,250

It will be seen from the above list that nearly $130,000 was invested by two railroad companies and $132,000 was paid for lots by Building Loan Operator Edward Hirsh. The latter has bought something like sixty lots on and near Willis avenue, and many houses are now going up with money furnished by Mr. Hirsh to builders to whom he has resold lots with loans for improvement. During the month nearly forty deeds were recorded transferring lots at Woodlawn Heights, forming part of the old Hyatt farm. The sum of $36,014 was involved in the deeds mentioned.

Speculators.

Among the most active speculators may be mentioned Messrs. Weil & Meyer and Herman Wronkow, and lists of their dealings are given herewith:

Mr. Wronkow's dealings seem to require some explanation. The items marked thus * mean that the property in question was first conveyed to one Griffen Tompkins, who subsequently turned the property over to Mr. Wronkow at a largely-increased figure. Items in the sales columns marked † mean that the property was conveyed to Mr. Tompkins, who afterwards resold, sometimes for a lower consideration. The sales, resales and mortgages against Nos. 101 to 119 East 110th street during the last two months may interest our readers:

The amount embraced in the mortgages is largely in excess of last year's figures as well as those of 1887, and while the conveyances for 1887, 1888 and 1889 are $63,000,000, $57,000,000 and $68,000,000 respectively; the mortgages are $35,000,000, $34,000,000 and $45,000,000 respectively for the same years, showing an increase of $10,000,000 over the large figures for 1887, against an increase of only $5,000,000 in the conveyances for the same years. In fine the mortgages for the last quarter reach to within $5,000,000 nearer to the amount expressed in the conveyances than the mortgages for the same period two years ago did.

The largest loan during the month was placed on the Tower building on Broadway, south of Exchange place. The amount is $350,000, the rate of interest 4½ per cent., and the mortgagees the trustees of the Peabody Education Fund.

A loan of $50,000 on Broadway property, which was sold for $61,000, was made by the Sailors' Snug Harbor at 4½ per cent. interest—this represents about 80 per cent. of the valuation. Other loans were made by institutions and individuals at 4 per cent., but the number is not large. For instance, 144 mortgages, aggregating over $2,500,000, at less than 5 per cent. were recorded during March, of these only 21, aggregating $386,597, were at 4 per cent., and this by the way was the lowest interest on any of the mortgages recorded. It is really surprising to find so many out-of-town institutions and capitalists loaning on realty, and such mortgagees generally figure as loaning at the lowest rates.

The Building and Loan Association mortgages make a very poor showing, the total for the month being only 6 for $15,160. Against this it may be mentioned that there were 46 placed in Brooklyn during the same period for a total of $186,400.

The buildings projected during the month show a substantial increase, both in number and amount, over March of last year, but they are far behind the filings of March, 1887, when the phenomenal figure of 887 buildings, to cost over $13,000,000, was reached. It should be remembered, however, that this immense filing was brought about to a large extent by changes which were then contemplated in the building laws, and, as the changes were expected to make the laws more stringent, scores of plans were filed in anticipation that were never carried out. The figures for January and February, it will be noticed, are about the same as the figures for the same month of 1887 and largely in excess of the filings for 1888.

The table given below is a new feature, and will no doubt be appreciated by all those who are anxious to keep posted as to the class of buildings being erected in the different sections of the city. A glance at the figures shows that the west side leads the other sections, and furthermore that private dwellings are being erected in much larger number in that section than flats and tenements, although the latter are not by any means few in number.

The tables for Kings County show that there has been a considerable increase in the number and cost of parcels transferred this year as compared with the same period in 1888. The mortgages are also larger in both cases, while the number and amount of mortgage loans at 5 per cent. interest and less increased most appreciably. The building movement is exceedingly active, and the number and estimated cost of buildings very largely exceeds those in the same quarter last year.

The report from Albany is that there is to be a combination between the promoters of the Arcade road, the proposed Cable road and the Manhattan Company to give New York the various forms of rapid transit it requires. We have always favored a cable company of some kind to take the place of our slow and cumbersome horse-car systems. Another Broadway under the present one would be a magnificent scheme, and we have always advocated it. Then the utilizing of the Manhattan Elevated, so as to give us swifter and more numerous trains has been a pet idea of ours; indeed, THE RECORD AND GUIDE has been the only New York journal to advocate this improvement. By all means let these three programmes be united and made a part of the Mayor's bill. Its enactment would settle the rapid transit problem for half a century.

It is not easy to find figures clearly showing the effect which our slow and inadequate rapid transit facilities have upon the prosperity of New York. We know, in a general way, that the upper wards of the city, and especially the annexed district, are not being developed as rapidly as they might be if there were quicker communication to the City Hall, and a large number of people are leaving the city to make their homes in Brooklyn and the towns surrounding us. The statistics of the Building and Loan Associations for March throw a little light on the subject. In New York City there are forty-one of those societies, and in Long Island, including Brooklyn, only twenty-four. Yet it appears that during March only six loans, amounting to $15,160, were made for New York property, while forty-six loans, amounting to $186,400, were made for Brooklyn property. Clearly, the members of even the New York societies are going to Brooklyn instead of remaining in this city; and there is no doubt that this is mainly due to the greater cost, time and inconvenience in getting to the upper part of Manhattan Island than to the outer wards of Brooklyn. Yet there is plenty of cheap, suitable land in the northern part of the island, as well as beyond the Harlem, that would be taken up and improved if there were only adequate means of getting there.

The Manhattan Road's Plea.

MORE OPINIONS ON RAPID TRANSIT.

The interviews with prominent citizens on the latest phase of the rapid transit question, which appeared in last week's RECORD AND GUIDE, have received considerable attention. The diagram, which accompanied these interviews, of the loop in Battery Park which Mr. Jay Gould said, in his letter to Mayor Grant, would increase the capacity of the Manhattan Road, was scanned with considerable interest, not only by our readers, but by the general public, who saw it on the elevated road stations, where it was displayed during the week. A number of talks were had with other citizens on the question, some of which are given below:

Wm. De Groot, President of the Hudson River Bank, said: "I don't believe that the loop in the Battery Park, if granted, will enable the Manhattan Road to relieve the pressure of traffic during the busy hours. I would be glad to get anything under the sun that would give us better rapid transit, but I don't think that will do it. We want something that will solve the question for twenty years. I think Mayor Grant's idea is best. I want to see his commission appointed, so that we may know what can be done to give us real rapid transit."

Charles Buek, President of the Real Estate Owners' and Builders' Association, said: "I think Mr. Gould's plans would be a benefit to the city. As we cannot have immediate relief any other way we ought to give the Manhattan Road the necessary facilities for doing what they can for us. Mayor Grant's plan may take five years or more to be put into operation. I would give the Manhattan Road the strip they want in Battery Park and let them build third tracks on whichever lines they will be serviceable."

"What plan do you think would give us a more permanent system of rapid transit?" asked the reporter.

"Well," said Mr. Buek, "I have carefully studied all the plans offered, and I have come to the conclusion that the Arcade Road is the best. I believe that road is as perfect in its design as could be desired. It runs through the main artery of the city; it would be lighted up by electricity, and it would provide for all the water mains, gas pipes, tubes and electric wires to be placed underground and easily accessible. This is an intelligent plan—one to which we will have to come to eventually, for it is time an end was made of the continuous tearing up of the streets. I think the Grand Central Depot should be removed to the Harlem River. This would enable us to have rapid transit through 4th avenue, by the cut being continued below 42d street, or a connection made in some other way to the lower part of the city. I am able to say one thing, and that is, that the entire east side north of 59th street is suffering as it ought not to suffer because of the bad rapid transit facilities. This is especially the case with private house property on the line of Madison and 5th avenues. It is too far to walk over to the 'L' road, and riding on the 3d avenue road is objectionable to many residents on the line of those avenues. This has resulted in driving people to the west side. Rapid transit up 4th avenue from the lower part of the city would be worth millions to east side property."

A gentleman who refused to have his name published, said: "Why doesn't Mayor Grant have the elevated road officers put down in black and white what they are willing to do for the people if the city allows them to get the loop and use their third track? The Mayor could then get the city's engineers to consider these propositions, examine them thoroughly, see whether they were feasible and report the result of their investigations, which should be made public. This could be done in three days. If the engineers reported that the company's plans would relieve the traffic, as claimed, then the city should at once grant the desired facilities, and make the company responsible for acting in good faith in the matter, and if necessary hold them in bonds to do so. But Mayor Grant, instead of treating the company properly, practically 'kicked out' its officers when they called on him; so that we are now in the position of having officially severed our relations with the only body of men who are able to do anything for us."

Anthony Arent said: "The three-track business is a fraud and is intended to deceive the public. The passenger traffic is too great to be relieved by a third track. What we want is extra lines of roads. For instance, on the west side we want a line on 10th avenue or on the Boulevard. The latter is 150 feet wide, and it could stand a sunken road with four tracks, without interfering with the street traffic. I don't care whether Jay Gould or anyone else builds the new road as long as we get better transit."

Terence Farley's Sons, the west side builders, were asked if a third track along 9th avenue would damage their property. "I don't think it would hurt us at all," said one of the members of the firm. "It might take away a little light from the streets, but we wouldn't object to that if it would enable people to come up here more quickly and with less crowding. We have a $250,000 building on this corner and we don't think a third track would hurt it."

"What would it be worth to the ten houses you are now building on 71st street if you had quick transit?" asked the reporter.

"It would benefit them a good deal; how much it is impossible to tell. But it would enable us to sell our houses quicker and easier, and would no doubt save us making concessions in some cases. I don't object to their getting the Battery loop if they pay for it. It would be a good thing for the west side if it would enable them to reduce the headway during the busy hours."

The reporter thought he would see what a few workingmen had to say about it. He struck a group of them who were working on 9th avenue, near 88th street. It was their dinner hour and they had a little leisure for talking. He introduced the subject by quietly asking them if they thought that road (pointing to the 9th avenue elevated structure) could stand a third track ?"

"I guess it would," said one of the men. "You might have to brace it up a little, but I think there wouldn't be any danger."

"Do you think you and I would be able to get home and get to our work quicker if the third track was put on ?" asked the writer.

"I live near here and it don't make any difference to me," was the reply.

"Well, some of you use the 'L' road," said the reporter.

"Yes, sir," answered one of the elder of the group. "I live in Harlem, and if I could get down to my work a little earlier I'd be glad to see a third track built, if they run quicker trains on it."

The reporter struck two mechanics on the corner of 86th street and 9th avenue. Glancing up at the "L" road, he asked them the same question as he had put to the others. They both agreed that the third track could be built without danger. One, who was a carpenter, said the street would not be darkened to any extent by the building of a third track ; the other, who was a plasterer, said that he thought it would darken the street very much. The carpenter seemed to be quite an intelligent man. The reporter asked him if he found the working people whom he moved amongst speaking against Jay Gould. His reply was: "I never hear them say anything against Jay Gould. It's the papers that are against him." The reporter here showed him THE RECORD and GUIDE's diagram of the loop wanted in the Battery. "Well, if that's all he wants, and it would give us faster trains, I'd give it to him, and I'd let him build a third track, too. There's only a lot of bums use the Battery in the day, and nobody would notice the 'L' road track in the night."

Thomas & Eckerson, the real estate agents, said : "We have got to have some immediate improvement in rapid transit, and there is no scheme on the carpet that can give it to us as quickly as the elevated roads. Mayor Grant's plan may be very good for the future, but what we want is something better for the present. The third tracks would be a great thing ; they would accommodate a large crowd. When they were built, two tracks could be used for down-town trains in the morning rush, and two tracks for up-town trains in the afternoon rush."

J. G. Prague, the well-known architect and yachtsman, said: "Why don't they give the elevated road people what they want. Jay Gould is the only man who has given us rapid transit. What the politicians regret is that they haven't a chance to have a finger in the rapid transit pie."

J. H. Hunt, the west side real estate agent, said: "I don't see what objection there can be to the Battery loop being given to the Manhattan Road, nor to their being permitted to build a third track. I think there ought to be a rapid transit road along the Boulevard. We want that very badly for the west side, which now only has one elevated road, while the east side has two."

O. B. Potter said: "I think we should act fairly toward the Manhattan Road. It cannot be denied that the elevated roads have carried more passengers with greater safety than any other system of travel in the world. I think if the facilities asked for by them were granted it would almost duplicate the capacity of the road, and would not be any appreciable detriment to the public."

Geo. De Forest Barton, one of the Real Exchange Committee to watch rapid transit at Albany, said: "Before I saw the diagram in THE RECORD AND GUIDE I had an impression that the loop asked for by Mr. Gould would encircle Battery Park and run somewhere along the water front promenade. I naturally felt opposed to it then. But since seeing the diagram I feel that it would not damage the park to any extent, and I am in favor of granting it, in view of the better facilities it will enable the public to have. As far as the third tracks are concerned, I believe they, also, would tend to increase the accommodations. I am in favor of granting any additional facilities to the elevated road system which will give the people better transit and conveniences. It is immaterial to me who owns the road; it is the only system which we have got and we should make the best of it. In the meantime Mayor Grant's plan can be matured, and while I generally favor this, bill I do not see that it will be likely to give us a system of rapid transit for some years. We want immediate relief."

Russell Sage was seen at the offices of the Manhattan Company recently. The reporter asked him if the company was prepared to pay for the loop in the Battery Park. In reply Mr. Sage said: "We ought not to be asked to pay down a large sum for a small strip of public property, when we are giving the public transportation at a cheaper rate than any other railroad in the world. It ought to be a matter of 'give and take.' Still, if the city wants us to pay for it, I can say, unofficially, that I think the company will not object to paying the price which any commission of citizens appointed by the Mayor may say the loop is worth."

A Talk with Ex-Building Superintendent D'Oench.

It has been rumored that ex-Superintendent of Buildings Albert F. D'Oench has been ousted from office for political reasons. A reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE called to see Architect D'Oench at his new office in the Bible House to ascertain the truth of the rumor, and at the same time to gather a few ideas from him in relation to the Building Department.

"It is a mistake," said the ex-Superintendent. "I can say very frankly that no political influence caused me to resign. I was on excellent terms with all the Fire Commissioners, and President Purroy was very kind enough to offer to remedy anything that was in the way of my remaining at the post. But I was severely overworked, and I found I could not stand the strain. Besides, I felt that the position had no prospects for me, and I preferred to return to the practice of my profession."

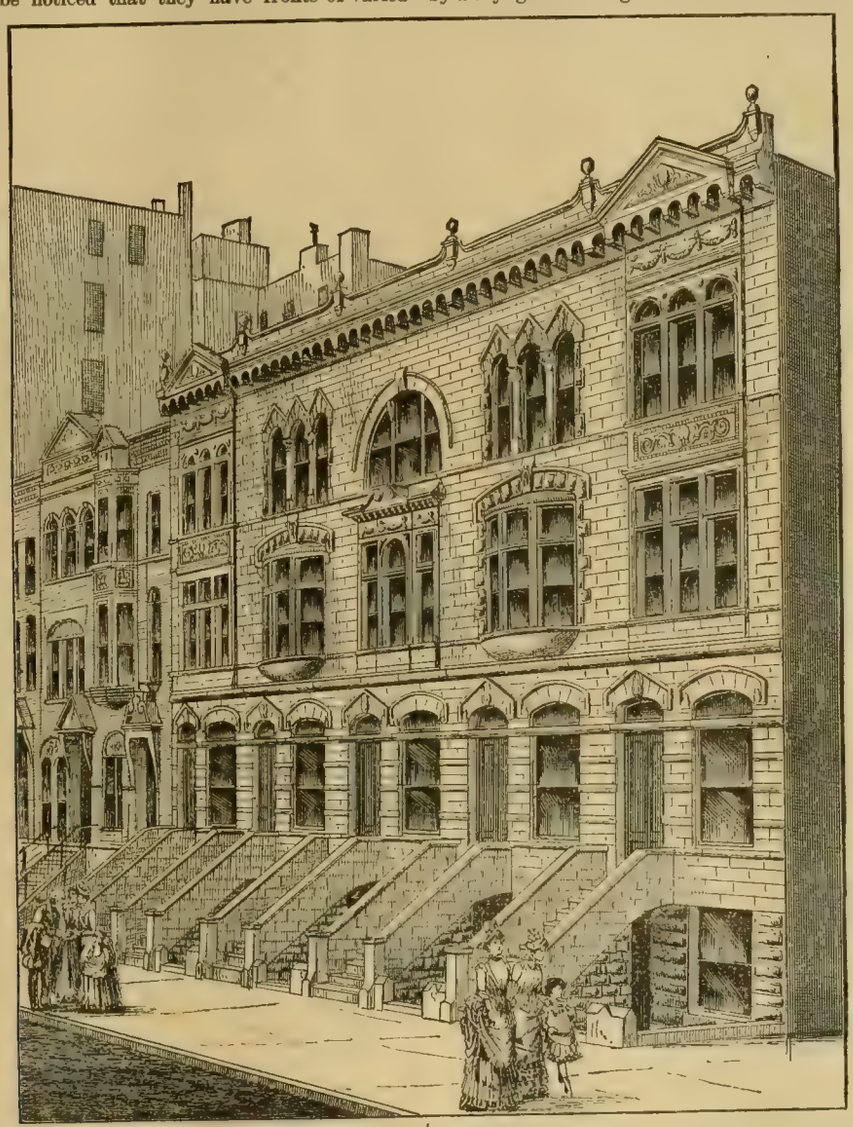
"How came you to be appointed?" asked the reporter, with an apology for the query.

"Well, I happened to be drawing some plans for ex-Mayor Grace at the time. The Mayor sent for me, and I at first declined. I had not solicited the position and was surprised when it was offered to me. However, the Mayor prevailed upon me, and I accepted, giving up my work to my classmate, Mr. Bernhard Simon, with whom I am now associated."

"What reforms, after your four years of experience, would you suggest in the Building Department?" asked the reporter.

"First of all," said Mr. D'Oench, "I would raise the standard of the inspectors and the tone of the whole bureau. I would begin by paying the inspectors $2,000 each, and some of them more. The majority now only get $1,100, while others get $1,200 and $1,300, and one, I believe, a little more. Now, $1,100 is a ridiculous salary for a man who has to do such important work as is given to a building inspector. To raise the salary to $2,000 would benefit the city in two ways: first, it would insure a high class of men, who would have both a theoretical and practical knowledge of their duties; second, it would place them beyond the temptation of a bribe. The more educated the man, the better his moral training is likely to be, and the more revolting to him is the idea of being corrupted. I am not now insinuating that the inspectors in the Building Department are dishonest. But we know that a number of them—men whom I never suspected myself—were removed for receiving bribes. Another reform I would suggest would be to make the department more of a statistical and technical bureau. The strength of materials ought to be investigated, and the results recorded and kept for reference. Careful surveys should be made all over the city to ascertain the character of the ground, whether it be rocky, sandy, marshy, clay or otherwise. At present we have no maps or records showing this, and we have to rely upon our general judgment of land nearby. We ought not to have to send out our inspectors, or even rely upon them, for a knowledge as to the character of the ground. We ought to have it right in the bureau. This would save a good deal of trouble and incessant surveying, and would also be a guide to builders and investors in the purchase of property. A good deal more money should be appropriated to the Building Department. There are too few inspectors and the men are very much overworked. Besides, the Superintendent should not be pushed to death with a consideration of a hundred technical questions ever being crowded upon him all the time. He ought to have the aid of first-class men, who understand their work in theory and practice and who are good mathematicians. Only by working almost day and night can the Superintendent begin to keep up with the great rush during most parts of the year. The bureau now costs a little over $100,000 per annum, and this includes $10,000 for an attorney. When the estimated cost of new buildings, with alterations, sums up about $60,000,000 a year, the city ought to be able to afford a little more on so important a bureau."

One of the works accomplished by Mr. D'Oench was to have a survey of every block in the city to see if fire-escapes were needed. The result was that some 3,000 cases were found to exist where they were required, and notices were sent to the owners accordingly.



When asked for an opinion about his successor, Thomas J. Brady, Mr. D'Oench said: "He is an excellent man for the post. He is honest and capable and will make a good Superintendent."

The Assembly Committee on Railroads during the past week reported the Mayor's Rapid Transit bill with two important amendments. The Arcade Road is given a chance to come in by the non-exclusion of Broadway; but the elevated roads are barred out. The bill was made a special order for Wednesday morning.

A Quintet of Harlem Residences.

I have had occasion, in previous articles, to speak of the handsome character of some of the improvements undertaken by builders in certain sections of Harlem. In one of these articles I referred to 122d street as giving promise of being one of the finest streets north of the Central Park. I refer only to that section between Mount Morris and Morningside Parks, which is not only restricted, but which is improved on both sides of the street with a class of houses, some of which are superior tom any of the residences on the line of 5th avenue, though probably not one quarter as costly as a number of them.

Among these are the five houses of which I am enabled to present an illustration herewith, situated at Nos. 212 to 220 West 122d street, near the 7th avenue Boulevard. It will be noticed that they have fronts of varied designs. They are in light carved stone, exclusive of the basements and stoops, which are of brown stone. Each one is entered through a massive mahogany door leading to the vestibule. This door has a beveled glass centre, and is surmounted by an oxidized iron grill bearing a shield on which the number of the house is engraved in gilded letters. This is quite a novel idea. The vestibule is tiled in Mosaic and has mahogany wainscoting. The entrance door to the hall is also of solid mahogany, with a unique design in bevel and inlaid stained glass. A handsome hat-stand, with mirror, ornaments the hall, from which entrances lead to both the main parlor and reception room.

The first floor is handsome, light and spacious. It consists of three rooms thrown together, giving an uninterrupted range 60 feet in length. The floor consists of three rooms and is so designed that the house, though not as wide, appears as though it had a frontage of 18 or 20 feet. It is in hardwood trim and has mantels in each room in the Colonial and Renaissance styles, with beveled mirrors, tiled fire-places, and basket-grates. A novel idea is introduced at the stairs leading to the basement. It consists of constructing a large spindled screen of wood in the place of the stairway wall, thus giving light to the stairway, from which the latter is usually debarred. The spindles all converge to a central circular beveled glass mirror, the whole giving a complete and pleasing effect. The trellis work over the entrances from the hall and the main parlor is also pleasing to the eye.

The second floor is reached by a mahogany stairway which is slightly curved at the entrance. It is of special design and elaborately carved, the newel posts being a feature. This floor contains two large handsome bedrooms, with a Huber closet and bathroom, etc., in the centre, ventilated by a skylight running to the roof. Each bedroom has a detached saloon dressing-room with a wardrobe and a profusion of closets, as well as a handsome washstand of marble. The bedrooms on the third floor are almost a fac-simile of those on the second, with a servant's bedroom and a storeroom added, in lieu of the bathroom below. The bedrooms on both floors have handsome mirrors, mantels and fire-places.

The front basement room is arranged so that it can be used as a dining-room and it is trimmed in quartered oak. It has a handsome mantel, with mirror, and a tiled fire-place. The kitchen has a fine Hood range securely built in brick, and refrigerators, porcelain washtubs, and other domestic conveniences are supplied. The cellar is concreted. All the houses have first-class sanitary plumbing and plenty of closet room, and are planned to give excellent light and ventilation throughout. The construction of the houses is sound and substantial and many good ideas are introduced, the result of some forty years' experience on the part of the owner as a real estate agent and builder.

OBSERVER.

Men and Things.

Up till going to press last night the date of the public meeting proposed to be held by the Real Estate Exchange to consider the question of rapid transit had not yet been decided upon.

The knock-down fees on the Real Estate Exchange during March amounted to $2,288.50, as against $1,082 last year, $1,765 in 1887 and $1,544 in 1886.

County Clerk Reilly has authorized Chief Lis Pendens Clerk Erastus F. Wilson to sign his name to all mechanics' liens, satisfactions, transcripts of judgments and other papers in his department. This will save time for lawyers and others who have business to transact at the County Clerk's office.

An evidence of the increase in values in some sections of the city is shown in the four lots just sold on the southwest corner of West End avenue and 81st street for $48,000. They were purchased in 1882 by Jacob Halstead for $20,000; they were sold by him in June, 1887, to Scott & Bowen for $36,000, who disposed of them in March, 1888, to Dr. Ewing for $41,000. The price now paid is an increase of 140 per cent. in seven years.

The growth of the co-operative building and loan association movement has been so rapid of recent years that it is quite natural to find it represented by a special journal. The Home Seeker and Co-operative Bulletin, a semi-monthly publication, has been established by C. O.C. Hennessy, of the New York Daily News, and from what we can see, has commenced a long, prosperous and useful career. The paper is capably edited, bright and newsy, and is full of interest, even for those who are not specially concerned in the co-operative movement. The great danger besetting the movement lies in the activity of speculative schemers working under the guise of co-operation, The Home Seeker has taken a definite stand against these, which is one of the best things it can do to advance the cause.

The Real Estate Exchange has reduced the annual membership dues from $60 to $30. It is expected that this will result in a considerable increase in the roll of annual members.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

The weekly meeting of the above committee took place on Tuesday, Wm. Reynolds Brown in the chair.

Secretary Townsend Scudder read replies from New York Senators and Congressmen to the request made by the committee that they should look after an appropriation to complete the Harlem Canal. Congressman S. S. Cox wrote: "I shall hereafter undertake to act along with your active and vigilant member—Mr. Fitch—upon the line which your resolution suggests." The Hon. Ashbel P. Fitch wrote: "The demands, and, I regret to say, sometimes the jealousies, of other parts of other sections of our country make it exceedingly difficult to get such appropriations as we need. It will be necessary to urge the work as of national importance, and I should be glad to join with your committee in an effort to demonstrate, to our friends of the West in particular, the importance to them of the completion of this work." Mr. Fitch adds that he would like to appear before the committee and explain the difficulties met in obtaining appropriations for New York City, and especially for the Harlem River improvement.

On motion, a committee of Messrs. Constant A. Andrews, W. C. Orr, and Geo. De F. Barton were appointed to watch legislation at Albany, when necessary.

The special order of the day—Mayor Grant's Rapid Transit bill—was then taken up. E. Ellery Anderson, chairman of the Rapid Transit Commission appointed by Mayor Hewitt, spoke at length upon the question. He was in favor of allowing the commissioners to be appointed by Mayor Grant to have full power to lay out routes as though the city were a blank sheet of paper. He favored granting the loop and giving other privileges to the Manhattan Road as a temporary expedient, irrespective of what the commissioners would suggest as a more permanent measure.

Chas. P. Shaw, attorney for the Cable Road, was given the floor, and was called to order by the chairman for stating that the Exchange had favored the Cable Road above all others. The chairman nonplussed the speaker by showing up a copy of the resolutions which he held in his hand.

O. B. Potter spoke in favor of allowing the Manhattan Road further facilities. Several members also addressed the committee, and upon the motion of Mr. Crimmins, a resolution was passed asking the president to call a public meeting on the question. The committee then adjourned.

Assemblyman Connolly's bill opening 116th street through Bloomingdale Asylum grounds came up in the Assembly on Thursday, April 4th, and was passed by a good majority.

To Depopulate New York City.

[From Our Special Correspondent.]

HOTEL DE GOULD, TRANSITVILLE, N. J., April 1, 1889.

I have succeeded. Disguised, as a passenger on the Third avenue road to 125th street, I was admitted into the third annual meeting of the "Society for the Continuation of the Present Method of Promoting Rapid Transit in New York City" which was held here to-day. On arriving at the depot I was met by an inspector, who examined me as to the reality of my disgust with the transit facilities in New York, and the Lot-like strength of my determination to quit the city as a place of residence. I was tested for elongation of arms due to hanging to straps, compressibility of body, strength of duration in foul atmosphere and deterioration of temper and manners. Having passed in these matters creditably—I mean creditably for a passenger to only 125th street, for I could not have carried 6th avenue to 155th street through—I was permitted to enter the city. I was surprised to find how the place has grown since I was here three years ago investigating for a scientific society the causes of the fervid Spring imagination of the Jersey farmer as displayed in the "home comforts, boating, fishing, abundance of fresh milk and eggs, plenty of shade, no mosquitoes" of the "Summer Boarding" column. On the site of the present city there was then nothing but taxes, whereas the population now consists of 4,000 Ninth avenue passengers, 6,540 Sixth avenue passengers, 11,000 from the Third avenue and 3,000 from the Second avenue. The streets are lined with handsome villas, especially Hewitt street, Court of Appeals street, Press Row (pronounced "rou" here), Albany Square and Ten Cent thoroughfare. There are also some nice houses along the line of Property-Holders' Conduct.

The meeting of the society was held in the hall of the hotel, the walls of which were tastefully decorated with "To advertisers—We carry 500,000 passengers daily," expired charters, visionary plans, estimates, legislative bills, reports of discussions, etc., connected with rapid transit in New York. The organization is composed entirely of citizens and property-holders of Brooklyn, Williamsburgh, Jersey City, Newark, the "Oranges," forty-two other towns contiguous to New York City, and shareholders of the New Jersey, Long Island and Staten Island railroads and ferry companies, all interested in the depopulation of New York City. I must confess that I never attended a more crowded and enthusiastic meeting, and when the president called for order every inch of the hall was occupied.

As nearly as I can make out from my stylographic pen notes this is about what the chairman meant to say:

"I congratulate the society upon the third year of its prosperous existence and upon the wider field for its activity which has been opened to it by the events of the past month in New York City. When with trepidation we expected every moment to be our next and looked to see the return of thousands of the people of our respective cities to New York, a providential hand performed for us the feat we have long wished for and killed the Arcade Road. We fancied there was no Smith able to knock the last nail into the coffin of that scheme, but the trained hand of the Law did it. (Cheers.) The mere assurance that a scheme of that excellence would be carried out would, of course, put a stop to the present depopulation of New York and maintain her interests at the expense of ours. But with that scheme now really "under ground" the only danger in the situation is that New Yorkers, in one of those moments of mental lucidity, which unfortunately are liable to come at any time to the insane, may turn to the Manhattan Road and permit it to improve the condition of rapid transit for the present while a permanent plan is being carried out."

A Voice—"Frighten 'em with Gould."

Chairman—"That's just what we are doing. Don't be alarmed, gentlemen, we have a little Jay here that can frighten the eagles any time. During the past fortnight we have worked Jay for all he's worth—and I needn't say, in more ways than one that's considerable. The Press of New York have, as usual, manfully stood by us against the interests of their own city. They have been splendidly one-sided and have exaggerated with an unlimited wealth of abuse, the concessions requested by Gould (cheers for the New York Press.) So long as this continues we are safe, and our Committee on the Propagation of Useful Literature have prepared a little article, written in a popular style, to be given out to the Press, showing how the face of Jay Gould can be detected in each girder of the elevated roads. We believe this will strengthen the opposition to the "loop," or the third track, or anything that will enable the Manhattan Road to give the city better and more comfortable service. I am happy to say Albany is "alright" as usual. The Mayor's scheme has got tangled up with politics and the cable and twenty-four other unborn and moribund schemes. It means more talk and will thus increase the talk-power wasted on this rapid transit business. You remember our secretary reported at the last meeting that he calculated that up to that date the talk-power expended was sufficient to run twenty-one miles of road for about fifteen years. Our policy in future must be as it has been in the past, to encourage new schemes, discussion and fierce opposition to the Manhattan Road. With this done, rapid transit is at least ten years hence in New York, probably more, and our prosperity is assured." (Loud cheers.)

When the chairman concluded, the Committee for the Dispersion of Grass Seed and the Extension of Agriculture in the Upper Wards of New York City received subscriptions. The reports of committees are to be heard to-morrow.

Notes and Items.

Henry B. Sire, Meyer L. Sire and Albert I. Sire are the incorporators and trustees of the Fifth Avenue Real Estate Company, with a capital of $250,000. The object of this organization is to deal in real property in New York City.

The Manhattan Athletic Club has been unable to renew its lease for the club grounds at 8th avenue and 86th street. After the 1st of May the property will be cut up and sold for building lots. A committee has been appointed by the club to secure new grounds, but as yet nothing has been done.

On Thursday, April 4th, the special commission, constituted by the act authorizing the erection of a new municipal building, met in the Mayor's office. The commissioners have to determine which of the departments occupying rented quarters shall go into the new building, and what shal be done in the meantime with the occupants of the old buildings, which are to be torn down. A survey of the ground was ordered, and a committee was appointed to find out what room will be needed preparatory to advertising for plans.

On Thursday evening, April 4th, there was held at the Arion Club's Hall a meeting of the property owners along the line of the proposed new bridge structure of the New York & Long Island Bridge Company, and a vigorous public protest was made against the enterprise. Many people interested were present, and a committee was appointed to oppose the passage of the bill in the Legislature.

Mayor Grant has followed the example of his predecessor, Mayor Hewitt in vetoing the resolution of the Board of Aldermen providing for the construction of two new elevators for the new Court House without public competition. The law provides that where the cost of the work proposed exceeds $1,000 it shall only be done after public bidding, open to all competitors, and the Mayor sees no reason why any exception should be made in regard to elevators.

The following sites for armories have been offered to the Armory Board, and are now under consideration, viz.: By Leonard Scott—Ten lots on the east side of 7th avenue, extending from 117th to 118th street, and 125 feet on each street; price, $160,000. By Edmond M. Connolly—The block bounded by 10th avenue and the Boulevard, 86th and 87th streets; price, $325,000. By H. F. Schellhass—An irregular plot located at the northwest corner of 56th street and Broadway, and containing about ten city lots; price, $290,000. By George A. Widmayer—A plot on the northeast corner of 35th street and 1st avenue, including river front, 350 feet on 35th street and 151 feet on 1st avenue; price, $250,000.

The Riverside Park Company has just been incorporated, with a capital of $150,000, by John Fox, John R. Foley, Anthony Kesseler, Alexander Lutz, Robert and M. C. Graham, William H. Turrell, Martin B. Brown, Joseph Blumenthal and William H. Connell. The object of the company is the purchasing and improving of property in New York and Washington, and the term of its existence is fifty years.

What is a Roof?

NEW YORK, April 1, 1889.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

If the lessor covenant to keep roof of a building (with a Mansard roof) in repair, where does his responsibility to repair roof end?

Is the comparatively flat roof above the Mansard roof, the roof, or does the covenant to keep roof in repair commence at the top of the wall upon which the Mansard roof rests?

Is the tower, which starts from the flat roof (and was there placed to make room for machinery of elevator) a part of the roof thus under covenant, it being built at an angle of the sides which are slated, and the top tinned, thus _|¯|_? INQUIRER.

ANSWER.—On turning to Webster's Unabridged Dictionary the meaning of the word roof is found to be the cover or upper part of any house, and a variety of roofs are illustrated, such as a gable roof, hip roof, conical roof, ogee roof, shed roof, curb roof, Mansard roof, etc.

A Mansard roof is stated to be a kind of roof where the upper set of rafters are more inclined to the horizon than the under set. Strictly speaking, there is scarcely an example in this city of the kind of French roof which bears the name of its distinguished inventor, Mansard. Most of our city "Mansard" roofs are simply slanting fronts to the top story, placed there for architectural effect, while in the rear of the same story the brick wall is carried up to the deck or comparatively level portion of the roof. One or both the parties to an agreement to keep a roof in repair might have had in mind only the deck or portion usually covered with tin; but, nevertheless, the slanting portion, commonly designated as a French or Mansard roof, is a portion of the roof of the building, no matter whether one portion of the whole is covered with tin and another portion with slate, tiles, or any other material. The covering placed over an elevator, sky-lights on a roof, bulkheads over stairs leading to a roof, an inclosure over a water-tank placed on a roof, are all considered as comprised within the word roof; and the gutters, and even the leaders come within the meaning of an agreement to keep the roof of a building in repair, unless otherwise either specifically excluded or provided for in making a lease.

What is Said of Us.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

It is an old saying that "unexpected compliments are always most gratifying," and I thought that the inclosed, which I received this morning, might please you. When I wrote my letter concerning THE RECORD AND GUIDE, I did not think of your publishing it. F. B. THURBER.

March 28, 1889.

MY DEAR MR. THURBER:

I have just received from Mr. Nathan Hobart, of Minot, Hooper & Co., from Tampa, Florida, a clipping from THE RECORD AND GUIDE of the 16th inst., containing your letter on the scope and influence of trade journals. Mr. Hobart indorses the clipping, "Just my sentiments." I am glad to have my attention called to this expression of yours. I consider it an indication of a conspicuously level head. The "R. AND G.," by the way, is an exceptional class newspaper. Indeed I don't know of an exact parallel.

Yours truly, CHARLES T. ROOT.

Real Estate Department.

Business has been fairly active at the Exchange this week and the most important sales held have consisted principally of vacant property. The Bloomingdale sale on Thursday was the leading offering of the week and the result was extremely satisfactory to the sellers. A good sign was the infusion of so much blood in the market which the purchase of lots by buyers, many of them new on 'Change, indicates. In the way of private sales business is not active, although much preparatory work is being done by the brokers.

The transfers this week are phenomenally large, both in number and amount. They total $12,163,350, against $5,718,044 in the corresponding week last year. The amount of money loaned on bond and mortgage is $6,314,250, as compared with $2,906,178, and the number of buildings, while less, will cost, by estimate, $2,117,800, as against $870,125 last year.

Although the sales bulletined for Monday were few in number, two theatres were embraced in the list, and the sales of both went over until future dates.

Tuesday was a busy day. Sales were held by eight auctioneers, and several had long lists to dispose of. The most important sales were the Bradish and Brown estates, both consisting of vacant lots. The former embraced forty-nine lots and gores along 1st avenue, 108th, 109th and 110th streets, and a total of $112,130 was realized by the sale. The Brown estate embraced eighteen lots on 12th avenue, 51st and 52d streets, and the westerly front on 12th avenue between the same streets, with bulkhead and water rights. It was announced that the first part, eighteen lots, were sold at private sale for $108,000, and the westerly front on 12th avenue, with water rights, etc., was then sold under the hammer to Hugh N. Camp for $50,000. Among the dwellings offered on the same day was No. 465 Lexington avenue, near 45th street, 40.5x100. Only a couple of offers were made and the house was bid in at $46,000. It is said the dwelling cost $75,000 to build.

The offerings on Wednesday were fairly numerous and the attendance was large. None of the properties sold, however, were of a costly character, and nothing occurred worthy of special mention.

The great attraction on Thursday was the sale of ninety-eight lots, forming a part of the Bloomingdale Asylum tract, and a large crowd faced Auctioneer Meyer when he began the sale shortly after 12 o'clock. A total of $500,400 was realized for the ninety-eight lots. The Boulevard front, between 113th and 114th streets, brought a total of $57,600, and the front between 112th and 113th streets $57,800. For the 10th avenue front only $52,000 was realized, which is considesed low. The 113th street lots brought from $4,450 to $5,000 each for full lots; the lots on 114th street brought from $4,350 to $4,575 each, and the 112th street lots were sold for about the same figure. An encouraging feature of the sale was the purchase of most of the lots by buyers new to the market, which is always a good sign. The sale was satisfactory to the officers of the New York Hospital, who declared the lots brought good prices. Judge Dugro figured as a buyer, securing the corner of 10th avenue and 114th street at $8,600. When the Boulevard lots were being sold the auctioneer announced "these lots are on the widest and handsomest avenue in the city," and, pausing a moment added, also the "most neglected." The lots were sold subject to restrictions, only dwelling houses to be erected on the street lots and flats and stores on the avenue.

The sales yesterday were all foreclosures, and most of the property sold was secured by parties in interest.

On Monday, April 8th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell, by order of the Supreme Court in partition, the lot and building at No. 173 West street, near Warren street; the brown stone front house at No. 254 West 52d street, and the valuable tenements and stores at Nos. 501 to 505 2d avenue, on the northwest corner of 28th street. The property is near and on the line of the 129th, 133d and 138th street "L" stations, and the Grand Union, North Haven and New Haven branch depots, not to speak of several horse-car lines. The mammoth Rockaway Beach Hotel, after having been erected at immense expense, and standing unrivalled for so many years as the wonder of the Atlantic coast, is to be put up at auction at the Real Estate Exchange in this city and sold to the highest bidder on the 15th day of April. Richard V. Harnett & Co. will conduct the sale, which will attract large interest, as the immense quantities of materials used in the construction of the hotel were of a very high quality, and, owing to the excellent care which has been taken of them, remain practically uninjured. We learn from Mr. Austin Corbin that the sale will be absolute, and that the highest bidder will secure the property, as it is intended to lay out the site at once in plots for cottages. All the interior fixtures, hardware, plumbers' supplies, bed and table linen and furnishings will be auctioned off at the hotel itself by T. F. Archer on Thursday, April 11th, four days before the sale of the hotel itself. Full particulars will be found in our advertising columns.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—The easier tone noted on Common Hards at the date of our last has continued during the greater portion of the intervening time, but of late indications commence to assume a more favorable aspect. During the early portion of the present week the receipts were heavy, heavier, in fact, than at any period since the river opened, and without much of a compensatory demand, consumers being in a positioy where no absolute haste was necessary and naturalln using that as a feature to depress the tone as much as possible. A measure of success attended the effort and on some grades receivers were occasionally induced to modify their views fractionally, but on really desirable cargoes there was not much, if any, giving way, and no special effort made to realize. Indeed, as a rule the liberal supply was pretty well taken care of and within a day or two the situation has brightened somewhat, buyers proving more plenty and bidding with greater promptness, and the accumulation commencing to diminish. Indeed, we hear a renewal of slightly bullish talk again, with predictions of higher rates before the month goes out. It is argued that as a matter of fact work is really a great deal more forward than usual, but for a week or two has been in a position where brick could not be used to advantage, and that now, with a point of more general consumptive necessity reached, anything like good weather will insure a good and probably liberal call. If such view of the situation is realized an additional support will be found in the matter of supplies as the free shipments made since the opening of navigation have materially exhausted the stock at primary points and in many cases entirely cleaned out manufacturers, so that until new product is ready there may be quite a scarcity. How far an increase of cost may be carried without checking demand can only be determined by test, but from the present standpoint the outlook is apparently fairly promising. Pales have also been dull during a greater portion of the week and without improvement in value, but indications of increasing interest among buyers is noticeable, as it is thought this grade will make the same relative improvement as Hards. Fronts are considered firm in tone.

LATH.—With supplies left over and the few additional arrivals, there has again been about a sufficient quantity of stock to go around, and most of the business appears to have taken place at former rates. No receiver, however, has complained of any great surplus nor has there been haste to realize, and toward the close a stiffening tone developed that brings the line of valuation fully up to or slightly in excess of last week, especially on first-class stock, of which we have sales reported at $2.25 per M, and $2.10 is now probably inside on round wood stock. So far as can be discovered there is at present very little stock afloat for this port.

LIME.—Everythidg seems to move along in very much the usual form on this market. Cargoes arrive from the coast, and some of the State product is offered, but all supplies find reasonably prompt custom and command former figures without trouble. Work at the Eastern kilns is somewhat fuller, but understood to be carefully gauged to the wants of the market, and it is predicted that there will be no surplus to come upon sale.

LUMBER.—Again may be heard some measure of complaint about the demand for consumption, and now and then a dealer waxes quite indignant over suggestions of general good business, an expression of feeling quite contrary to what might be expected and rather in contrast with reports from same sources a short time ago. Indeed, it looks a little suspicious, and wholesale operators say it is only for effect in preparation for an increased call upon first hand offerings, as necessity for handling the latter daily becomes more urgent in a great many cases, and especially as regards the coarser grades of lumber of standard quality. There is, however, no doubt on the part of a great many dealers an idea that while general consumption will realize calculations upon an increase it has been over-estimated as a positively stimulating influence, and that wherever holding-off can be practiced it is just as well to adhere to it for such effect as it may have on sellers who seem to be turning up in increasing numbers.

Eastern Spruce, it is claimed again, can have no permanent set-back. Bunchy arrivals may lead to concessions occasionally, but receivers calculate upon a demand fully equal to the supply until the new season at least is fully under way and good chances for trade all summer. Some pretty extensive figures have been quoted on apparently very ordinary cargoes within the past few weeks, yet they were hardly a basis for quotations as the schedules happened to be peculiarly suited to the wants of the buyer, and a sort of premium rate was not objected to under the circumstances. Accounts from "down East" continue strong and conservative operators here assure us there is probably considerable truth in the claim for a light run of logs this season. Northern Spruce, it is said, will also be scarce and held higher.

As predicted the heavy arrival of stock noted last week proved to be only a temporary depressing factor, and already on the influence of the gradually disappearing supply prices are again hardening. That, in conjunction with reported light amounts afloat and growing evidence of at least a detention in the new cut, inspires the sanguine sellers with more or less pronounced buoyant sentiments, and Spruce is well talked up at least.

Piling is commencing to be more talked of, and, as a rule, in a favorable manner. Holders of the accumulation here retain the same measure of confidence that has induced them to carry stock through the winter, and since arrivals commenced there has been a noticeable inclination to quietly lay away anything that was not promptly salable at full former rates and from which there has been no quotable shading. The crop, it is said, is now certain to be short.

Hemlock remains firm, and from the selling side of the market there is no complaint in view of pretty full deliveries already made at quite a little advance over the figures ruling one year ago, and a general sort of belief that the advantage can be retained without difficulty. Not only here but in neighboring cities do dealers indicate an anxiety to get an assortment, and some of them discover that they will have to mark up yard prices on next sales in order to balance increased cost. Pennsylvania stocks are fair, but well under control, and the State product is said to be rather short, with some indications that the consumptive demand will intercept a great deal of it before it can reach this market.

White Pine is subject to a greater variety of opinions than almost any other grade of lumber, but after sifting and sorting they do not reveal anything really new. The export assortments are looked upon as excellent property, and also box boards, while it is calculated that dealers who withhold orders now must eventually become convinced that they have gained nothing but experience, and will then come forward to invest in a more liberal manner. A great many dealers, however, say they will have to be pretty thoroughly convinced that they are in error before engaging supplies beyond actual wants. Values generally remain about the same as for some time past.

Yellow Pine, so far as can be judged from the non-committal form of reports made, retains a firm market and good demand. The export trade has credit for taking a great deal of stuff on f. o. b orders; there is said to more doing on Eastern account, and a pretty good call locally on specials for delivery some time later on. All negotiation is supposed to be conducted and full plane of valuation quite equal to anything for some time ruling, and the two organizations representing manufacturers at the South and dealers here so far as surface appearances go, continue in harmony.

Carolina Pine secures good attention for both rough and dressed, and indeed the orders are said to be increasing somewhat, especially from consuming points outside this city. The condition of business, with better control of the production, both tend to hold the tone of the market, and steady quotations are evidently ill advised.

Hardwoods remain much the same as previously noted. Poplar is in good favor and firm, but beyond that there seems to be a great deal of uncertainty in the situation, with the dissatisfaction about all on the seller's side. A great many dealers have not wanted so much of a variety this spring as calculated upon, nor have they required quantity in any one particular grade, and salesmen from the interior who have been drumming the market are disappointed. There has been too many sellers in fact, especially of small parcels, and it looks as though reduced pressure would be beneficial to the market. Exporters continue as fair consumers.

Shingles are somewhat irregular in tone, but there is a tendency toward better business on home account. Actual sales have increased slightly, and the inquiries at hand lead to an inference that buyers will send in larger orders, while from exporters occasional calls, if satisfactory, are calculated upon.

The exports of lumber, exclusive of hardwoods from the port of New York during the month of March, were as follows:

	1889. Feet.	1888. Feet.
To West Indies	3,053,000	2,314,000

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

If prices for lumber are forced down a little this year on account of overstock, chiefly at initial points, it will be a source of satisfaction to many mill men to know that this season's crop of logs has been put in for about 75 per cent. of the cost last year, owing to favorable skidding weather, and less expense in hauling what logs have been secured. The reduction has not been as much in all cases, but it has averaged as well through many districts. Good drives will next be desired, after which the lumbermen of the Northwest will be well fixed, having logs enough to turn out more lumber this year, perhaps, than will be best for the health of the market.

Cargoes begin to move on the great lakes. A barge line has started between the Huron shore and Buffalo. An attempt has been made at Buffalo to prevent the movement of vessels until April 15, but it is thought that it will be unavailing. Rates from Bay City to Buffalo and Tonawanda are likely to start at $1.75 a thousand—the same as last year. From Muskegon to Chicago they will begin on a basis of $1.25. It is predicted that tonnage will be plenty and rates correspondingly moderate.

The mills are starting at Muskegon, Manistee and in the Saginaw Valley and at Eau Claire on the Chippewa. The logging streams are low, the snow is nearly gone on the headwaters and driving will be late unless powerful rains soon come. In the majority of streams there are old logs enough left over to run the mills for several weeks. Many are counting on a lack of logs to strengthen the early market. As yet that is a flimsy cause to rely on for anything but buncombe. Yet, a prolongation of dry weather would seriously hinder the drives, and render the manufacturers less anxious to start the mills than they would be if the logs had come down with an early rush.

The conditions peculiar to the white pine supply and demand always have an influence on the Southern lumber trade. Yellow pine in the West is moving under a moderate demand and at weak prices. In this city prices are demoralized, under a severe competition between long leaf and Arkansas product. Since operators here also deal in outside markets, the war of prices will be carried into Africa, so to speak, and will affect all the territory reached by Chicago trade. On the Eastern seaboard Southern pine is doing relatively better than in the West and Southwest.

Poplar is doing better than any other of the leading woods. It is scarce at the mills, and prices are firm, and relatively higher than last year.

Oak is leading in the hardwood trade East and West. There is a good demand for thick asb, the supply being light, and prices firm. The other hard woods are selling in fair volume.

The Timberman as follows:

The lumber camps in Michigan are being deserted as fast as possible, owing to the warm weather and lack of snow for hauling purposes, and the woodsmen are hieing themselves away from the scene of their winter's labor, to their usual haunts in the cities and villages, where too many of them are wont to dispose of their hard earned shekels in a prodigal or profligate manner. This sudden desertion of the pineries has left many firms with a considerable amount of logs on skidways, where they will remain until next season. Several firms have thus been compelled to abandon from 1,000,000 to 5,000,000 feet, exposed to the danger of forest fires, etc., besides being necessitated to lose the use of the capital involved in cutting and skidding their timber. It is a seasonable inference, therefore, that this early and enforced abandonment of the lumber camps will make a very material reduction in the output of logs for the Michigan mills as compared with previous estimates, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts made to meet former anticipations by doubling the force of men and teams. It may be set down as a fact that the Timberman's predictions of a considerable shortage in the log crop of Michigan, and especially in the Saginaw Valley, will be sustained when reliable figures are presented.

As the days and weeks wear on the prospects for log driving becomes less and less promising, and the advantages of railroad logging more and more apparent. Hope is getting to be no longer the anchor to the soul of the average logging operator, who views with distrust, bordering on alarm, the prospect of a "hung up" drive. It requires a vast amount of faith to believe that anything bordering on a successful log drive will result in Wisconsin and Michigan this year; and unless unheard of and unexampled copious downpourings of rain shall result this spring, the number of logs available for the sawing season of 1889 will be very much below the estimates hitherto published. The logs left on the skids by the sudden break-up caused by the disappearance of snow in the woods added to those destined to be hung up by the dearth of water in the streams warrants this belief in a short supply of lumber.

From the Chippewa comes the same report. Heavy and prolonged rains are very much needed, but all in cations of a change for the better hold off, and it is utterly useless to predict any. Though the river has not risen crews are being sent up with supplies and boats and will make ready for larger crews. What little water there is in the Chippewa is being held back in the upper dams in the expectation that a few floods may start the main drive. Unless it rains this is the only way in which the work can be accomplished, as lumbermen who have just come from the head-waters report that there is no snow on any of the small streams. It will make the drive expensive and slow, but will be better than having the mills idle. The Chippewa Lumber and Boom Company will start up next Monday and run as long as the old logs hold out. Other mills along the river will follow suit, and hope and pray that the weather will change before their supplies give out. With a successful drive this summer would be an exceedingly prosperous one.

In the Menominee Valley the snow has almost disappeared, the water having run off and been lost before the ice in the logging streams broke up, making the boom companies and individual drivers solely dependent upon the elements for the necessary power to send their log product to the mills.

At the lake markets the wholesalers in pine do not seem inclined to bear the market for the influence such movement will have on the price to be put on the new crop, but are holding to their lumber in a way which indicates that they deem it valuable at present prices. As these dealers have a good opportunity to judge of the volume of supply, that inclination to hold values shows that they think the log crop short. The mills on both the east and west shore are beginning to slice up logs, and the "between hay and grass" season is at hand before March is over, a condition of affairs not happening in recent years.

The big raft that is to float from Puget Sound down to San Francisco will be made of longer logs than were ever put into a raft on Atlantic waters. It will have but 5,000 logs, as against 25,000 in the big Joggins raft of last year, but none will be less than 100 feet long, and the great size of the sticks, it is thought, will bring the amount of lumber up to the amount of the big Eastern raft.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman says:

Lumbermen all over the West are beginning to borrow trouble about whether there will be enough water to successfully drive the logs which have been banked during the winter. The snow has disappeared and the frost is out of the ground, so that when the rains come, as they surely will, the ground is likely to absorb a generous share of the water which may fall. The snow never plays a very important part in fixing the volume of water in the streams, as every lumberman knows, but the ideal conditions are usually secured when the rains come before the frost is out of the ground, so that the water readily finds its way into the streams, But if, as is claimed, high and low water periods go and come in cycles, and the season of 1888 was the beginning of a high water cycle, then the lumbermen can confidently count on a good driving stage before the middle of the summer. It's early yet to borrow trouble on the score of no water.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Rio Janeiro News as follows:

Pitch Pine—Receipts have been 866,432 feet, per Hermann Lehmkuhl, from Pensacola, which come to dealers, and about 820,000 feet from Brunswick, per Falka and M. P. Smith Petersen. The market is about supplied for the present, and we may quote at about 36$000@37$000 per dozen. White Pine.—Receipts are 95,400 feet, per E. S. Powell, from New York, sold on p. t., and 27,729 feet, per Mississippi, not yet reported sold. New York boards are quoted at 110@115 rs. per foot, and the market steady. Spruce Pine—Nothing new to report. Swedish Pine—Receipts nil. The market is very firm, with red deals quoted at 35$000@36$000 and white at 33$000@34$000 per dozen.

ENGLAND.

The London Timber Trades Journal as follows:

American Black Walnut.—A good steady trade continues to be done in this. Logs and better class lumber have been selling pretty freely, but inferior stocks of cut stuff are not much inquired for.

American Whitewood.—This market is affected by more favorable symptoms. Yard-keepers report an increasing trade, and seem inclined to buy more freely. For some time past, owing to the scarcity of birch, a greatly increased trade for square cutting has been done in whitewood, though, of course, this cannot be expected to continue much longer.

American Satin Walnut.—Though there is undoubtedly some trade doing in this, the condition of the market is quiet, inquiries being scanty. Yard-keepers seem to be content with small stocks, and speculation upon any large scale is rarely entertained.

Sequoia.—We are now in a position to report much improvement in this of late, though we hear from time to time of small sales being made, but for cabinet making purposes we very much doubt if it will ever command much attention. There have been no fresh arrivals, and we should consider the stock on hand to be amply sufficient for all purposes for some time yet.

NAILS.—The market is fairly active, with the distribution tending to increase if anything as new outlets commence to develop. The supply, however, equals the demand on the offering from regular sources, and occasionally an outside lot turns up that was not be calculated upon. We quote at $1.80@1.85 for car lots, and $1.90@2.00 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Business in general form remains about as before, but in volume is increasing somewhat with the same spread in the variety of the selections. In fact, as a whole, it is a progressive market, and the tenor of pretty much all reports are cheerful and hopeful, though noticeably showing a measure of conservatism that prevents undue buoyancy and inflation of values. Importers, manufacturers and jobbers are all well supplied and meeting the calls made upon them without difficulty. Linseed Oil selling steadily on regular outlet and closes steady at 56@57c. for Western and 58@58½c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has been neglected, and under continued pressure of new supplies coming forward prices are lower at about 45½@46½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Demand still show fairly promising tone, and operators as a whole are inclined to speak with a reasonable degree of cheerfulness over the situation. There is no pressure to realize and rates are generally held steady. We quote Pitch $1.35@1.50 per bbl.: Tar at $2.10@2.20, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

VOL. XLIII. APRIL 13, 1889. No. 1,100

Secretary Windom's liberal purchases of national bonds settle the question that there is to be no extra session of Congress to vote large appropriations for improvements, so that the surplus in the treasury could be used productively to help the legitimate business of the country. Ex-President Cleveland's policy of making a present of the treasury surplus to the wealthy bondholders and corporations is to be continued, though the motive in each case is different. The retiring President wished to force Congress to reduce the tariff; the new President probably wants the next Congress to revise the tariff with a view to increasing the revenues, and hence he will not only do what he can to dispose of the present surplus and reduce the debt, but will favor some more pension legislation to further waste the funds of the nation.

The situation is anything but reassuring. When Congress does meet there will be no money for internal and harbor improvements, for rehabilitating our merchant marine, or beginning the gigantic work of defenses for our sea-coast cities. To raise new funds there will be a proposed tariff revision, which will still further unsettle the business of the country; but, while trade will suffer, Wall street may have occasional good times, for bond-buying by the government always starts speculation in the "street." We all know what happened when the government stopped purchasing its own debt obligations in July, 1887—securities of all kinds got a "black eye." The fall of that year saw a renewal of bond-buying and a consequent revival of speculation, although the railroads of the country were in a deplorable condition in the spring of 1888. Secretary Fairchild's circular of April of last year made a bull market. From July to October there was a steady advance in prices due to bond purchases, although the railroad wars in the West were bankrupting the wealthiest and the most powerful railroad corporations of the country, such as B. & Q., Atchison, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific. Secretary Windom's liberal purchases of bonds has revived speculation in Wall street.

The highly respectable banking firm which represents the Barings in this country have gained a deal of eclat lately by their endeavor to bring about a change in the Atchison Company. But is there not somebody to blame besides the directors of that great railroad corporation. In something over three years the capital stock and bonded debt was not only doubled but trebled. It found no difficulty in selling its stock, or marketing its bonds. The bulk of the latter were placed through this very banking concern, which has at last discovered that the railroad was managed in a most reckless manner. But ought not the Barings or their American representatives have known all this in dealing with the officers of the Atchison Company. Their means of information were very much better than that of the general investing public, to whom the banking house sold the bonds. It ought to have struck them that this sudden creation of an immense debt must have been perilous business for even the most solvent corporation, but it seems they were content to sell the bonds and pocket the commissions until the imprudence of the company became manifest to the operators in the stock market. After the steed was stolen they came to the front to lock the stable door. In other words, after the investing public got rid of their money, the bankers announced that they proposed to change the management of the Atchison Company and asked the stockholders to help them.

So far bankers have generally not dealt fairly with investors. All they have seemed to care for has been their monstrous commissions. The great investing public was a goose to be plucked. The leading banking houses of the world would cut a very sorry figure were any one to publish the loans they have floated on the market. It would be found that some of the most respectable houses have raised money for the most hazardous and speculative enterprises which were almost certain to come to grief. There is, however, scarcely any danger of exposure. These bankers are, or may be, generous advertisers, and our newspaper press never quarrels with the supply of bread and butter. The journals of to-day would no more open fire on the bankers than they would on the patent medicine vendors, and for the same reason. Then, again, a newspaper that would be honest in the matter might be discredited by a cry of blackmail, which is easily raised and hard to disprove.

Still we think this reckless lending of money to corporations on its issue of bonds has received a check. It is evident that the great concerns, like Drexel, Morgan & Co., the Barings, etc., are supposed to give some guarantee to investors that the money will be safely placed. People who buy bonds hereafter from great houses will have a better show for their money than they have had in the past. It is very evident that the Western situation is in much better shape than it would have been had there not been some co-operation among the bankers to secure better management for the future. It will be remembered that at the original meeting of the railroad presidents at Mr. Morgan's house, in this city, last December, Mr. Roberts, of the Pennsylvania Central, very frankly told Mr. Morgan that the bankers were greatly to blame for placing loans which practically encouraged reckless overbuilding. This the great banker did not deny, and he promised that in the future more care would be exercised in this matter.

There are signs that the public mind is assuming a saner attitude towards the Manhattan Company in relation to the rapid transit problem. We publish elsewhere in this issue a third series of interviews with prominent citizens as to the advisability of granting the elevated roads permission to construct a third track for express trains and a "loop" in the Battery Park. These interviews in THE RECORD AND GUIDE have clearly demonstrated that the press of the city does not truthfully represent public sentiment by its attitude of uncompromising hostility to the Manhattan Company. Prejudice is no guide to the solution of the problem which confronts the city, and people are beginning to see that the urgent demands of the hour can best be met, indeed can be met only, by improving the system already in existence. The public are also learning that the rapid transit necessities of the island, for the present and the future, cannot be provided for by any one scheme. There is room not only for whatever Mayor Grant's bill may bring forth, but for the Arcade road and the cable system. This saner view of the matter is even being taken in Albany. Mayor Grant's measure apparently will be passed without any hampering amendments. Mr. Hamilton, who is the advocate of the cable system, said in a speech on Wednesday: "I am generally opposed to our giving up any portion of our parks; but in this case I think a portion of the Battery Park might be given to the elevated road for its use, without material harm to the city's interests;" and Mr. Crosby, who introduced Mayor Grant's bill, promised to support a measure granting the Manhattan Company the facilities they need. These are indications that at last common sense is to play some part in the rapid transit question.

The Manhattan Company does not seem to know how to deal with the press. It made a curious and characteristic blunder last week. Noticing that the publication of the Battery Park loop map in THE RECORD AND GUIDE made a favorable impression on the public, its officers hired some scribe further to elaborate the loop project with diagrams, description and the like. As the Sun newspaper had not shown the rank prejudice against the Manhattan Company that the other papers did, the article was gotten up as if written by a reporter of the Sun. The Manhattan officials having the matter in charge supposed there would be no difficulty in publishing it in the Sun as news matter, but that journal makes it a rule—as indeed do all first-class newspapers—to publish no paid-for matter without explaining to its readers that it is an advertisement. The article was accepted, but to the mortification of the Manhattan people the letters "Avt." at its close told the story of its origin and purpose. The Times publishes such articles for pay without notifying its readers. It will abuse Jay Gould without stint; but has frequently published interviews with him, for which he paid cash down.

But the interviews we have been publishing for the past three weeks show that our press does not represent in this case the mass of our fellow citizens. We have given the unbiased opinions of representative bank presidents, real estate owners and dealers, builders, architects and merchants in all departments of trade. Among them we have found no echo of the active dislike to the Manhattan Company shown by the Times, Herald, World, Evening Post and other daily and weekly publications. THE RECORD AND GUIDE can safely claim to be the first and only journal to point out the fact that if we are to have any immediate relief in the way of rapid transit the Manhattan Elevated is the only railroad that can give it to us. We have been pointing out for the past two years that an additional track on the 3d and 9th avenue roads would save at least twenty minutes time between both ends of the island, and enable the company to carry one-third more passengers. We have also urged the widening of Elm street to accommodate another elevated road, as well as the construction of another branch on the Grand Boulevard, but up to the present our efforts have not been seconded by any daily. It is true we have never liked Jay Gould, Russell Sage or Cyrus W. Field, and have not scrupled to say so in the strongest terms we could use, but we have always believed in the Manhattan Company, which we regard as our only hope to give us rapid transit for twenty years to come. It would be well if other journals made the same discrimination.

Socialistic activity in England, the growth of which we have often spoken of, has taken hold of the Thames ferries. After making all the bridges free, which was accomplished in 1879 and 1880, the establishment of free ferries recently commenced by the London County Council was only a natural step. Woolwich, where the Government Arsenal is situated, is the seat of a large population of the poorer class. It lies on the Thames, below the bridges, and a free ferry has just been opened there by Lord Rosebery, the Chairman of the London County Council. The boats will carry 1,000 passengers and vehicles besides, and cost $70,000 a piece, while the landing stages cost $160,000. Here, in this country, the socialistic spirit is increasing. The tendency of the times is more and more to intrust to the governing authorities the performance of functions now discharged by private individuals and corporations. By-and-by when this city owns and operates its street railroads, gas works, electric light plant, etc., the ferries on both rivers may be under the management of the municipality. The Brooklyn Bridge is a municipal enterprise, and from it to the ownership of the ferries is only a short step.

Limitations of State and Municipal Debts and Tax Rate.

The constitutions of all but six of our States, excluding those recently admitted, contain limitations upon the amount of debt which may be contracted by the State government, or provisions expressly prohibiting the State from entering those lines of enterprise which require large amounts of capital. Of the thirty-two States which impose these restrictions, twenty-three limit the amount of temporary debt which may be contracted to specific sums, and nine limit the borrowing power in various other ways, as, for instance, to casual deficits, to a certain percentage of the assessed valuation of taxable property, etc. It is usual to require that laws authorizing loans above a specified amount be submitted to the people for their sanction. Besides these limitations on the amount of loans which may be contracted, there were found in the constitutions of five States provisions which directly prohibit the legislative bodies from creating or contracting any debt for the purpose of carrying on works of internal improvement. Still further, participation in this line of enterprise is limited in twenty-eight States by constitutional provisions, which prohibit the legislatures from loaning credit or money to individual associations and corporations, municipal or otherwise.

A review of the various State constitutions discloses the fact that municipal corporations are subject to quite as severe limitations in the employment of their credit as are the States. Effectual limitations are placed upon the municipalities by various State constitutions in several ways; first, the debt which may be incurred is limited, either to a specified sum or to a certain percentage of assessed property. Twelve States have incorporated this provision in their constitutions. New York restricts local credit to 10 per cent.—the highest limit placed by any of the States. Indiana limits to only 2 per cent., except on petition of the property-owners. Again, the credit of the municipal corporation is effectually restricted by constitutional restrictions upon the former to tax for the support of debts.

These restrictions followed the abuses of public credit in the two or three decades following 1830, before which time they did not exist. Improvements were hastily projected, and debts were rolled up which it was in some cases difficult to pay. Public bodies, like private parties, made mistakes. Instead, however, of trying to learn how to use a beneficent power wisely we characteristically abolished the power altogether, and thus placed ourselves at the mercy of private corporations which were thus limited in their industrial freedom. The experience of Michigan, which was admitted into the Union during the time excitement over works of public improvement was at its height, furnishes a good example of the manner in which these constitutional amendments were foisted upon us. The first Legislature met in 1837 and projected over one thousand miles of highway, or one mile to every one hundred and fifty persons in the State at that time. A brief commentary upon this extravagance, showing the feelings of the taxpayer upon whom fell the burden of this debt, is found in the present constitution of Michigan, which asserts that the State shall not in any way be interested in internal improvements. To-day the State of Michigan is subject in this curtailment of its industrial power to constitutional provisions imposed during a reactionary period, when the people could be appeased only by the extreme and radical measures. It is difficult at the present time to see anything worthy of preservation in the provisions of a constitution which takes away the right of the people to control its own affairs. What is there commendable, for instance, in the provisions of the constitutions of Michigan, Maryland, Wisconsin and other States, which prohibit the legislatures from participating in works of internal improvement. The State of Maryland has invested in the Chesapeake & Ohio Consols over $25,000,000; yet it is prohibited by constitutional provisions from using any money for the support of improvement of this canal, which clearly contributes in some measure to the prosperity of every citizen in the State. Not one cent can be spent to save this vast property, which, it is feared, the State must lose. No one pretends to doubt that it was for the interest of New York, that the amendment of 1882, authorizing appropriations for canals in the State, was passed. Fifty thousand dollars, the limit of temporary indebtedness in Maryland, Michigan and other States, may have been considered a high figure at one time; but it would be scarcely thought so now, accustomed as we are to think in the millions.

The practice generally adopted by our States of limiting by constitutional provision the credit of municipal corporations to a certain percentage of assessed valuation approaches more nearly a rational system of regulation. But even in securing these amendments our solicitous predecessors were very careful to place the percentage so low that very little freedom could be exercised by our cities in the employment of their credit. At present a movement is on foot in St. Louis to introduce municipal gas and electric lighting works; but the city finds itself greatly embarrassed by the constitutional provisions of Missouri, which limits the power of the municipality to borrow money. The successful operation of gas works by the City of Philadelphia has led many influential citizens of that place, including members of the city council, to favor also the municipal ownership of electric lights; but they, too, find themselves hampered by the constitutional restriction of the State. These are only examples of many cities throughout the country which are thus hindered in the undertaking of works which it is clearly for their interest to perform. It is of little importance to a city that it can administer certain of its own municipal works more economically or advantageously than can private corporations so long as the financial ability to purchase and control these works is withheld by the State. When the directors of private companies which supply necessities to a city know that the municipal government is so hampered by constitutional restrictions that it is impossible for it to establish works of its own or buy out their plant at an appraised valuation—as some of our cities have the legal right to do—a deaf ear is turned to the appeals of the public and to the warnings of municipal authorities. The people of the State or municipality can never compete successfully with private corporations until they are given powers adequate to the performance of the duties assigned them.

It is not meant that all financial and industrial restrictions upon legislative action now in State constitutions work injury to the community; on the contrary, much can be said in favor of many of these provisions. These constitutional provisions which guard carefully the power to create debt in either the State or municipality meet with unqualified approval as well as do general restrictions placed upon the power to tax and loan credits. The special provisions regarding the City of Baltimore is even worthy of imitation. Under the State constitution that city may not incur debt or loan its credit in aid of any individual, corporation, etc., or in the construction of work of internal improvement unless such debt or credit is authorized by an act of the General Assembly and by an ordinance of the city submitted to the legal voters and approved by a majority of the votes cast. What is objected to are those specific limitations found in State constitutions which properly belong to statutes.

These two extracts from the Tribune's account of the proceedings on the last day of the trial of the boy Krulisch for murder, deserve consideration from the public. No. 1:

> Assistant District-Attorney Jerome in addressing the jury spoke in a broken voice and several times shed tears. Mr. Jerome said that he had lain awake at night and had gone over the evidence repeatedly in the hope that he could reconcile the facts with the boy's innocence. He urged the jury to perform their duty no matter how painful it might be.

Now let us compare the weeping attorney pleading for the conviction of the boy with extract No. 2:

> Assistant District-Attorney Jerome (after the verdict of not guilty) thanked the jury even more heartily than did the prisoner's own counsel, saying that he felt that there was a reasonable doubt of the boy's guilt.

The ethics of the practice of law may permit a lawyer to seek with "broken voice," "tears" and other forensic artifices the life of an indicted person, while he believes his guilt a matter of serious doubt, but such proceedings are immoral in the highest degree and deserves the severest condemnation. The responsibility upon a man in Mr. Jerome's position was too awful to permit of the utterance of a single word not begotten of the deepest conviction. As the public prosecutor it was his duty topresent evidence, not to "manufacture" a case or work upon the feelings of the jury while inwardly he had doubts about the boy's guilt. These terrible departures from honesty, uprightness and stern morality are now so common in legal practice that it may be asked seriously whether justice would not be furthered by prohibiting lawyers addressing the jury, or at least by restricting the scope of their remarks. The administration of justice is too important a matter in human affairs to be degraded for the sake of a fee or the personal renown of the legal hireling of perhaps a criminal.

The action of the detectives in connection with this case also deserves notice. In spite of the ante-mortem statement of the murdered man, which clearly exculpated the boy, and which by the way is curiously missing from the police files where it was placed, they strove to criminate Krulisch and "work up" something like a case against him, neglecting all other clues. Detective work based upon the first superficial aspect of a case is merely bungling, which may at times endanger innocent people.

Our Prophetic Department.

EPICURE—Through the favor of a friend, something over two weeks ago, I ate some fresh "asparagus" from Bermuda. Now, the canned Oyster Bay asparagus is very good indeed, provided you get it at a first-class house; but, of course, this Bermuda fresh asparagus is ever so much better. In view of the superior quality and early ripening of the vegetables and fruit growing in the Bermudas, I was wondering if it would not pay to make use of other islands in the same part of the Southern Atlantic. The profits on these early products must be very great, as the demands are simply unlimited.

SIR ORACLE—I apprehend that the actual producers of these early vegetables and fruit do not make much more than the ordinary farmers. It is, I fancy, the middlemen and the steamship companies which pocket the bulk of the profits. Still, I do not speak from knowledge, and I would like to see some statement as to the income of some of the growers of asparagus, tomatoes, potatoes, strawberries and other vegetables and fruits which are so choice and which ripen so early. But it is quite wild to talk about building up islands to grow vegetables in mid-ocean. I have understood that the soil is exceedingly thin there and that you will find potatoes and the like apparently growing upon the rocks. There is something about the composition of the soil which gives a better result in the way of products than could be effected on the mainland.

EPIC.—Naturally, the shore line of the mainland is sand, gravel and stunted vegetation—hence the market gardener has to pursue his vocation some distance inland; then, as you say, there seems to be some superiority in the composition of the soil of the Bermudas. But wonderful changes have occurred in the matter of market gardening in the last thirty years. I recall the time when New York depended entirely for its early vegetables and fruit on New Jersey and Long Island. But the swift steamship lines along our sea-coasts have changed all that. We now can have fresh fruit and vegetables for from six to eight months in the year. By means of cans we can have spring or summer fruits all the year round. It shows what power man has in overcoming nature. He can command the very seasons.

SIR ORACLE—This ability to bring food from a distance in a short time is what makes New York the finest market in the world. We have the greatest variety of food of any great city known to us. On the same day we can have turtle from the West Indies, antelope caught on the Western plains, and bear steak from the Polar regions.

EPIC.—But do you think it wholesome to eat food out of season?

SIR O.—I think the great variety of food now offered is an advantage to the health of the coummunity. Scurvy and kindred diseases were once very common, as people were forced to live—both on land and sea—on salted flesh and fish. There is a great deal of nonsense talked about going back to nature. Man is not a natural animal. He wears clothes, lives under cover, and has an unlimited capacity for all kinds of cooked food. I believe the time is coming when a large part of the earth's surface will be covered so as to add to the heat of winter and diminish the temperature of the summer. In other words, the temperature of the earth will be unified just as we have been unifying the food of mankind. Instead of having asparagus for only one month in the year, we can now have them from January to January, and so with other foods. The cry of the future will be the improvement of man and of his environment. The time is not far distant when it will be as agreeable, as far as temperature is concerned, to live in frigid or torrid zones as it now is to pass your days in the temperate regions. Man knows the value of artificial heat. He is beginning to understand that artificial frigeration is a human possibility. Steam which permits of swift communication utilizes the food of one region for distant countries, and puts a stop forever to famines. Sometime we will navigate the air, and that will involve mighty changes in men's conditions.

EPIC.—We are wandering from our text, which was on the subject of food. I suppose production will be so increased as to do away with the fear of the want of food in any nation or class. Will the time ever come when, with the aid of chemistry, man will extract food direct from the inorganic world about us?

SIR O.—Well, that is beyond me. It is hardly safe to in any way limit science while it is being applied to the arts, or to man's comfort in this world; but I have no doubt that new foods will be discovered much more nutricious and toothsome to the palate than those we now live upon.

EPIC.—Well! Delmonico is good enough for me. Give me canvas-back duck, stewed terrapin, sweetbread, and my favorite brand of champagne, and I am willing to forego the food of the future which chemistry may give us.

The Manhattan Road's Plea.

MORE TALKS WITH WELL-KNOWN CITIZENS.

The interviews with prominent men, as well as with those in humbler walks of life, which appeared in the last two issues of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, have been very extensively read. The illustration published two weeks ago in this paper, showing the "loop" asked for at the Battery by the Manhattan Road to increase its facilities, has evidently attracted considerable attention outside of the regular readers of THE RECORD AND GUIDE; for the World published a similar illustration on Saturday last, and the Sun gave it on Monday. The latter paper, however, issued it as a paid advertisement, devoting no less than three columns of its best space to a favorable explanation of the diagram and an interview with Vice-President Gallaway, of the Manhattan Road. THE RECORD AND GUIDE, on the other hand, while publishing the map in the public interest, gave the views of prominent men promiscuously. No opinion was cast aside, whether in accord or discord with the stand taken by this paper in its editorial columns. The persons so far interviewed include such men as F. B. Thurber, John Claflin, Geo. S. Coe, E. S. Jaffray, R. A. Chesebrough, the presidents of the Real Estate, Produce, Consolidated and Cotton Exchanges, several bank presidents, real estate experts and others, including a number of workingmen and intelligent employés. Some spoke for and some against granting the facilities asked for by the Manhattan Road. To-day a few more of these opinions are given. They show how diverse are the views on this burning question.

President O. H. Schreiner, of the Seventh National Bank, said: "I am opposed to the elevated roads being granted any additional franchises. They should never have been allowed to use the rights they have without paying for them, and if they want any further terminal facilities they ought certainly to pay for them. I am not in favor of their getting any part of the parks."

Chas. F. Southmayd, the eminent lawyer, said: "I am entirely opposed to the Manhattan Road being granted any of the privileges they ask for."

Henry Clews refused to be seen. He sent out word with a clerk that "he hadn't considered the matter at all, and couldn't talk to you on it." The reporter was dumbfounded at such a confession from Mr. Clews. He had been led to think, from newspaper interviews with that gentleman, that there was no subject in creation which Henry Clews did not believe he knew something about, and to learn that Henry Clews had neglected to post himself on the all-absorbing question of rapid transit made the reporter feel sad at the deterioration of the once omniscient stock broker.

J. H. Parker, President of the Cotton Exchange, said: "I am opposed to giving away any of the city's franchises. If the concessions asked for by the elevated road company will benefit the public, and nobody will be too much damaged by it, the city might grant them; but they should be paid for it by a reduction in the fares, so that the poor people, who use the roads more than anyone else, would get something in return. I think an underground road is needed. The city is so situated, geographically, that such a road is a necessity."

E. C. Stedman, the "poet broker," declined to express his opinion. The reporter tried one of his suave wiles to get him to say something, one way or the other. Mr. Stedman was not to be caught, however, and as quick as a flash replied, "You can't interview me. I interview people myself. I am an old hand at it. How do you know I am not one of Jay Gould's confidential brokers? How do you know I am not one of his greatest enemies?" The reporter felt amused. He withdrew with a courteous bow.

Dwight H. Olmstead, the well-known lawyer, who was chairman of the Murray Hill meetings on rapid transit, said: "I am inclined to think that the elevated road should have the Battery loop they ask for, but they should pay for the use of it. It would make the road more valuable to the public, and I do not think that it would seriously inconvenience the people in the use of the park. I think the elevated roads are, in any event, only a temporary expedient, at least so far as reaching up town is concerned, and while there might be no objection to a third track, this would furnish no relief whatever to a large portion of the upper west side, for which better rapid transit is required. I think a four-track road along the Boulevard on the open cut plan, something similar to that approved at the Murray Hill meetings, would solve the rapid transit question above 59th street for the western portion of the city. Next to the Boulevard, 10th avenue, which indeed is the natural avenue for a rapid transit line, should be utilized. Unfortunately, the difficulty in the way is that there are water mains under the street and sewers under the sidewalks, and without these being removed the posts necessary to hold the elevated road superstructure could not be placed in the ground. This fact is not generally known, and I only found it out after inspecting the routes with the Manhattan Road officers, in my capacity as chairman of the Citizen's Committee appointed at the Murray Hill meetings. I am also in favor of an arcade road under Broadway, though I am opposed to a tunnel, such as the District Underground people contemplate, which I think a childish plan."

Several property-owners and lessees on the Battery front were seen. The former have more interest individually than any other citizens in the matter of the proposed "loop."

J Edgar Leaycraft, the real estate agent, said: "I am in favor of granting the privileges asked for by Mr. Gould. I think they would benefit every one of us. I am also in favor of Mayor Grant's plan being carried out in the meantime."

Richard Deeves, the well-known builder, said: "I want to see the Mayor appoint a few competent engineers to examine whether the extra facilities asked for by Jay Gould will in reality give us better rapid transit and improved accommodations. If they will, I am in favor of granting these facilities. I own considerable real estate on the west side up town, and I am interested in better rapid transit; but even if I didn't own property I should support any and every measure that would give us improved transit. I think Mayor Grant's plan a good one, and it is only because I feel that the elevated road is what we must depend on at present that I am willing to consider a further encroachment on Battery Park and the addition of third tracks."

The President of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co. courteously declined to express any opinion on the matter. The reporter found one or two other prominent bank officials in a similar mood. He put it down to a disinclination to say anything that would be opposed to Mr. Gould's propositions.

President Wilson, of the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange, said: "I am opposed to the city granting the use of Battery Park for the purposes of the elevated or any other road or roads. I cannot understand how or why authority was given to the elevated roads to use Battery Park. It is the only breathing spot for the people in the lower part of the city, and as such should have been kept free from all encroachments. What in my opinion was one of the most beautiful spots in New York City has been almost completely destroyed by the road over and through it. As regards the use of the streets of this city for railroads, I agree fully with Mayor Grant when he says that the city authorities should not grant such privileges without proper remuneration, which should be settled by competition to the highest bidder or for a percentage of the fare received from each passenger. The elevated roads should purchase at or near the Battery any property they may require for further terminal facilities. Is it not possible for them, indeed, to run their trains continuously in a circle at the Battery? They might do this by connecting the terminus of the Second and Third Avenue lines with the termini of the Sixth and Ninth Avenue lines at the South Ferry. Any engineer could lay out a plan to carry out this idea, which would avoid the necessity for further facilities and at the same time connect the east and west side lines."

Robert A. Chesebrough, who owns the entire front on State street, opposite the "L" road structure, and who is by far the largest property-owner on the line of the proposed loop, said: "I have no reason to be in favor of Mr. Jay Gould. I have been 'stuck' with a good deal of his Missouri, Kansas & Texas and Texas & Pacific stocks, and am as much prejudiced against him as most men are. But I will sign a petition in favor of the Manhattan Road being allowed to have the strip of land they ask for in Battery Park. I am the largest private owner on State street, and I think I am qualified to say whether the contemplated loop will damage my property. It will not. But whether it would or not, I take the ground that it will benefit the people of this city. At present the 6th avenue trains cannot get in till the 9th avenue trains back out, and frequent and annoying delays occur, which affect the entire system. The loop would obviate all this and enable trains to be run under an average headway of a minute, and even less, during the crowded hours. Our prejudice against Jay Gould should not lead us to act against our own interests. New York at this moment could not exist without the "L" roads. Take them away, and where would the value of up-town property be? They have increased the valuation of New York real estate by $300,000,000. Before they commenced to run, Harlem Commons, above 70th street, was a dump for the refuse of the city. If the elevated roads were in the hands of Brown Bros., or other respectable capitalists, there would be a hue and cry for granting all the facilities necessary for the convenience of the people. I wouldn't sell the strip contained in the loop. It would not be wise, for a few hundred thousand dollars, to give them a free right in the Battery Park. But I would lease the ground to them, making the lease terminable at any time after, say, ten years. The city, through such a measure as Mayor Grant's, would, by that time, very likely have some other means of rapid transit, and the loop could then be taken down at the city's pleasure. I would favor an arcade road. I would also be in favor of allowing a second story to be added to the "L" roads. Competent engineers could build it so that it would be perfectly safe. The upper story could be reached by elevators and used for express trains. A viaduct road running along the extreme east and west parts of the city would also be feasible."

Messrs. Brown & Seccomb, the prominent fruit merchants, were seen. They erected the handsome building on the northeast corner of State and Bridge streets, on leased ground. Mr. Seccomb said: "It would be a wicked shame and a disgrace to take away the only breathing place which the poor people who live down town can use in the summer." The reporter here displayed the diagram, showing Mr. Seccomb that the loop only takes in a corner of the park. "It makes little difference to me," he said, "I am opposed to taking any park ground away from the public." Mr. Brown said: "The officers of the road have watered the stock to three times its cost, and they ought to be able to purchase the terminal facilities they require. They can't run trains any closer than they do during the busy hours. I get on every morning at 6th avenue and 50th street, and I have seen a number of trains follow so close upon each other as to be almost dangerous. I am opposed to granting the loop on principle. No, it would not hurt our building."

August Struck, who owns the property on the southeast corner of State and Pearl streets, said: "After examining the map of the loop they want, I don't think it would hurt my property any, and I would not be opposed to its being granted to the elevated road. It would certainly enable the trains to be run quicker and avoid delay, owing to the necessity of the backing out of trains and the time lost in waiting for them to get out."

Mr. Weeks, of Weeks & Parr, flour merchants, lessees of No. 4 State street, said: "I am absolutely opposed, on general principles, to the elevated road being allowed to have a further slice of Battery Park. I think they have enough now. If I had the power I would take down the lines they now have in the park. Why do they not devise means to meet the public requirements with their present facilities?

A prominent official in the Barge Office said: "I am opposed to the proposed 'loop.' It would cut off a good deal of our light, as it runs right by our building. I think the elevated road could meet the crush by having every second train skip a station during the crowded hours."

The reporter carefully scanned the ground over which the loop would run. It would start in at the South and Hamilton ferries, run past the public foot path, and over the public roadway, in front of the Staten Island, Governor's Island and Bedloe's Island ferries, and along the curb in front of the Barge Office, then curving in eastwardly in almost a straight line back to the present tracks, at a point in a direct line between Front and Water streets, and thence paralleling the present tracks to Greenwich street to a point a few feet north of Battery place. The reporter walked through the park, and on a rough estimate counted somewhere between four hundred and five hundred people, nearly all of whom occupied seats on the scores of benches placed along the walks. A very large proportion of these seats were occupied by nurses, having in charge babes in carriages, evidently the children of residents in the extreme southern section of the island. The nurses were taking advantage of the balmy weather on Wednesday afternoon, the thermometer registering close on 70 degrees In front of the music-stand the reporter passed three workingmen, evidently of the very best class. He caught the words, "But they're going to take the whole park. It's a —— shame." The reporter didn't hesitate a moment. He turned back and had a talk with them. He showed them the map and pointed to the Barge Office, indicating that the loop stopped there and then curved in over the grass, which was fenced in and not used by any one. In a few minutes the men changed their tone completely. They had all understood that the road was going to encircle most of the park and run a loop along the sea wall. When they saw that only a corner was wanted they said that they didn't see any objection to that, and they certainly felt that it would save time and allow of trains running with less delays. Two of them said they had often noticed that the down-town trains were delayed till other trains backed out, and people often lost their boats owing to the time lost by this.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

The Committee on Legislation met on Tuesday, Constant A. Andrews in the chair. There was not as large an attendance present as usual, no business of importance having been announced.

Richard Deeves proposed the following resolution, which, after considerable discussion pro and con, was made a special order of the day for next Tuesday's meeting:

Whereas, the present facilities of rapid transit in this city are totally inadequate to meet the requirements of the traveling public, especially during the hours in which the working classes ride thereon, and as a consequence the development of the upper part of the city is being retarded, its future prosperity jeopardized, and a large portion of its population driven to seek homes in New Jersey and Long Island;

Whereas, it is claimed and asserted that by the giving of a small portion of the Battery Park to the uses of the present Elevated Railroad, so that the company can form a "loop," or circle by which their trains can make a continuous run, thereby obviating their very tedious method of shifting trains from the down-track, thus losing valuable time, they could increase their facilities and carry "one-third more passengers," be it

Resolved, that this Legislative Committee of the Real Estate Exchange recommend to His Honor the Mayor of this city the selection of two or more engineers now in the city's employ to make an investigation of this question, and if they find that by the forming of this "loop" or circle the Elevated Railroad Company would increase their facilities for the accommodation of the public over the present means "one-third" and thereby add greatly to the comfort of the working classes during the crowded hours of the day in going to and from their homes, that this committee recommend to the city authorities the granting of such permission.

A committee of three of the Committee on City Improvements was appointed to take measures towards assisting the passage of Assemblyman Connelly's bill bonding contractors who use explosives, making them responsible for damage to person and property. The meeting then adjourned.

The Board of Directors have passed the following resolution: "That the Exchange be open to members only from 10 A. M. to 1.30 P. M. That members must produce their tickets when required by the doorkeeper. Visitors to the floor must be introduced by a member. On days when there are auction sales the auction room shall be open to the public from 11 A. M. to the close of the sales. This arrangement to go into effect May 1, 1889." The object of the committee is to reduce the crowd at sales produced by onlookers and loungers who never buy, but who use the Exchange as a convenience. The directors believe that if these people wish to use the floor for their business or convenience, they should apply for annual membership, which is now within the reach of everybody owing to the reduction of the dues to $30.

The auction stand of James C. Lalor is to be sold on Monday, the 22d inst., at 3 P. M. The purchaser will be entitled to its occupancy for five years, provided he remains an auctioneer and member. Licensed members only will be allowed to compete.

The reduction in the annual membership dues has resulted in an unusual number of applications. The Exchange has evidently taken a wise step in making the change. The number of annual members is already nearly doubled.

New Members.

The following new members have been proposed at the Real Estate Exchange: As stock members: M. A. C. Levy, W. L. Hamersley and L. J. Adams. As annual members: Richard M. Barnes, 171 Broadway; Peter Meehan, 61 East 84th street; Tim Donovan, 423 West 47th street; Geo. F. Johnson; Silas H. Furman, 137 Broadway; J. D. Taylor, 111 West 122d street; E. M. Freeman, 51 West 125th street; B. Havanagh, 141 East 59th street; Louis M. Picot, South Orange, N. J.; Robt. Auld, 944 8th avenue; Thos. Auld, 944 8th avenue; Chas. Wolinsky, 128 East Broadway; Jos. J. Bowman, 245 Avenue B; John Glass, 209

West 21st street; John W. Stevens, 1596 9th avenue; C. A. French, 200 West 57th street; H. Hirsh, 167 Broadway; Thomas Darragh, 23 West 123d street.

No. 11½ City Hall,
New York, April 11, 1889.

On Thursday evening the Mason Builders' Association held a meeting at the Hotel Brunswick to consider Assembly bill No. 1055, which is intended to amend section 3 of chapter 342 of the Laws of 1885. The following resolution was passed: Resolved, That the Mason Builders' Association of the City of New York protest against the passage of Assembly bill No. 1055 as mischievous in its character, and as tending to the total abolition of all protection to mechanics by liens, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to Hon. M. Endres, who introduced the bill.

At the last meeting of the Armory Board the following plots were offered as Armory sites by Benjamin J. Sturges & Son at the prices named. The Corporation Counsel has been requested to acquire title to the property in the usual way.

Law Query.

New York, March 26, 1889.

Editor Record and Guide:

Your opinion expressed in the columns of your valuable paper is respectfully asked on the following transaction, viz.: Mr. A., a capitalist, wished to purchase a certain house in New York City, and called on a real estate broker, Mr. B., a member of the Real Estate Exchange, stated to him his desire, and requested him to ascertain the owner of the house and find out from him if he wished to sell, and asked him to name a price, and when possession could be obtained. The broker availed himself of his membership in the Exchange in finding out the owner, called upon him, and was told that he was negotiating with another broker, and would say nothing till that was ended. Mr. B. reported the result of his interview to Mr. A., giving him fully the particulars and the name of the owner, and Mr. A. then directed him to do nothing more until he communicated with him again. About one month afterward, Mr. B., in looking over the conveyances in The Record and Guide saw that the identical property named had passed from the owner to Mr. A., at $55,000. Mr. B. demanded his brokerage from Mr. A. ($550), on the ground that Mr. A., availing himself of the information, had deprived him of his commission, as he could have had the sale of the property from the owner. Mr. A. refused to pay, saying the broker had not made a sale, to which Mr. B. replied he would have done so but for his intervention and "going behind" him in the matter. Please answer who is right. Broker.

Answer—We think that the agency of the broker, Mr. B., was terminated with his consent and that he has no claim for commissions against Mr. A. Furthermore the broker, Mr. B., did not, in fact, effect a purchase on any terms offered by Mr. A. The broker can not recover.

The Board of Aldermen seem to be shirking the question of opening up the Polo Grounds during the present year. When the matter came up for decision on Wednesday, so many members were excused from voting and so many more were absent that nothing definite could be done. It would appear, however, that the New York baseball team will be allowed to play there during the coming season at all events.

The completion and opening of the Southern Boulevard road is arrested by one of those curious specimens of stubborn humanity that are met with from time to time. Every property-owner on the route, with the exception of the one we refer to, wants the road completed. This man owns a plot on the line, and because the company, who mostly comprise property-owners on the route, did not adopt his plan to run the tracks at each side of the street, instead of in the middle of the thoroughfare, this gentleman stubbornly fights the road in the courts, and for the few feet along his property the company have been enjoined from finishing the road, to the great detriment of real estate and the annoyance of the surrounding residents and property-owners, to whom the road would be a boon. The company have offered to give him a fictitious value for any damages he thinks he will sustain, despite the fact that his land has risen 25 per cent. in value since the line was commenced. They have even offered to buy him out at a fancy price, but he stands, like a dog in the manger, opposing the completion of a road which would benefit him as well as his neighbors. What is to be done with such a fossil is hard to tell?

So far as appearances go at present there will probably be no trouble as to the passage of the bill freeing the Bloomingdale Lunatic Asylum from taxation on any building, they may erect or property they may own in Westchester. It has been passed by the Assembly.

Business has been very active on 'Change during the week; but while the auction sales were very numerous, they did not in every case result satisfactorily. One of the best sales was that of the Brown estate, comprising lots on Lincoln, Alexander and Brook avenues and the Southern Boulevard, between 134th and 138th streets. A total of $379,100 was realized for 124 lots sold at auction, and $101,300 for twenty-five lots sold at private sale, making a grand total of $480,400 for 149 lots, or about $3,290 each.

Brokers and agents in different parts of the city report that there has been a sudden cessation of activity in the applications for renting and purchasing of property. They do not seem to be able to account for this. There is a feeling that more renting will be done in the fall in future. Some agents state that while there is not exactly a scarcity of good houses for renting purposes, desirable properties are clearly becoming scarcer each season.

The great improvement noted for the past few months in the figures of conveyances and projected buildings continues, as will be seen from a comparison of the statistics of this week's tables compared with those of the corresponding week last year.

Business for the week opened in a lively manner on Monday, when the sales held were both numerous and important and the attendance good. The foreclosure sale of the Bijou Opera House, which has been postponed so many times, was held, and bids called for in excess of encumbrances amounting to $222,300, which are prior liens to the mortgage of $15,278 in process of foreclosure. The first offer of $10,000 was made by Sire & Sons, who, it will be remembered, arranged to take the theatre last summer in exchange for other property. Bids of $100 each followed until $62,500 was reached, and the property knocked down to I. P. Egbert for J. L. Harrison. The latter failed to comply with the terms of sale, and Auctioneer Kennelly announced the sale was postponed for one week. It should be added that Mr. Egbert is attorney for the owner, Edward F. James. Among other sales was the Ray estate, which realized $64,000, two of these parcels being bought by Celestia M. Ray.

Tuesday was an exceedingly busy day and the attendance was very large. Sales were held by about a dozen auctioneers, and for something like half an hour after 12 o'clock it was almost impossible to move about the salesroom. The most important sales were the Brown, Faitoute and Friedman estates. The attendance at the first named was very large and the bidding active. For the 124 lots sold a total of $379,100 was realized, or about $3,060 each. A front on Brook avenue, between 137th and 138th streets, went for $22,875, and the easterly front on Lincoln avenue, between 136th and 137th streets, brought $40,000 at private sale before the auction began. A feature of the sale was the book maps in which the lots to be offered were shown in colors. Street improvements, in the way of paving, grading, sewers, gas, Croton, etc., as well as the dwellings and other buildings erected and lines of transit were also shown, so that intending buyers had right before them a clear idea of what they were bidding for. A total of $252,250 was realized for the Faitoute estate property, and one of the heirs secured all except two pieces, which brought $28,450. The easterly front on 10th avenue, between 114th and 115th streets, belonging to the Friedman estate, was knocked down for $45,800, the corners bringing $6,950 and $7,000 and inside lots about $4,500 each. Two lots on the block below were knocked down at $5,450 each, and two on the same avenue, southeast corner of 100th street, forming part of the Friedman estate, went to J. C. Barth for $14,500. A large plot on East Broadway, extending from Chatham square to Catharine street, with five-story building, was bid in at $85,750. Many other sales were held. The withdrawals were numerous owing to satisfactory bids not being made, and the list of sales given in another column shows that many parcels were bid in. Two flats on West 83d street were sold under foreclosure. No. 159, a double flat, 40x80x102.2, was knocked down at about $40,900 to Edward Rhinehardt, who failed to comply with the terms of sale. Subsequently the flat was sold to Newman Cowen, the plaintiff, at $36,000, despite a protest by the defendant against the resale. The plaintiff also secured the single flat No. 157 at $19,300.

Wednesday's offerings were of a miscellaneous character, embracing many lots both on the east and west sides. The call for lots was slow and nearly all of those offered were secured by parties in interest. One of the most valuable plots, embracing ten lots on West 43d and 44th streets, was postponed for two weeks. The figures at which the various parcels were knocked down are given on another page.

The sales bulletined for Thursday were very numerous and some of them were important; the attendance, however, was only fair and the result unsatisfactory owing to numerous withdrawals, postponements and unsatisfactory bids. Among the costly dwellings bulletined for sale were Nos. 813 5th avenue and 16 East 42d street. The former was bid in at $75,000 and the latter at $44,750. A total of $143,850 was bid for the McManus estate, parcels on the southeast corner of 3d avenue and 65th street. When the same property was put up last October it was knocked down at $128,000, but it did not leave the estate. Lots and flats were offered in large numbers, but they were not in demand, and the sellers in very many instances became the buyers.

Several sales were bulletined for yesterday; all were foreclosures, and with one exception all were adjourned until future dates.

On Monday, April 15th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell, under Supreme Court foreclosure orders, the three five-story apartment houses at Nos. 266 to 270 West 131st street, known as "The Mayflower;" the five-story double tenement at No. 407 East 29th street, and forty-eight acres of desirably-located property at Yonkers, by order of the estate of A. F. Vermilya. The latter is on the Scarsdale road, in the 4th Ward of Yonkers, and has a stone residence on it, with farmhouse, stable, barns, ice-house, etc., and is convenient to the railroad depots.

On Monday, April 15th, James C. Lalor will sell three pieces of very desirable business property situated at No. 138 East 14th street and Nos. 135 and 137 East 13th street. On the 14th street lot is a five-story brown stone building with store, and on the 13th street lots are two three-story brick dwellings. These lots run through the block and afford, together, a very desirable property.

On Thursday, April 18th, Smyth & Ryan will sell without reserve, by the order of the Metropolitan Real Estate Association, eighty choice lots in the 24th Ward, on Fordham Ridge, opposite Jerome Park. Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

The Princeton flats, Nos. 322 to 328 West 57th street, size 100x100, have been traded for fifty-six lots comprising the entire block bounded by 10th and 11th avenues, 63d and 64th streets, except the 10th avenue front. The consideration mentioned for the flats, which are mortgaged for $150,000, is $300,000, and for the lots the price is $300,000, subject to mortgages for $100,000. Elizabeth W. Aldrich sells the Princeton, and Elizabeth Coates the lots. The latter is reported to represent Builder Wm. Noble. In May, 1885, the above block (sixty-four lots) was taken in trade by Wm. Noble from John Paine at $300,000, Noble selling in exchange to Paine the Grenoble, on the southwest corner of 57th street and 7th avenue, at $600,000, subject to mortgages of $300,000. Subsequently Paine died and the Grenoble was foreclosed, Noble becoming the purchaser. Singularly enough the fifty-six lots were foreclosed only last week and bid in by Elizabeth Coates at $287,000. The Princeton flats were traded for Brooklyn lots three years ago at $300,000.

ORANGE, N. J.—Bulkeley & Bannister, of New York, have plans under way for a two-story and attic frame cottage, 42x46, with broad verandas in the first and second stories, which Arthur Krause will build on the mountain side. It will have a very ornamental exterior and will be faced in shingle. All improvements, including electric bells and hot air heating apparatus will be provided. The cost has not yet been estimated.

OZONE PARK, L. I.—J. W. Bailey, of Brooklyn, has been engaged to draw the plans for two three-story frame apartment houses, 19x50, which Mrs. B. C. Gardner is soon to build. They will each cost about $4,000.

PAMRAPO, N. J.—Manly N. Cutter, of New York, has prepared plans for a two-story and attic frame cottage of six rooms for S. J. Ashton. Hardwood flooring will be laid upon the first floor. Cost, $3,000.

PASSAIC, N. J.—Frank Freeman, of New York, has the plans and has placed the contract for a three-story frame residence, in the Colonial style, 40x100, which John T. Granger will build at this place. It will be heated by steam and finished in hardwoods. Cost, $10,200.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—John Platt has had plans prepared by Manly N. Cutter, of New York, for a three-story stone and brick residence which he is soon to build on the corner of Jeannette avenue and Sumac street, at a cost of $7,000. Sullivan & Fritzinger, of Manayunk, Pa., have the building contract. The house will be heated by steam, and some of the finish will be in hardwood.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.—The Young Men's Christian Association, of this place, has purchased a desirable site for the erection of a new association building. About $50,000 is now available and work will be commenced at once.

RONDOUT, N. Y.—Jordan & Giller have prepared plans for a three-story brick, stone and terra cotta hotel, about 75x45, which Adolph Eichler is soon to build. It will be heated by steam and provided with all improvements. Cost, about $20,000. The same architects have plans for some extensive alterations and additions which are to be made in Charles Schleussner's private dwelling, on Bedford avenue, near Penn street, Brooklyn. It will be converted into an apartment house at a cost of about $9,000.

SEABRIGHT, N. J.—A large and handsome summer residence is soon to be erected here by Fritz Achelis, of Brooklyn. The building will probably cost about $20,000.

WATERBURY, CONN.—O. H. Stevens is about to build a two-and-a-half-story frame house, 35x60, with slate roof, to cost $6,000. It will be in hardwood trim and will be built from plans by G. Palliser.

WOODHAVEN, L. I.—W. M. Coots, of Brooklyn, will prepare the plans for a two and a-half story frame cottage, 32x48, which Mr. Raymond will erect for himself at this place, Much of the finish will be in hardwoods. Cost, $4,000.

YONKERS, N. Y.—James Carroll is about to build a four-story apartment house, 50x60, with a one-story extension, 50x20, on New Main street, near Getty square. It will have stores on the first floor, with four suites of five rooms each on the floors above. The front will be quite handsome and the material will be of brick and stone. The architect, Geo. B. Pelham, estimates the cost at $25,000.

Special Notices.

Alden & Sterne, the well-known real estate agents, have removed their office from No. 12 East 14th street to No. 9, opposite. The firm has been on this street and neighborhood for many years, during which period they have transacted a large number of the most important leases of property between 14th and 34th streets. Among the more recent of the leases negotiated by them is the northwest corner of 14th street and Union square at $20,000 per annum and taxes for twenty-one years; the northwest corner of 15th street and Union square, opposite Tiffany's, at $18,000 per annum for twenty-one years; the northwest corner of 5th avenue and 15th street at $10,000 per annum and taxes for twenty-one years; the northwest corner, opposite, at $20,000 per annum for twenty-one years; the entire east and west sides of 5th avenue, between 13th and 14th streets, and other leases involving large sums. Among their recent sales are the several 6th avenue properties purchased by them for A. A. Vantine, aggregating $325,000. They have also negotiated some large mortgage loans, among them being those on the Chelsea and Gramercy apartment houses. Their new office is on the ground floor and is handsomely furnished. Messrs. Alden & Sterne have been established 15 years, and are members of the Real Estate Exchange.

Frank E. Morse, of No. 7 Coenties slip, is the sole New York agent for Colorific, pronounced to be the best material in use for coloring mortar and all clay products a deep and permanent red. Colorific is warranted not to fade, it hardens the mortar, and makes a strong bond. Among other testimonials Mr Morse can produce the following:

Dear Sir—In reply to your favor, state that we have used your Colorific for coloring brick mortars to our entire satisfaction, as well as to the satisfaction of the superintending architects of the buildings where your Colorific has been used. Truly yours, MARC EIDLITZ & SON.

Builders and contractors requiring to make a good selection of spruce timber will find a large stock always on hand at the yards of Messrs. Bell Brothers at 11th avenue and 21st street. They also have a large supply of girders and other building material. The firm are both wholesale and retail dealers. Their telephone call is No. 121 21st street.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—For Common Hards there has been no further important change in value nor have really new features of a pronounced character developed. The previous liberal accumulation of stock has passed into consumers' hands and sufficiently relieved their wants to modify the volume of demand somewhat, yet buyers were by no means difficult to find, and as the run of arrivals proved comparatively moderate, cargoes sold up reasonably close, the condition of the weather helping trade somewhat. Altogether affairs seem to retain a healthy undertone, and operators who have carefully looked over the situation speak hopefully of the prospect. There is no doubt about the forward preparation of a large amount of work that must consume plenty of stock, provided no storms of a protracted character intervene to retard operations, and if no mistake has been made in regard to the scantiness of remaining supplies at primary points, the seller has more chance of gaining than losing advantages. Of course there is now a natural freer move toward resumption of operations at the manufacturing localities, but between the preliminary stages and the consummation of production, with stock ready for market, is a long distance, and new brick, it is expected, will be wanted by the time they are ready to offer for sale. As we close the supply has become well sold up and the position is quite firm, especially on the cheaper qualities, a great many buyers following last year's tactics and giving under-priced goods the preference whenever they can be used to advantage.

Pales are in good demand on a rather wide range of prices, which show the difference in quality now offering. A larger number of fancy parcels, it is believed, could be placed readily if available The following from the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin may interest the trade here:

A Detroit contractor who had occasion to do some work at Burlington, Iowa, has brought to the Michigan metropolis such good opinion of the brick pavement in service at Burlington that Detroit may be induced to experiment with it. If it is a fact that brick pavement, laid at a cost of $200 a square yard, will last from ten to twenty years—and the Detroit contractor says he saw at Burlington one street in excellent condition that had not been disturbed for seventeen years—the paving problem will be carried a long way toward solution.

As this pavement is laid at Burlington, the foundation is prepared by leveling and packing the earth, which is then covered with ordinary brick, laid on their sides. These common brick are then covered with a few inches of sand, upon which vitrified brick are laid edgewise, close together, and covered with a light layer of sand.

LATH.—It has not been a very active market, and seems to have brought a little disappointment to some of the trade, who last week were quite sanguine in their expectations. A great deal of stock has gone into dealers' hands this spring, and that now somewhat curtails demand, though cargoes rarely have to lay for any length of time awaiting custom. Round wood stock has been offered as low as $2 per M for full cargoes, the large proportion of other stock leading to that result, though as a matter of fact some of the round wood stuff is exceptionally fine this season. For slab lath there was irregularity, but it looked very much as though anything above $2.20 was an asking price only until toward the close when best goods are again valued at $2.25 per M.

LIME.—Prices are the same all around, the demand is good enough to take about all the stock as it arrives, and that seems to be the sum and substance of the situation. The advices from the East indicate that manufacturers are generally working harmoniously, and will carry out the combination to the expiration of the time agreed upon.

LUMBER.—As the month progresses demand from consumers increases somewhat and there is less fault-finding. The placing of supplies for immediate use is not quite up to the mark set by the more enthusiastic portion of the trade, but a great many orders of one kind or another are being booked and will in due time go to swell the deliveries. Dealers are in the meantime engaged in negotiating for stocks according to their ideas of necessity or expediency. A great many are compelled to invest with some degree of freedom in certain grades, and have thus far offered an outlet for the bulk of the offering, especially in the way of desirable building assortments; others take hold because they have faith enough to moderately anticipate the future, but there is a great many who do not seem to feel convinced that any special necessity for hurry exists, and they are making a stand off accordingly. There is no denial of a generally good outlook for lumber, but it is claimed that a realization of hopes can only be obtained by conservative methods, and that pretty much all grades of stock have secured quite as great stimulus as any influences thus far shown appear to warrant. The local export trade has been remarkably good thus far this year, the movement for the first quarter exceeding that for corresponding period in 1888; some 8,207,000 feet in round numbers; and this week's record is again good, South America getting a large proportion. There is still more or less of the spring uncertainty in regard to the log crop.

Eastern Spruce in all general particulars makes a seasonable showing, the average advantage favoring sellers. Some receivers repeat the claim that anything merchantable can be placed this spring if ordinary judgment is used; but a pretty good bunch of stock has reached port since the coasters resumed their trips, and the wants of dealers have become correspondingly relieved. There is, of course, some allowance to be made for the reduction of old stocks at the mills, and the delay that must ensue before new cut can commence to move with freedom; but caution evidently governs a considerable portion of the demand, and many dealers express a determination to invest only upon a basis of actual necessity at current cost. Advices from the East continue to predict a moderate and late supply of logs.

Piling continues to be held with much firmness and confidence. Some portions of the local custom acts as if feeling rather indifferent, but holders of the stock look upon that as simply a movement for effect, and calculate there is enough work positively planned to secure an excellent market for all supplies likely to come forward until very much later in the season at least.

Hemlock is the subject of continued favorable comment from the selling side, and the market as a whole seems to be in good form. Of State wood the offering is moderate and indifferent, and while there is no scarcity of Pennsylvania stock it is well enough under control to prevent any surplus offering or the least anxiety to search for custom, and sellers are very firm in the matter of valuation. Sufficient delivery has now been made to satisfy the more urgent wants of local custom, but the outside demand is commencing to call for its share in somewhat more positive form.

White Pine still shows more or less irregularity of tone. Three reports obtained from as many dealers and within the period of half an hour severally called the market "very active," "very dull" and "only so-so," and with slight variation that was about the experience in several instances. There has unquestionably been an excellent delivery of box and shipping stock this spring with more wanted and accumulations so reduced that there can hardly be a doubt of ultimate replenishing, yet even toward these thoroughly standard grades dealers show a cautious policy and many of them act on the theory that competition from various primary sources to locate a trade in this market will act as a check to any extreme cost and may occasionally shake out some fractional reductions.

Yellow Pine generally receives favorable comment and is said to be selling well on all outlets. Many local dealers claim to have stock enough on hand or coming to permit them to stand off for a while, but others remain on the market, and with the new outlets opening as the season progresses the daily booking of orders is satisfactory. Prices are steadily maintained and can be kept so, it is believed, as the combinations control the majority of supplies likely to seek an outlet in this direction. The f. o. b. trade is very good and shipments to the interior run well.

Carolina Pine has a somewhat uneven demand, but without opportunity reducing the general volume of the movement at adversely influencing values, as the desirable portion of the production is kept well under control. It is expected that rough flooring will do quite as well as last season, and some new lines of out-of-town custom have signified a willingness to try the stock.

Hardwoods on home orders are meeting with a demand that shows some improving tendency, but, as a whole, still fails to fully come up to the calculations of many of the trade, and, of course, complaint is in order accordingly. Indeed some operators who have been carefully looking over the situation have an idea that with the exception of poplar there is not much chance for anything more than good, fair activity, until later in the season at least. Both consumers and dealers are reasonably well stocked in quantity and assortment and the accounts from primary points indicate a supply likely to meet all calls that may be made upon it. The foreign demand will in all probability require about the usual assortment, and be willing to pay for it at former figures provided there is honest dealing in the matter of quality.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Timberman says:

The prospects for log driving are growing "small by degrees, and beautifully less," as the days and weeks pass by, in the great lumber producing States. Not a single day during the entire month of March in which the sun did not shine brightly; and not a sufficiency of rain or snow has fallen to be worthy of mention. It is reported that many of the streams on which large quantities of logs have been banked are as dry as in midsummer. Even the swamps, which are usually feeders to the logging streams, are drying up. Mill owners who have large quantities of logs piled on the banking grounds, in addition to considerable amounts left in the woods on the skidways, because of the unexpected disappearance of snow which prevented them from hauling them to the streams, are beginning to wear an extremely anxious cast of countenance because of the unpropitious outlook for securing stock with which to keep their mills in operation, and the unfavorable conditions for securing returns from their investment during the winter months. "I tell you logs will be good property before the close the sawing season of 1889," exclaimed a prominent Michigan lumberman to the Timberman on the first of the present month, "unless there should be enormous rainfalls during April, because the snow has entirely disappeared in the woods without swelling the logging streams worth mentioning." Even should there be excessive rains, it is now admitted that no inconsiderable amount of the logs, which have been included in former estimates, will fail to reach the mills the present year; hence a very materially decreased output of lumber is now considered a certainty.

At the Chicago yards:

A diversity of opinions exists among the wholesale dealers in pine in regard to the condition of trade, stocks and prospects. Ideas on these subjects are quite as much mixed as April weather. Wholesale dealers in lumber expect rather better business than has been vouchsafed them this spring, and a few dull days like the seven last past tends to precipitate a general bearing down of values in ordinary times, but even old-time "pluugers" are now hesitating, who were never supposed to be happy unless drafting a cut list. There is some changing of prices, but in a very cautious way thought to be consistent with the real value of the stock. One or two houses have circulated some low prices, but it appeas to be possible to hold values well together without much effort.

Some of the very largest dealers claim that their stock of lumber is enormous for the time of year, and should be moved to make room for the new stock that will soon be coming in, but this does not seem to be a wise thing to do with prospects so good for heavy summer business and no certain assurance that the log crop is up to the average.

The lower grades of good lumber and the best grades of common are in the lead so far as present demand is concerned, for the farmers are too busy with their spring work for shed building and the like which uses the very cheap grades of stock. The demand for car stock is slim and will be all season, according to what the different railroad purchasing agents report as the building intentions of their several charges. So an additional country activity must exist to make up the deficit.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

The question of prices at mill points is now absorbing the attention of both manufacturers and dealers. The mill men in Eastern Michigan are trying to start prices this spring on a basis 50 cents to $1 a thousand higher than those prevailing at the close of the last market season. This attitude is met by Eastern buyers in an adverse way. They assume that the prospects for trade do not warrant paying such an advance, and they are holding off about buying. The Saginaw Valley manufacturers are steadfast holders of stock and they are likely to relax their grip only when they are obliged to. It is probable that there will be considerable trading on the quiet in Saginaw Valley this spring, with "p. t." as an answer to questions about prices. Stocks are large at Tonawanda and Buffalo, while Albany is well supplied. The policy of the wholesale dealers in those markets appears to be to defer buying until the state of the bulk stock market shall be more fully developed. Should the consumptive demand continue at the present rate the urgency for restocking may be such later on that the market will be fully sustained.

Freight rates on the lakes will be lower than last year, and tonnage will be plentier. The season will be long, and that will depress the freight market by giving shippers ample time to get forward their stocks. This will afford an advantage to manufacturers, who move their lumber by water, but it will tend to an easier lumber market. The cost of the logs has also been less this year than usual, on account of the absence of heavy snows and the plentitude of labor. These influences will partly compensate manufacturers for any disappointment they may feel if prices should fail to advance as they anticipated.

The lack of a driving stage in the streams is causing some uneasiness among those who want to get logs down to the mills. The snow has mostly disappeared, and there have, as yet, been but light rains. Confidence is expressed that sprnig rains will yet cause a sufficient rise to permit of clean drives, but that is not certain. All that operators can do is to wait on the elements and hope for the best.

The beginning of the lake movement of lumber is causing some anxiety to dealers. Several of the larger yards have already received considerable lumber. This will cut off some demand between yards, which may have a measure of influence on prices. As yet prices are fairly steady. Dealers who are obliged to buy a good deal of their neighbors say that sellers hold prices about even all over the district. Occasionally concession of half a dollar a thousand is made on stock that a yard may have in especially arge supply, but there are no heavy cuts on anything. There appears to be no powerful motive for cutting. It is believed by many that the March report of stock on hand showed too great a surplus—that the tendency of dealers was to report heavy supplies, so as to promote a weak cargo market at the opening. It is noticeable that, though the dealers complain of a meager demand and take a gloomy view of the prospects, they are generally holding for steady prices, and do not appear to be anxious to sell without obtaining what they ask. This does not look as if they considered lumber poor property to hold.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows:

Mill men everywhere are beginning to have a great deal of interest in the condition of the drives. The streams everywhere are exceedingly low, and very little driving has yet been done. If, as appears not improbable, any considerable proportion of the logs banked should be hung up, a material reduction of the White Pine product would result. With certain qualifications which have already been recited, this condition of affairs has already had a stffening effect upon all the markets, and is, perhaps more strongly marked in Michigan than elsewhere. But there is yet a great deal of time. Heavy spring rains, which may be expected at any time, may entirely reverse the conditions.

It is evident, also, that aside from all this, there is a decided bear movement on foot. This is the time of the year when the bears become more numerous and clamerous than ever. It is the time when purchasers of bulk lots and cargoes, around the great lakes, begin to lay in stock, and when they do a little judicious pounding of prices, and take the most conservative view of the situation. At saw mill points manufacturers are also engaged in buying logs upon the best terms tney can make. All this is not without its influecce at this particular season, and it can safely be promised that the pessimists will make themselves heard for the next two or three months.

CANADA.

The Ottawa Free Press is evidently in favor of removing the Canadian export duty on logs, as witness the following:

Everything connected with this export duty question leads to the conclusion that the sooner it is abolished the better for the Canadian lumber interest. There is no doubt when Congress meets such legislation with regard so the export duty will be adopted as will force our government to abandon it, unless indeed they choose to leave the Canadian exporter of lumber to the United States to pay an import duty on lumber equal to the Canadian export duty on logs, in addition to the regular American duty. It is scarcely credible that stupidity or obstinacy will prompt the government to bring this disaster on the lumber trade rather than recede from such an untenable position. Assuming, then, that the duty must be repealed when Congress meets, either in extra session or at the regular time of meeting in December next, can we keep the duty on safely till that time? Would it not be a much easier and more graceful thing to remove the duty now voluntarily than to do it later on under pressnre of necessity? Our lumbermen naturally desire to see the Amerieau duty on Canadian lumber reduced. The Senate bill did reduce it to $1.50 per thousand, and it is thought that, with the source of irritation furnished by the export duty removed through its prompt repeal, the prospect of getting the lumber reduced to $1 per thousand is a good one. To retain the export, however, is to strengthen the hands of those who demand that the duty on lumber shall be left at $2 or placed at $3, in the most effectual possible manner. The last tariff revision in the United States was made in 1883. Whatever duty is placed on our lumber at the next meeting of Congress is likely to be the rate for a number of years. The lumbermen of Canada have asked for a repeal of the duty and will know whom to hold responsible for consequences if it is not done.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Later mail advices from Rio Janeiro report:

Pitch Pine—The receipts are 335,834 feet per M. P. Smith Peterson, 486,167 feet per Falka, 399,631 feet per Amicitia, from Brunswick; 580,370 feet per Saigon, 299,691 feet per Zeno, from Pensacola, and 302,645 feet per Vega, from Satilla. The first cargo was sold at about 34$000 per dozen, the others are on order. Brokers report the market supplied, and flat at about 34$000@35$000 per dozen. Receipts last month were 3,161,509 feet, against 412,285 feet in February last year. White Pine—Receipts nil. The small lot of Baltimore pine has been sold, it is supposed at about 90 rs per foot. New York boards are reported steady at 110 rs per foot. In February receipts were 123,129 feet, against 182, 805 feet for the same month in 1888. Spruce Pine—Nothing whatever to report. Swedish Pine—Receipts are 389 doz. per Peter, from Gefle, which have been sold on reserved terms. The market is firm and we may quote to-day red deals at 36$000 and white at 33$000@84$000 per doz. Receipts last month were 3,239 doz., against nil in February last year.

METALS.—Copper—Ingot continues to find a market very much in a muddle, and no special advantages can be credited to either buyers or sallers. The tendency has appeared to be rather downward, especially for future delivery, but the low offerings were mostly from speculators and looked upon with more or less suspicion, especially as the figures were less than the companies appeared inclined to accept. Conditions in Europe are evidently still quite unsettled, and have a tendency to create a feverish sort of feeling throughout. About 15@15½c. for Lake seems to be the general idea of near-by values, and it has recently been intimated from more or less authoritative sources that the companies are unlikely to offer far less than 14c. at any time this year. Manufactured Copper has a fairly active market, with production pretty well gauged to the outlet, and prices ruling steady all around. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz. 26c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 27c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 28c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 38c.; do, under 8 oz, 28@33c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz, 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 25c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 27c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 29c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 33c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 36c. Sheets longer than 96 inches add 1c. for under 16 oz; and 2c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 25c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 28c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 30c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 32c. Sheets 60x96 and over, 25@30c., for 32 to 64 oz. and over, and 31c. for 16 to 32 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 28c.; 4 oz, 30c.; 12 oz, 32c.; and 10 oz, 35c. Bolt copper, ⅜ inch diameter and over, 25c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 28@31c. per lb. Iron—Scotch Pig is in small supply, and it is said that importation is only about half the quantity of one year ago, and that gives sellers considerable advantage, although the current run of demand is rather moderate. We quote at $19.50@21.75, according to brand, delivery, etc. American Pig is going into consumption fairly upon contract, especially the favorite brands, but the fresh inquiry is moderate and runs mainly to small odd lots of a jobbing character. Reliable and well-known iron is firmer in price, but inferior stock is frequently offered quite low. We quote at $17.00@18.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $16.00@17.00 for No. 2 X do.; and $15.00@15.50 for Gray Forge. Old material has been offered with some freedom, especially rails, and indeed at times under a little pressure, as if sellers were anxious. Buyers feeling under no obligation to hurry the market was dull, with more or less inclination to weakness. We quote at about $22.50@24.00 for old rails; $20.00@20.50 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $14.50@16.00 for cast scrap, and $18.00@18.50 for car wheels. Steel rails are in demand, and several good-sized parcels understood to be under treaty both East and West, but as manufacturers appear to be competing for the trade and buyers are in no great hurry the market rather drags. We quote at $27.00 per ton at the mills, and $28.00@28.50 do. at tide water. Manufactured Iron a little more active, but only on an ordinary run of orders, and there is not much in the market at the moment. Prices are nominally unchanged. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 1.90@2.10c. from store, and refined at 2.00@2.30c.; Rods, round and square 2.10@2.20c.; Bands, 2.20@2.30c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.75@2.80c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Lead—Domestic Pig receives very little attention from speculators and with a light consumption at the moment the market is pretty dull, though values quoted about as before. We quote at 3.65@3.72c., as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 5c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe, 45c., on same terms Tin—Pig occasionally takes a little flurry on the speculative market but is only fairly active for consumption and does not show many points of a particularly decided character. Prices rather easy. We quote at about 21@21¼c. for round lots and 21⅛@21⅜c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plates after selling with some freedom to consumers and jobbers against future wants became quiet again though without reducing values on any grade to an important extent. Foreign advices have been reassuring. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $5.45@5.50, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $4.75@4.80, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.60@6.65; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.20@13.25; Worcester, 14x20, $4.60@4.62½; Worcester, 20x28, $9.25@9.30; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.20@4.30; Dean grade, 20x28, $8.37½@8.50; Allaway grade, 14x20, $4.05@4.07½; Allaway grade, 20x28, $8.10@8.20; I. C. Coke, B. V. grade, $4.30@4.32½; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.35@4.37½; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.70 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $4.75. Spelter has found rather more demand from consumers and as the quantity available is not great prices rule steady at about $4.65@4.90, according to quality.

NAILS.—Business has fallen away on some outlets and picked up on others, so that the average runs just about as for some time past, and there is not much influence upon the tone by the movement. Offerings are full, with now and then an outside lot, and that keeps rates easy. We quote at $1.80@1.85 for car lots, and $1.90@2.00 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—So far as regular sources are represented there has been a fair general demand for stock, and the movement is expected to continue without much interruption. The line of operations, however, is not extending much, and some of the jobbers, etc., seem to be a little disappointed over the situation. Local consumption has proven good thus far, and will hold its own most likely for some time to come. Linseed Oil meets with fair demand, and a steady market at 56@57c. for Western, and 58@58½c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has been urged less freely into notice, and the market is steadier on basis of 45½@46½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Business moves to about the extent usual at this season of the year, and there is nothing of a specially noteworthy character at the moment. Offerings do not seem to be excessive, and former rates are asked. We quote Pitch $1.35@1.50 per bbl.: Tar at $2.10@2.20, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

The above lien, filed by James Fay, plumber, against my property on East 83d street is uncalled for, as there is no money due him under the terms of a written contract. He has had to remove considerable plumbing materials that did not comply with the specifications furnished him. The plumbing is under the supervision of G. A. Schellinger, architect, who is ready to give a certificate when he reaches a payment, and I am ready to pay.

Respectfully yours, ALFRED M. HEARN.

VOL. XLIII. APRIL 20, 1889. No. 1,101

THE RECORD AND GUIDE will be published next week as an illustrated Centennial number. It will contain numerous maps and engravings of churches, dwellings, public buildings and stores in existence in New York City one hundred years ago, with pictures of the structures occupying the sites to-day. An extra large edition of this number will be published, which should be specially attractive to advertisers.

The business of the country cannot be called good, for the Western farmers are not buying articles of consumption. They are, however, well employed digging in the fields and opening up the largest acreage the country has ever known. With anything like ordinary luck we ought to have an abundance of crops next summer and fall. There are many promising factors at work. We are marketing the largest cotton crop ever grown—probably 7,100,000 bales—upon which our planters have received at least half a cent a pound more than they got last year. Then our immense corn and hay crop of last year is largely increasing our animal products, as well as giving us the substitute for the short wheat crop. Our corn exports were never so large. We ought to have shipped a great deal of gold this spring, but Europe has taken enough of our cotton, corn, provisions and securities to pay our large bills for imported goods.

In the interest of the City of New York and of rapid transit, THE RECORD AND GUIDE has been doing all it could for years to get the public and the authorities to consent to such extensions and additions to the Manhattan system as would add to its usefulness as a means of rapid transit. We neither asked, nor would we have accepted, any money compensation for our efforts and the expense we underwent, as our object was for the public good and not for private gain. With a curious lack of sense and courtesy, the officials of the Manhattan Company have generally treated our reporters, when in search of information, with downright rudeness, yet our publication was the only one of the New York press to point out the possibilities of the Manhattan system to give us more rapid transit. Our publication of the "loop map" showed that project in its true light, and dispelled many of the preposterous illusions created by the Times and other papers. Then our interviews with leading citizens make it very certain that our city press has been wholly mistaken in thinking the public were opposed to any further extension of the Manhattan system. When Mayor Grant told the reporter of the Evening Post that he could not afford to help the Manhattan Road in any way, in view of the opposition of the newspapers, he made the first capital mistake of his administration. The discussion now going on will show that our citizens are all very largely in favor of the utilization of the "L" roads, and that if the Battery Park loop is necessary it will be permitted on some equitable arrangement between the road and the city authorities.

In our issue of November 17th, shortly after the election, we predicted that "One lion in the path of Mayor-elect Grant will be the suspicion that he may be helping corporate interests in advocating certain city improvements, and that when an endeavor is made further to utilize our elevated railroad system some news paper idiot will howl about paying further tribute to Jay Gould." Both of these predictions have come true. We find Mayor Grant opposing an extension of facilities to the Manhattan Road clearly because he is afraid of identifying himself with a corporation so obnoxious to the daily press as is the Manhattan. Hence he has given us a rapid transit scheme of his own, admirable in many of its features, but defective principally in this, that he has placed it in opposition to every other plan proposed for the amelioration of the New York traveling public. We hope that he has seen from the handling his bill has received in the Legislature that the path such schemes have to travel abounds in obstructions, which newspaper editorials are not powerful enough to remove. Would it not be well for him to pursue in this matter a wisely inconsistent course and aim not merely to please a certain number of biassed newspaper writers, but to furnish the immediate facilities for intermural travel so sorely needed by our citizens?

The Mayor's bill may get through this session, but it will have a hard time of it. The Republican majority in both Houses seem to have conspired to bring a pressure to bear upon the Mayor to influence his appointments on the first of May. Of course he ought not, and probably will not, yield to the demands of the politicians; but he can now see the inherent difficulties in the carrying out of his plan. It involves a time-consuming fight for every inch of progress that is made. There is no end of trouble in getting a rapid transit scheme into working order. The experience of the "Arcade" promoters points its own moral. It would be ten years, at least, before a definite scheme, such as would be the outcome of the bill, could be in any kind of shape. Meanwhile, property-holders on both sides of the river will have reason to bless the pottering methods of New York's rulers.

There is really but one thing to do. Let the Manhattan Company have its loop in the Battery and its extra track for through trains on the 3d and 9th avenues. This would add one-third to the carrying capacity of the Manhattan and give every one a seat, except during the most crowded hours. It would shorten the distance in point of time between both ends of the island fully twenty minutes. Permission being granted, the Manhattan Company could supply these additional facilities within six months' time. Then we want a cable system to replace our horse-car facilities; finally, the "Arcade Road" should be given a charter. A lighted road-bed under Broadway on solid earth would be the only possible rival to the elevated system. In connection with the cable road there might be built another elevated structure on the Grand Boulevard, as well as on or along the water front on each side of the city. How much better this would be than to wait year after year for any underground or viaduct proposition to be formulated and carried out.

By the tone of the press it seems that the South and even the Southwest are thoroughly alarmed at the negro problem. Not only is the colored population increasing much more rapidly than the white in old States like Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas, but the negro is emigrating rapidly into northern Louisiana, Arkansas, the Yazoo delta and the Southwest generally. The Africanization of Mississippi has been especially rapid. It is estimated that next year's census will show that the negroes outnumber the whites by at least 350,000 in a population of only 1,563,000. Some authorities consider these figures below the truth. From what can be seen at present the preponderance of the negro even in some of the southwesterly of the Southern States is inevitable. The high birth-rate, the adaptation to climate and the few wants of the colored race make this well nigh a certainty; and the dispersion of the negro into States where at present he is not to be found in very large numbers is being hastened by the labor agent who every planting time stimulates emigration from the Carolinas, Alabama and Georgia into Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi and elsewhere. The planter, of course, believes in negro labor. It is cheap and on the whole efficient, and to him at least the negro problem is no problem at all. The supposition that prevailed immediately after the war, that in a state of freedom and in competition with whites the negro would disappear, has given place to the ideas of the alarmist in an opposite direction, which will no doubt prove to be equally incorrect. Time has shown that the negro, amid the conditions which have prevailed since the war in the South, not only is not disappearing, but, curiously, is becoming more of the negro than he was a quarter of a century ago. Mulattoes, octaroons and half-breeds are less numerous than in the days of slavery, and the race is reverting to the pure type. But when we consider the wonderful adaptability of the social organism there is no reason for alarm about the negro problem. Given free play and time it will solve itself for the best. As Tourgee says: "Do what we will there is nothing but patience. It will take time to solve a difficulty which it took nearly two centuries to create."

The present overcrowded condition of the city school-houses and the fact that on the west side applications for the admission of children have now to be refused because of the lack of accommodation is disgraceful. The public is supposed to be especially interested in its schools, yet the appropriations for the Police Department have been increased annually from $2,599,895 in 1878 to $4,235,867 in 1887, an increase of 63 per cent., whereas the appropriation for the Board of Education, which was $3,400,000 in 1878, is now only $3,994,088, an increase of about 17 per cent. The growth of population should and does make greater demands upon the Department of Education than upon the Police Department. It may be said that in New York the former is more economically managed than the latter; but the foregoing figures, taken in connection with the present lack of accommodation for scholars, indicate clearly enough that the Board of Education is running its affairs on too niggardly a policy. More than this, it is not only in the matter of accommodation that our schools are inadequate. In many respects the teaching has fallen behind the age. The supremacy we once possessed over other countries in educational matters has been entirely lost. We are now behind Germany and France, and even England. This is more especially true of technical and manual training. Draughtsmen in our architects' and engineers' offices; the chemists in our manufacturing concerns, and the highest class of artisans, are now very largely foreigners. The generation leaving school to-day in this country is not nearly so well equipped for life as, let us say, the young German. He has been taught superficially, and much of the intellectual baggage that he has is of a kind that he will soon dispense with.

Charles Francis Adams' magazine article on "Railroad Strikes and How to Prevent Them" is suggestive, but the remedy he proposes is inadequate. A strike on our transportation lines is so serious a matter as to call for the intervention of the general government. A dispute between discontented employés on one side, and self-sufficient directors on the other, should not be permitted to interfere with the business of a whole section of a country. Indeed, merchants, manufacturers, and others, whose trade and profits have been interfered with, should have a cause of action against the railroads which did not comply with their public duties. Undoubtedly the great roads which had the strikes were all to blame. Mr. Austin Corbin need not have lost a million and a-half on the Reading strike. Jay Gould was to blame very largely for the Missouri Pacific strike, and the five millions which their strike cost the Burlington was money wantonly and wickedly thrown away. Both Reading and Missouri Pacific would be selling ten points higher to-day were it not for these strikes. The record of the New York Central, the Pennsylvania Central, of the Richmond Terminal, and scores of other well-managed roads, shows that it is possible to manage these corporations without strikes. But the true cure for these labor disturbances is to put the employés of all the railroads under government regulation. That would put a final end to strikes.

In a series of letters printed in the Mail and Express on Saturday, dealing with the most pressing and necessary reforms, Mr. Erastus Winan came out with a letter in favor of combination as opposed to competition. Among some remarks on the Standard Oil Company, he included the following, which goes to show that the opinion of some of our best business men is shifting on the question of trusts:

But low prices and excellent quality in petroleum are not the only results of combination, as admirably shown in a series of striking comparisons by my friend, Mr. Frank B. Thurber, before the State Senate Committee on Trusts, and more fully amplified in his philosophic speech before the Merchants' Association at their recent banquet in Boston. The position of Mr. Thurber on this matter is a most significant indication of the oscillation of the pendulum of thought on this subject, for he was the spirited and successful leader of the anti-monopoly movement in the Empire State, and was then just as sincere as he is now in his thoughtful and intelligent appreciation of the necessities of combination, for the good of the people as for those more directly concerned.

The success of the city in floating its 2½ per cent. tax-free bonds, while it affords an additional proof that the credit of the municipality is nearly if not quite as good as that of any other municipality, State or nation in the world, does not show, as on the surface it might be supposed to show, that our credit is any better than that of other corporations or States. The fact that the bonds are free from city and county taxation, while it is not worth to the bonds as much as the taxation to which they are exposed consists of in amount, is nevertheless a great point in their favor; and then, as Matthew Marshall has pointed out and as we have insisted on before, the fact that the government is paying off its debt at the rate of $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year has abnormally lowered the rate of interest in this country. Taking these considerations into account the bonds are in reality worth rather more than 2½ per cent. and consequently constitute a really desirable investment, for they are entirely free from any element of risk. So, while it cannot be stated that our credit is any better than the best, it is nevertheless something to be proud of.

Now that it appears obvious that the city under favorable conditions can borrow money at 2½ per cent., it is worth while calculating how much the taxpayers will be saved when the present 5, 6 and 7 per cent. bonds fall due. By 1908, about $29,000,000 7 per cents., about $34,000,000 6 per cents., and about $9,000,000 5 per cents. will have to be paid off. Supposing that the money to do it with can be obtained at 2½ per cent., there will be a saving of $1,205,000 on the 7 per cents., of $1,190,000 on the sixes, and of $225,000 on the fives, making a total of $2,620,000 on all of them. Neither does this represent the net saving. If 2½ per cents. can command a little over par at the present moment, doubtless they can do still better five, ten and twenty years from now. Moreover, some 4 and 3 per cent. stock obligations will be falling due during the same period or a little after, and here again the city can make a small but sure gain. On the other hand, assuming that the new issues will be tax free (for certainly at the present time it was only because of that provision that the city got its money at 2½ per cent), the city will lose whatever income it may get from the tax on the bonds at present outstanding. This, however, cannot be a very important item. All in all, it is likely that the saving will amount to over two and three-quarter millions.

There is one consideration which seems to render Comptroller Myer's success in floating the loan a little noteworthy. Great Britain and the United States are the only two debtors which have got money at or near the same rates New York City got it. Yet both these nations have been in the field paying off their debts—one the more, the other the less. New York, on the contrary, like France and Russia, has been continually adding to her obligations. But France could not borrow at less than 3½ per cent., while we pay only 2½ per cent.

The Fruits of Taxation.

The false economy in municipal management which is so attractive in certain quarters is bearing its inevitable Dead Sea fruit just at present in the good city of Boston.

A few years ago a parsimonious policy in regard to expenditure was commenced there. It found favor. Appropriations were cut down to the lowest figure possible, and necessary improvements were foregone for the sake of a low tax-rate.

The consequence, according to the Boston Commercial Bulletin, is that the city has fallen into a disgraceful condition. The school accommodation is so inadequate that children are denied education. The streets are badly paved and kept and are in poorer condition than for years past; and in some sections the antiquated square timber sewers of backwood days remain in service, rotten and inadequate. It is not surprising to learn that agitation has been commenced for reform. In this case it has taken the unusual shape of a demand for more liberal expenditures.

It is curious to note that the taxes raised per capita in Boston are perhaps the highest in the country. During the current year they will amount to $28.59. In New York they are $25.75, in Philadelphia $13.19, Chicago $15.38, and St. Louis $11.04. There is very little doubt that this heavy per capita tax in the case of Boston is directly due, in great part certainly, to a false, illiberal and narrow policy which regarded "improvements" as waste of money and "expenditure" as extravagance. Boston, in her present condition, is a good text for a sermon for New York.

Here we are inclined at times to be affected with ideas similar to those she held as to the wisdom of generous expenditures. They crop out whenever any improvements are proposed, and men who should know that every betterment made in our street, sewer, water, park or dock system has returned tenfold every dollar that it cost, talk as though the management of a poor-house is the most appropriate standard for the conduct of a great municipality.

A city may correctly be compared to a machine, every improvement in which makes life easier and pleasanter. A city with inadequate docks; inferior streets, which delay traffic and increase the cost of transportation; slow and expensive transit facilities that consume time and money; deficient parks whereby the health of the community suffers, with the consequence that its capacity for work decreases; inferior police service, rendering life and property insecure; insufficient and badly conducted schools, causing a low standard of intelligence—is simply an inefficient social machine. Life is carried on in such a place at greater cost than it might be; and the community not only obtains smaller results from its labor but suffers in competition with more wisely-conducted rivals.

Those things which the "average" and especially the "practical" man cannot see or calculate it is difficult to make him believe. "What benefit do I derive," he may ask, "from new parks, for the purchase, making and maintenance of which I am heavily taxed? I shan't visit them perhaps even once in my life. Thousands of men like myself are taxed for these so-called public playgrounds. It's all very well for the city to spend our dollars; but what comes back for them?" Yet these dollars do come back, though in a strange guise, which makes it impossible to calculate them and put them on the credit side of the taxpayer's ledger.

We know that every increase in the skill, education, honesty and diligence of a community increases its prosperity and happiness. Lower the skill in any industry, and the cost of the product to the consumer is increased; crime adds to taxation, disease lessens production, and dishonesty is paid for out of the earnings of the honest. But taxpayers, as a rule, don't think of this; and so, when they find business increasing, due to a larger and richer population, when the cost of living is reduced, when they pay less for their clothes, their furniture and their food, they never stop to think tha beyond all question part of the saving is nothing but their tax-dollars spent for parks, police, sewers and schools that have come back in disguise, as blessings so generally do.

At the present moment, in the City of New York, there are a great many important improvements which should be commenced without delay. Because they have not been made our people are paying from day to day the inevitable tax imposed and collected by Inefficiency. It is paid unconsciously by the public in the shape of a higher cost of living; but it is paid—and paid, too, to the last cent. As an example, take our miserable, crowded, badly-paved streets in the lower part of the city. How much is the tax that they impose? It is impossible to calculate it exactly; but we may be certain that the excessive wear and tear of vehicles and the greater amount of wages paid to thousands of drivers who, were it not for delays caused by the congested state of traffic, could accomplish much more work in a day than they do, is paid for in full by the consumer. Our schools are inadequate and inefficient; our police force is so insufficient that citizens on certain streets pay a sort of private tax to maintain "watchmen;" our streets are so badly cleaned that this essential part of the duty of the municipality is done in some localities by private enterprise. Our courts are incommodious, and delays of justice result. We need better docks, at least another bridge over the East River, a deeper channel in the harbor (though this is a matter for action on the part of the national government) and commodious rapid transit from one end of the island to the other.

In all these and other matters our city is far from being the efficient machine it might and should be. To remedy this we need a much more liberal and broader policy in the future than has prevailed in the past. Parsimonious cavil at all expenditures for improvements should cease. The present demands it; the destiny of the city demands it. And the real estate interest, above all others, should use its voice and influence to bring about this change in the management of the municipality.

Many of those who agree in general with the foregoing may say the adoption of the policy advocated would be unwise until our city government is purer and more efficient than at present. It may be so. Jobbery and inefficiency is directly and indirectly a tax on the people; but the remedy, however, is plain, and lies with them. Take our city departments out of politics.

Street Railways.

Less control has been reserved over the operation of street railways in the United States than in any other country where industrial development has attained a like degree of advancement, and it may be said also that in none of these other countries are such corporations so inefficiently managed as in our own. Many of our large cities, like New York, Minneapolis and St. Paul have reserved practically no right of control over street railways; others, such as Baltimore and New Orleans, have retained the right of purchasing the track, cars and depots of companies at the expiration of a specified number of years; or, as Philadelphia, grant charters of unlimited duration, with retained powers of purchase at any time. This power reserved over the corporate existence of street companies is, however, found to be of but slight if of any advantage whatever to municipalities. In many of our cities charters are granted for such long periods of years that these limitations on their duration do not serve to guard any rights which citizens of the present generation may possess against the operations of these monarchs of the street. What possible advantage is it to the citizens of Chicago at the present time that in seventy-five years certain of the charters of its street-car companies expire? or what present demands of the people of San Francisco are the street-car companies of that city bound to respect, whose charters continue in force until the year 1933? Even franchises granting privileges of the street for only a short period of years have in fact left little control in the hands of municipalities, for the companies are able to bring such an influence to bear upon the incumbent city officials by means of the political power which they wield as to secure the continuation of their charters on about such terms as they see fit to demand. As an example of how this works take the case of the City Passenger Railway of Baltimore, the charter of which expires this year. According to the ordinance granting the franchise, the Mayor and City Council have the privilege at any time, within two years after the expiration of the charter, of purchasing the tracks, cars, etc., of the company; but it is still further provided that if they do not avail themselves of this opportunity the company continues to hold the privileges of the street on the same terms as now for another period of fifteen years. No action has been taken thus far towards securing this property. Nor is there the slightest indication that any will be taken. Strange as it may seem, the present Mayor in his recent message did not even allude to the fact that the charter expires this year, and so far as there is any means of ascertaining, no mention whatever has been made of the matter in the City Council. The press, too, has guarded the secret so carefully that it is doubtful if many citizens of Baltimore outside of the stockholders of the company and the city officials really know that the charter expires. This line, if bought up by the city and leased at auction would easily bring double the yearly revenue into the city treasury that is now paid by this company. A member of the Tax Commission of that city, after making an investigation, estimated that this line could and should pay at the very least 25 per cent. of its gross receipts for the privilege of the public street which it acquires, whereas now it is taxed but 9 per cent. on its gross yearly earnings. An excellent reason for this silence on the part of the city officials is found in the political influence which this company exercises. It is no longer a secret that a great part of the patronage of at least one street car company of that city is placed at the disposal of the local authorities, that passes are generously distributed among the heads of departments, and that political preference has been recently made the basis of the selection of even car stable sweepers. What is this if not an evident desire on the part of these corporations to silence official opposition?

Judging from the extensions of the duration of charters which have been recently granted by a number of our cities—as for instance of all charters in San Francisco in 1883 from ten to fifty years—it would seem that street-car corporations were having a controlling influence in the affairs of city politics throughout the country.

In London charters are granted only upon application to the Board of Trade, which body determines the conditions of the charter, and with the consent of the local authority in which the proposed line is to be projected. Street railways in that city are thus placed outside of local politics. A second advantage held by London over cities in the United States is in the privilege which it has reserved of purchasing all lines at short periods of every seven years after the expiration of the first charters, which are usually granted for a longer period. The city secures the property at the then actual value of the plant without any payment for compulsory sales, good-will, or future profits.

In Berlin the lines of all street companies come into possession of the city at the expiration of stated periods of years, the rolling stock to be purchased by the local authorities at a fair valuation—a system far preferable to any in common use in this country.

The system of controlling street cars in Glasgow (Scotland), has been pronounced by a careful investigation the best ever devised. There the street railways are owned by the city and operated with the view of yielding a revenue. The city constructed in 1871 a complete tramway system and leased it to a private company upon the condition that it should pay interest and sinking fund charges to wipe out the cost of laying the lines, and should pay a certain fixed rental for every mile in use. At the expiration of the lease in 1894 the City of Glasgow will be in possession of a vast tramway system which has not cost the citizens a single cent. Tramway fares have been reduced in Glasgow to two cents a mile—one-half the fare elsewhere—and morning and evening cars are run for workingmen for one cent fares. The example set by Glasgow is worthy of imitation in the United States, for our street railways would thus be placed, not outside of politics perhaps, but on a higher plane, subject to the control of the people instead of private greed; and, further, could be operated to yield a large revenue to the city, which would relieve the heavy load now imposed upon real estate and other classes of property. Manchester, Birmingham, and other English towns have followed the example of Glasgow, and worked their lines with profit. The cable railway operated in connection with the Brooklyn Bridge—the only line under public control in the United States—is one of the best managed of any in this country.

The municipalization of street railways in the United States would be attended with great difficulties, and it is doubtful if such a change could be brought about at once in many of our cities. for while a few may have reserved the privilege of purchasing private lines at the present time, the legal ability is often withheld by State, constitutional or legislative restrictions upon their credit, or, as has been seen in the case of Baltimore, the municipal authorities are under the thumb of private street-car corporations, which practically dictate in what manner the lines shall be operated.

A plan similar to the one recently adopted in New York is the most practicable at the present in this country; that all street-car franchises should be sold at public auction to the company who will give the largest percentage of gross receipts for a short period of years, say fifteen years, the local authority having the right at the expiration of this period to purchase the plant of the company at its market value, no payment to be made for good-will, future profits, etc.

The New York daily newspapers, with the exception of the Star, have formed a "trust." Having practically got rid of competition the first step of the combination has been to advance the price of the Sunday issues to five cents per copy. They may go further and have pooling arrangements on "ads," allowing, what we may call, differentials. These press combinations are nothing new. The Associated Press is really a trust, as the object of the organization is to save expense by telegraphing the news for a group of papers instead of each one being put to the expense of a staff of correspondents in every news centre. This newspaper combination will not affect saving at all; the intention is purely and simply to raise prices to consumers. This they can do with impunity, for it is a long and difficult process to start a paying daily paper in New York. They are justified in doing as they have done, just as the Sugar Trust or the Standard Oil Company is justified in making as much as possible; but we do not see how in the future the Times, World or Herald can have anything to say against trusts or any business combination which involves the exclusion of competition and the raising of prices.

Our Prophetic Department.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATOR—Do you approve, Sir Oracle, of the forthcoming celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the putting into effect of the American Constitution.

SIR ORACLE—Not in the form in which it is to be done. The men who framed that constitution were strong and wise, and are justly held in high esteem. The work they accomplished was meritorious; but it does not seem to me that parades and street shows are the proper way to do them honor. THE RECORD AND GUIDE was right when years ago it recommended the holding of a national convention this year so as to make our fundamental law as suitable for the next century as that of 1789 was for the past century. That would have been a worthy way to have commemorated the adoption of the present American Constitution.

C. C.—But you have pointed out frequently that it would be impossible to make any material changes in our fundamental law. Our interests are so vast and varied that novelties of any kind excite intense opposition. The lawyers who are our rulers are adverse to new ways of doing things; hence, if a national convention met, no matter how perfect an instrument might be formulated it would certainly be voted down. This was almost the fate of the first constitution; and its adoption was partly a trick, partly an accident.

SIR O.—Nevertheless, an attempt ought to be made to bring our constitution into harmony with the age in which we live; wise amendments and simplified machinery might be adopted under the pressure of some calamity. Our civil war greatly improved the theory of working the present constitution.

C. C.—Is not the excellent working of our institutions largely due to the fact that lawyers have generally the control of affairs?

SIR O.—It must be admitted that the legal fraternity have made a good record, in view of the fact that they have almost monopolized every position of honor, trust or influence within the gift of the nation. Our Presidents, Cabinet Ministers, Governors, Ambassadors, Members of Congress and State legislators, have been recruited almost entirely from the lawyer caste. That we have thriven, notwithstanding that fact, says a great deal for exclusive lawyer sway.

C. C.—Yet Edmund Burke pointed out that one cause of the failure of the French Revolution was that its national conventions and legislative chambers were recruited mainly from the country attorneys of rural France. It is complained in England that with the spread of democratic ideas more lawyers are being returned to Parliament, to the evident deterioration of that body. A recent publication gives the following facts:

The 264 professional men in the United States House of Representatives consist of:

Lawyers engaged in practice	220
Doctors	7
Editors	12
Ministers	5
Professional politicians	18
Labor delegates	2
Total	264

Of the 20 Representatives whom the State of Illinois sends to Congress no less than 16 are practicing lawyers. Ohio likewise furnishes 16 lawyers out of a total of 21 Representatives; 18 of Pennsylvania's 28 Representatives are active members of the legal profession; 9 of the 11 Congressmen from Kentucky are practicing lawyers, as are also 11 of the 34 Representatives of the State of New York. The Representatives mentioned under the head of lawyers include only those who have described themselves in the Congressional Directory as being engaged in the active practice of their profession. In every case where a lawyer or professional man is described as being also interested in agriculture, trade, or industry, he has been included under one of these three headings.

Of the 76 members of the United States Senate no less than 56 are lawyers and professional men; 9 are engaged in industry, 6 in trade and commerce, 4 in agriculture, and 1 as an editor.

C. C.—Why not lawyers to rule us as well as the followers of other professions or pursuits?

SIR O.—Because a dominant caste is always a misfortune for any nation. When kings ruled they made excellent laws for monarchs, but which were hurtful to the rest of the community. So with nobles and priests. Now, in this country we have too many laws and too much litigation; but still I am not disposed to quarrel with the legal fraternity, for they have done good work for the nation. There are two classes of legal minds—one is possessed of the compromising, statesmanlike disposition to meet emergencies in a business-like way and to accept the inevitable. The Supreme Judge Commission, which selected Hayes instead of Tilden for President, doubtless were wrong as to the fact involved in the case, but they saved the country from civil war, which was the main point desired. Then there are other lawyers who are ruled by the letter and not the spirit of the law—such a body as our State Court of Appeals. On purely technical grounds it has nullified the work of thirty years to give us an Arcade road on Broadway. Some years ago the Legislature passed a law giving the Mayor the right to remove the head of a department after a "hearing." This same Court of Appeals rendered a ridiculous opinion that this hearing involved a trial, and the Mayor's office was actually turned into a court. It will be remembered that Mayor Cooper was brutally insulted by a pack of lawyers who, under this decision, defended a delinquent city official whom the Mayor was trying to remove. The press is very much to blame for not applying the rules of common sense to the rules of our courts.

C. C.—But we are wandering from our topic; you do not see much chance of any change in our present constitution.

SIR O.—No, unless it be by pressure, unless it be forced upon us by great national catastrophes.

North New York's Progress.

To what extent, if any, is that part of the city comprised in the 23d and 24th Wards losing ground owing to the absence of cheap and rapid access to and from the main centres of the metropolis? Are Brooklyn, Jersey City, Staten Island, and other outlying towns and cities benefiting at the expense of these two upper wards?

It is very easy to answer the first question. There is no doubt that the length of time occupied in getting to and from North New York and the City Hall and other central localities is the greatest drawback to the increase in population in the 23d and 24th Wards, and in the value of properties within their boundaries. A reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE found that there were several ways of getting to Fordham or Tremont. The time and cost of each was as follows:

1. Manhattan Road to 130th street, 5 cents; Suburban Rapid Transit Road to 169th street, 5 cents; horse-car beyond, 5 cents; total cost, 15 cents. Time to Tremont (say at 3d avenue and 177th street), about 80 minutes from City Hall, including delays of changes.

2. Same route; but in place of taking Suburban Road to 169th street and horse-car beyond, take horse-car at Third Avenue Bridge to 177th street, for 6 cents; total cost, 11 cents. Time to Tremont, 1½ hour.

3. Manhattan Road to Grand Central Depot, 5 cents; train on Harlem Road to Tremont, 12 cents; total cost, 17 cents. Time from City Hall to Tremont Depot (177th street), 55 minutes, making close connections.

It will thus be seen that a resident up that way will, by the first route, pay $1.80 per week for car fares in getting to and from business, and spend two hours and forty minutes each day in traveling, or sixteen hours per week. By the second route he will expend $1.32 per week and travel three hours each day, or eighteen hours per week; and by the third route the expense will be $2.04 per week, which might be reduced in commuting on the Harlem Road to $1.40.

A consideration of these facts will at once show why the 23d and 24th Wards do not increase in population much more rapidly, and why Brooklyn and other places are forging ahead and acquiring additional inhabitants, many of whom would prefer living in New York if the facilities of access were as great. In this connection it will be seen how necessary improved rapid transit facilities on Manhattan Island are to the trans-Harlem wards, as well as to the wards south of the Harlem River.

It would be difficult, without a thorough canvass of the districts, to ascertain, even approximately, how many people have left the 23d and 24th Wards to live in Brooklyn and other cities where the time and cost in getting to the City Hall and Wall street is so much less; but a talk with a few real estate agents may serve to show that those wards are not receiving as many new comers as if they were provided with cheap and rapid transit to our down-town business centres.

James L. Wells, who knows as much as anyone about the trans-Harlem wards, was seen. He was rather noncommittal on the question of rapid transit, and he thought those wards were bound to increase in population and in value steadily. "Rapid transit or no rapid transit, New York is New York," he said, "and people are going to live in this city in preference to crossing the East and North Rivers."

"Have you found, in your experience during the past few years, that many people have left the 23d and 24th Wards to reside in Brooklyn, Jersey City and elsewhere?"

"Very few," was the reply. On being pressed by the reporter Mr. Wells said he recollected three cases during the past few months; the first was that of a man who married a Brooklyn girl and went to live over there; the second went to Brooklyn because his brother lived there, and both wanted to be together; and the third was an engineer who went to Brooklyn, owing to his having secured a better position on the "L" road in that city. "These people would have moved in any case," said Mr. Wells.

"Have you any applications from Brooklynites who want to come to New York to live?" asked the reporter.

"Yes, quite a number. We have no less than sixty Brooklynites on our mailing list now who are seeking homes in the upper wards of New York. This looks as though the people on the Brooklyn side are coming to us instead of our going to them."

"Do you find people moving from the down-town wards up to your district?" asked the writer.

"They are coming all the time," was Mr. Wells' reply. "They find that up our way they can rent a comfortable cottage for less than they pay for a tenement or flat in the crowded down-town districts, while they get the advantage of pure country air and a little plot of green around them. Besides, you must recollect that a great many of the people who live north of the Harlem Bridge do not have to go down town, but have their business around 125th street and along the line of 1st, 2d and 3d avenues, between 42d street and Harlem. We are becoming more self-sustaining year by year. There are no less than thirty factories between the Harlem Bridge and 138th street alone. They comprise piano, wood, iron, electrical works, refrigerator, machinery, lumber, drain pipe, and other factories, and one of these alone—the J. L. Mott Iron Works on 3d avenue and 134th street—employs some 1,500 people. Further north there are pottery, paper, feather trimming, skylight, toy, cabinet work, wood working, sanitary material, enamel and other factories. The De La Verne Refrigerator Company is building one of the handsomest docks on the water front at Port Morris, at an estimated cost of $200,000, and it is said that with buildings, land and other improvements they will put $1,000,000 in that place. Other factories are contemplated, and there is no doubt that the population of the two wards will be 100,000 by the time the next census is taken. I don't think any of our people are going to Brooklyn or other nearby cities."

Agent A. K. Murphy, daughter of the late Captain Wm. Jay Murphy, who has been reared in the upper wards, was seen. Miss Murphy is one of the most active amongst the trans-Harlem agents and knows every inch of the ground. She can be seen any day in her buggy inspecting parcels of real estate, and only about a month ago sold a large plot to Banker Kountze for $108,000, a sale that was reported in THE RECORD AND GUIDE at the time. She said: "It is useless to attempt to disguise the fact that our wards are losing ground and that other places are gaining what we ought to be gaining. I have lost, in the last year, about thirty of my best tenants in the 24th Ward, owing to the lack of proper and quick transit to the lower wards of the city. Most of those tenants were business men and were paying from $12 to $40 per month for cottages. Since the Harlem Road has been sinking its tracks the time table is changed almost every day, and there is no certainty about the arrival and departure of trains. I never take the horse-car and elevated road routes to go to the City Hall unless I can help it, for the quickest way to get from Tremont is by the Harlem Road, and I then get to the City Hall in about an hour."

"Of these thirty tenants you speak of, how many moved to Brooklyn and elsewhere?"

"Well," replied the young lady, after some thought; "four I know positively moved to Brooklyn, and one, I think, to Hoboken. Most of the others moved down town, to Harlem, and further south. As to the balance, some may have moved out of the city, but I have no means of telling, as I did not follow them all up closely."

"Have you many applications from Brooklyn people for houses?" asked the reporter.

"Very few," was the reply; "probably not half a dozen. Of course, my office is rather out of the line of general travel, and that, no doubt, accounts for it."

"Did all the tenants you speak of leave on account of the bad transit facilities?"

"Every one," was the reply; "and there is scarcely one who would not come back if we had proper rapid transit. The 23d Ward does not suffer in this respect. One can get from the extreme northern boundary of that ward to the City Hall, by the Suburban and Manhattan roads, in about an hour's time. It is the 24th Ward which suffers, because it has no elevated rapid transit road, due to 3d avenue not being widened north of 170th street."

"Can you offer as cheap houses as are to be obtained in Brooklyn?" asked the writer.

"I think we can," said Miss Murphy. "I have a neat little cottage up our way, which an artist and his wife could occupy and find comfortable enough, for which only $10 a month is asked. It is a six-roomed house, on two full city lots, with a barn attached. There are other cottages that rent for $12, $15 and over, and for $25 a month a family house with all the modern improvements can be hired. I don't think Brooklyn, Jersey City or Staten Island can do better than that. And yet the 24th Ward is not advancing one-quarter as rapidly as it deserves, on account of the length of time and the expense of getting to and from the great business portions of the city."

A storekeeper on Upper 3d avenue was seen. He said: "I don't know of any of my customers who have removed to Brooklyn; but I have two customers who have come here from Brooklyn."

A down-town broker who lives in Brooklyn, and who has considerable knowledge of the 23d and 24th Wards, said: "I find that people over the Harlem would rather suffer any inconvenience they may have from want of good rapid transit than go to Brooklyn to live. There is a feeling on the part of New Yorkers when they once live in the metropolis which keeps them there. They hate to cross the water. They want to feel that they are on terra firma when they come from the theatre or from visiting their friends at night, and they don't want to have to cross the river. I think this feeling keeps people on Manhattan Island or on the line of it. Besides, one has often to travel a long distance in a horse-car in Brooklyn or Jersey City to get home. I do think, however, that if people could get up town more quickly a great many who live in Brooklyn and other nearby cities and towns would be tempted to come to live in New York."

Inquiry at Howard Badgley's up-town office shows that there have been no removals to Brooklyn from the upper west side between 140th and 180th streets, nor have any Brooklynites moved up there. Brooklyn people frequently inquire about house rents, but as they cannot get anything as reasonable as in the City of Churches, they don't come over to New York. The agent says that they all show a desire to get to the Metropolis, even if they have to pay a little higher rent, but the rents are more than they can afford. Several Brooklyn parties have stated that they bought lots over there within the past five or six years, but if they had bought in upper New York instead they would have made two and three times as much profit on their investment, the rise having been greater in New York than in Brooklyn.

A clerk in a real estate office on the west side, near 86th street, said: "I live in Morrisania, and it costs me 10 cents to get here. I take the train from there to 86th street, and then walk across the transverse road to the office. If I commute for a year it will only cost me 7 cents a fare, but I can't afford to plank down a year's commutation. I get to the office in thirty-five minutes."

Residents on Staten Island pay about 9 cents per trip by purchasing a dollar's worth of tickets at a time, to get to the north and east shores, and it takes from twenty-five minutes to forty-five minutes from the Battery to reach the different villages and towns on those shores. Residents at Yonkers can get there in forty-five minutes via the express trains on the "L" road and the Northern road, and it only costs 15 cents through fare, including the Elevated, by purchasing $15 worth of tickets. Residents in Brooklyn can reach home at from fifteen minutes and upward and at a cost of from 1 cent to 8 cents each way. People in Jersey City can get home at 3 cents to 8 cents fare each way in from fifteen to fifty minutes from the New York side, and they will soon have an elevated road. It costs Newark people, by annual commutation, less than 9 cents each way, and they get to New York in from twenty to thirty minutes after leaving the depot. Other places around New York show an equal superiority in cost and time saved, as compared with the 23d and 24th Wards.

The Block bill for future indexing has passed the Assembly. It will probably be reported during the coming week in the Senate and passed shortly afterwards. The bill goes to the Upper House without any amendments, but it is understood that some immaterial ones will probably be tacked on before the measure goes to the Governor for signature.

Russell Sage, in a recent talk with a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, said: "We have plans ready for the construction of a branch elevated road along West street to connect with the Pennsylvania and Jersey Central roads, the various ferries along the river and the steamship piers. If the city authorities will not oppose us we will build the branch at once. It would be a great convenience to New Yorkers going out of town, as well as to out-of-town people who come to New York. The Pennsylvania road is very anxious for such a connection, as it would stop people from having to cross West street to get to the elevated road."

A decision made recently in a case before the Court of Common Pleas, as to the commission of real estate brokers, is interesting. The plaintiff, a real estate broker, sued for a commission of one-half of 1 per cent. He was employed to sell a house for not less than $49,500; the agreement being that in case either he himself or the owner made the sale he should receive a commission of 1 per cent., whereas, if any other broker sold it, his commission should be one-half of 1 per cent. On this ground, he made endeavors to sell the house. Later the owner disposed of his property to a man for $45,000, an offer which had been standing for some time previous to the making of his agreement with the plaintiff. Curiously enough the decision was for the plaintiff, in face of the fact that his endeavors had not in any way tended to bring about the sale. In the opinion of two lawyers, published in the New York Law Journal, this decision should be reversed.

The new parks are already policed, but not adequately. At present it does not seem that there is going to be any particular hurry about improving them, so as to make them attractive to the people. In fact the people do not know the character of this new treasure which they possess, and the probability is that they will not know for some years. The only improvement in early prospect is that on the parade ground site, for which $50,000 has been set aside by the Park Department. But this will not complete the work, and the Mayor does not favor any further outlays for public improvements of any kind, as he says we are now dangerously near the legal limit of expenditure. Of course, Rome was not built in a day, and we may have to wait five to ten years before the splendid system of trans-Harlem parks is properly developed. But we would rather have it five than ten; and the city authorities, if they wish, can do a good deal towards accomplishing an early improvement of these new parks.

The Park Department is making rather slow progress with the cross-town road through the Central Park. The sum of $12,000 was appropriated for building the road some three months ago, and not a rail has yet been put in the ground, although it was expected that the road would be in running order by May 1. Inquiry at the Department shows that the specifications are not yet ready, and that they have to go through the usual red-tape processes. It will probably be well into May before the bids are advertised for. Why does not the Department hurry things up a little? This is an improvement which the people need essentially to get from one side of the city to another, and it should have been looked after in preference to a number of minor park matters. Chief Engineer Kellogg says the road can be built in less than fifty days when once commenced. Various specimens of rail have been sent into the Department for the transverse line. The one to be selected will be flush with the paving stones, so that the road will not be ruined for driving purposes. The Madison Avenue Company will very likely get control of the lease, and, if so, they will run it in conjunction with their 4th avenue cars, and across to 10th avenue or the Riverside Drive. Engineer Kellogg, when asked if the transverse road would be open for public use by August, did not care to predict that it would. But if the Department will hurry itself the road certainly should be running by that time.

Second-Hand Journalism.

Tuesday's Herald had the following little editorial:

The Mail and Express pathetically pleaded the cause of Jay Gould and his little loop at Battery Park yesterday.

By the way, its Scripture quotation for the same issue included the injunction, "Be ye therefore wise as serpents."

Editor Shepard has a rare faculty for choosing appropriate verses.

The Herald might have added that the Mail and Express, in this article, copied some of the interviews, word for word, which appeared in THE RECORD AND GUIDE three weeks ago. The talks with President Orr, of the Produce Exchange; Donald Mackay, ex-President of the Stock Exchange; F. B. Thurber and John Claflin, which were given to a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE and printed in this paper, were published in the Mail and Express without the source of their publication being given. So that the interviews which appeared in THE RECORD AND GUIDE on March 30th last were published in the Mail and Express of April 15th as though they were talks with a reporter of the latter paper. Is this honest journalism? The Sun, at least, had the honesty of adding the foot note "advt." to a similar article. The Mail and Express not only did not do this, but appropriated the brains and the matter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, without giving the latter paper credit therefor. An appropriate biblical quotation for THE RECORD AND GUIDE to use, under the circumstances would be, "Thou shalt not steal."

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

The Committee on Legislation met on Tuesday, Constant A. Andrews in the chair.

The principal subject for discussion was the resolution of Mr. Richard Deeves, printed in last week's RECORD AND GUIDE. After considerable debate it was passed and a committee of nine was appointed to call on Mayor Grant to present it. Copies of the resolution were also ordered forwarded to the New York City Senators and Assemblymen at Albany. The resolution was slightly amended so as to allow the engineers to be appointed by the Mayor not only to inquire into the advisability of granting the loop in Battery Park, but of allowing an elevated road third track to be built where necessary. The resolution advises that if the engineers think the loop will increase the accommodations of the public, the strip shall not be sold, but leased to the Manhattan Road for a term of years, at the end of which the city shall have power to take down the structure. Among the speakers was Mr. O. B. Potter. The committee also passed a resolution advising that any rapid transit bill passed should not prohibit a rapid transit road being built on Broadway, between 33d and 59th streets, either overhead or underground.

Notes and Items.

The Mayor has vetoed the resolution of the Board of Aldermen providing for the pavement of 89th street, from West End avenue to the Riverside Drive, on the ground that, although the street is graded and sewered, it is not yet provided with gas and water mains.

The bill appropriating $250,000 for improving the approaches to and the boundaries of Morningside Park, has passed the Assembly and been favorably reported in the Senate.

Work has been resumed on the Hudson River Tunnel, the company having succeeded in borrowing the £550,000 necessary.

The Van Cott bill permitting New York City to appropriate $300,000 for buildings for a zoological collection in Central Park was passed by the Assembly on Thursday.

Comptroller Myers says that the owners of property condemned for the Pelham Bay Park who disputed the city's claim to the riparian rights attached to the property are disposed to abandon their claim.

Forthcoming Tax Sales.

The next sale of property for unpaid city taxes will take place at the Court House on Monday, June 10th, at noon. The sale will be conducted by the Bureau for the Collection of Assessments and Arrears of Taxes and Assessments, and the real estate to be sold will include properties on which the taxes have not been paid for the years 1883, 1884 and 1885, and for which the Croton water rents are due for the years 1882, 1883 and 1884. The sale will be one of the largest ever held and the number of parcels on which there is a default numbers 4,416. These are distributed all over the city. The 12th Ward leads with 898 parcels, the 24th Ward comes next with 710, and the 23d follows with 627; the 2d Ward parcels come at the bottom of the list, being only 16 in number.

The amount of taxes due on each of the numerous parcels runs from one or two dollars to thousands of dollars. Some of the largest are as follows:

The Running Trap Discussion.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I have lately read a communication to your paper, written by one "Medicus," in regard to the fresh air inlet and the running trap. Having given the subject of the fresh air inlet considerable attention of late, and having come to the conclusion that its merits are decidedly conspicuous, despite the occasionally outpuffs of bad air, I strongly disagree with the above writer in discontinuing its use till later ingenuity devises some means of venting the soil pipe without an inlet as well as it is now done with it, or some means is found by which the occasional puffs of foul air are checked. "Medicus" says if a direct circulation from the main sewer to the top of each house were established all gases would be rapidly carried high above human habitation. But is not this the same principle? Instead of bad air belching from the fresh air inlet, it would come out of the man holes, and would not this be using the soil pipes of a few houses as vent pipes for the whole sewer? I agree with him that the present system is defective, but only in one point—that is, in the outpuffs of foul air from the fresh air inlet, which at times is an outlet caused by the rushing of water down the soil pipe. This trouble it seems to me to be easier to remedy than it would be to find a different system which vents so perfectly. I should like to hear of the experience of others, if they find any other defects in ventilation, with the fresh air inlet and vent at the roof, and how they get over the trouble I have experienced—that is, if they do obviate it. X.

BOSTON, March 30, 1889.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I notice in your issue of the 2d inst. a reply from "Medicus," in reply to my note in a previous issue, regarding the "ventilating trap." Now, Medicus may be an expert on ventilation and trap work, but he admits the suggestions I made of arranging a deep cell or pit below the walk to be a good thing, but claims the odor from the filthy traps is unhealthy. Where are our paid inspectors? I have seen within a few days the street entrance to a ventilating trap in one of our prominent hotels tightly closed; also one attached to a home of a prominent physician, near 5th avenue and 49th street, so tightly closed with dirt I could not force it open. There I could see where it may be injurious, but that physician is very careless of his own protection. Should we condemn its use even if many are careless. No doubt our whole sewerage system is bad enough. Our sewers smell terribly at times, and those living on the "east side" get the full benefit of the backing up when we have an easterly storm, while the best house trap can't keep out the odor. Our sewers should, no doubt, ventilate out and over our roofs. Who knows the sickness caused by foul gases, and caused by inhaling foul sewer gases especially, which we can't avoid under the present system. The sewers of Paris are models of cleanliness; but who could go down our street sewers and come up without being covered with filth? This is a serious matter with the growth of our city, with constant pouring in of steam, and Medicus does right in agitating the matter, and with your valuable assistance much might be done to improve the sewerage system. Thanking you for your kind consideration, I am as ever yours truly, REAL ESTATE.

Real Estate Department.

This has been rather a slow week. Very little has been done in the brokers' and agents' offices. The holidays, both in Hebrew and Christian circles, have had much to do with this. At auction the offerings have been quite numerous, principally of vacant lots, but in many instances the bidding has been by parties in interest. This was especially noticeable on Thursday, when the Knapp estate on the upper west side was offered, as well as the property of the Metropolitan Real Estate Association and the Poe lots, a good part of which were knocked down to interested parties. It is therefore unnecessary to expatiate on the prices obtained, as they do not form a proper basis for values.

Monday was much more active than usual at the Exchange. The offerings were numerous and the attendance fair. Excepting the foreclosures, which embraced ten new dwellings and flats, few parcels changed hands, for on the public offerings withdrawals and knock-downs to interested parties were quite common. The five-story flat Nos. 84 and 86 Grove street was withdrawn on a bid of $67,500; the dwelling No. 204 East 46th street, on a bid of $9,050; the premises Nos. 138 East 14th and Nos. 135 and 137 East 13th street, part leasehold, were sold for $60,000.

The sales bulletined for Tuesday were exceedingly numerous and some of them very important. There was a very large attendance and the many withdrawals and knock-downs to parties in interest indicate plainly that the demand for such properties as were offered is light, unless the figures at which they are let go are moderate. A plot 42.9x132.4 on the southwest corner of Broadway and 12th street, with four-story buildings renting at $22,976 per annum, was among the best parcels offered. There were only two bidders and the first offer was $250,000. After a short competition the plot was sold at $308,000 to Hoffman Brothers for the Weld estate of Boston. Our readers may remember that the same estate was reported to have purchased the McCreery building on the corner of 11th street some eighteen months ago at $860,000, but the sale was never completed. There is a mortgage for $155,000 on the 12th street corner. A plot on 12th street, east of Broadway; No. 61, 35x28.5x27.8x19.3, with five-story building thereon, was spiritedly bid for and started at $25,000. Offer after offer was made until $40,000 was reached, at which figure it was knocked down to S. De Leeuw. The best bid for "Parepa Hall" on the northeast corner of 3d avenue and 86th street, was $144,500, and as this figure is unsatisfactory it will not change hands. A dwelling on 5th avenue, near 86th street, was withdrawn, as were also two leaseholds on the same avenue at 50th street. In the way of lots, one on 77th street, 325 feet west of Central Park West, was knocked down at $20,600, and the sale of ten others belonging to the estate of John S. Lawrence and situated on the Boulevard and 135th street, did not take place because the lots were previously disposed of at private sale for $38,000 to Benj. P. Fairchild.

The offerings on Wednesday were fair in number and some of them quite important in character. There was a moderate attendance, but somehow or other the bidding was spiritless, and consequently many withdrawals followed. Among the foreclosures was the large dwelling No. 5 East 57th street, 30x100.5, which was sold for $120.000 to Builder Cornelius O'Reilly for Orlando B. Potter. Under the same decree the stable No. 143 East 57th street was also sold, the Equitable Life Assurance Society, plaintiffs, becoming the buyers at $25,000. There is a total of about $160,000 due on the first mortgage foreclosed against the dwelling and stable. This house is one of the two of a similar character which were built by Jose F. De Navarro. He sold No. 3, size 42.5x100.5, to Orlando B. Potter in April, 1888, for $148,000, and traded No. 5, together with the stable No. 143, for Broadway lots with Wm. R. Martin in December, 1886, at $225,000, or $80,000 over and above the figures realized under foreclosure. A three-story store on the Bowery, No. 221, size 22x99, went to W. H. Jackson at $27,750. There were no bids offered for No. 43 Elm street and four tenements at 2d avenue and 98th street, and both were withdrawn. No. 5 Jay street was bid in at $14,800. In the way of lots four on the southeast corner of Madison avenue and 120th street, 100.11x75, were sold to Operator Morris Steinhardt at $37,400. Others on 47th street east of 1st avenue went at $4,700 each, and one on 48th street at $4,850. An adjoining lot on the same street was recently sold at private contract for $6,000. Two parcels of 23d Ward lots were also offered, but the bidding was slack, and the lots were knocked down to interested persons.

Thursday was a busy day on 'Change. Sales were numerous and the attendance fair. The Disbrow estate, comprising city and country parcels, brought a total of $155,475—$117,300 for the city parcels and $38,175 for the out-of-town parcels. The Supreme Court sale of forty-one lots on 10th and 11th and Edgecombe avenues, and 160th and 161st streets, was well attended, although the bidding was slow and the prices realized considered low. A total of $67,725 was realized for the entire property. Shepherd Knapp, the plaintiff, secured twenty-three lots, and J. Romaine Brown eight lots. The sale of eighty lots at Fordham Ridge, opposite Jerome Park, realized a total of $55,695. Many of the lots were secured by interested parties. A sale of twenty-two lots at Fordham, including the Edgar A. Poe cottage, was eagerly watched and brought a total of $17,804. Wm. Fearing Gill bought the cottage with four-and-a-half city lots for $3,487.

On Tuesday, April 23d, Adrian H. Muller & Son will sell, by order of the executor of the estate of William W. Winans, the following valuable improved and unimproved properties: No. 72 Grand street, No. 57 Bayard street, No. 23 Bowery, No. 150 4th street, No. 40 East Broadway (leasehold), and seven lots with building on the southwest corner of 2d avenue and 121st street. Also the following choice parcels of Brooklyn property: Nos. 396, 398, 400 and 402 Kosciusko street, No. 829 Kent avenue and No. 360 Wythe avenue. These properties are well distributed and offer a good opportunity for investors desiring a variety of well-located realty.

On Tuesday April 23d, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell, by order of the executor, the tenement and store at No. 1084 1st avenue, on the northeast corner of 59th street. Also the dwelling at No. 250 East 49th street; the tenement and stores at No. 156 East 118th street; the two-story building with stores at No. 95 (old No. 101) Broome street, adjoining the corner of Sheriff street, and the tenements at No. 346 East 92d street and No. 321 East 59th street.

On Wednesday, April 24th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the dwellings at No. 247 West 18th street and No. 58 East 87th street, the flat at No. 140 West 61st street, the dwelling and store at No. 610 Water street, the four lots on the southeast corner of Madison avenue and 119th street, by order of the executors; the dwelling at No. 117 West 127th street by order of the executor, and the two-story dwellings and lots at Nos. 33 to 37 South 6th street, Brooklyn.

On Wednesday, April 24th, Bernard Smyth will sell, by order of the Supreme Court, nine lots on the northwest corner of 155th street and St. Nicholas avenue. Five of these lots face on 155th street, and are 25x99.11 each, while the four on St. Nicholas avenue are with one exception 25.11x65.3 each; on two of the 155th streets lots there is a three-story and basement frame house. These lots are well situated, being within a stone's-throw of the 10th avenue cable road, and consequently are easily accessible. Bloeth, to cost $5,600; a two-story frame dwelling, 22x42, on the west side of Linwood street, 225 north of Arlington avenue, for Michael Roeslein, to cost $2,500; a similar dwelling, 20x42, on the south side of Greene avenue, 230 west of Knickerbocker avenue for Anton Karnein, to cost $2,500, and a coal-pocket, 23x66, on the east side of Schenck street, 125 north of Park avenue, for Francis E. Firth.

Horace G. Knapp, of New York, has in progress the designs for a handsome residence to be erected on 3d street, between 8th and 9th avenues, for Jose Maseras. It will be 20x50 in size, with a 10x12 extension. The front will be of stone in the first story, with brick and terra cotta above. The cost has not yet been estimated.

Out of Town.

ELIZABETH, N. J.—Clarence W. Smith, of New York, will prepare plans for a three-story frame cottage, 30x45, which J. W. Mackintosh is soon to build at this place, at a cost of about $8,000. It will be finished in hardwoods, and be heated either with hot water or hot air. The exterior, above the first story, will be faced with shingle. Mr. Smith has also plans for alterations to be made in the residence of A. F. Young, at a cost of $2,500. A story is to be added, and an addition to be made on the side.

LONG BRANCH, N. J.—There is more activity in building at this place this season than there has been for several years past. Norman L. Munro is just completing twenty cottages at Norwood Park, for which James Cloughly has the contract. He is now erecting ten barns and stables, at a cost of $15,000. Contractor Joseph Robbins is at work on two handsome cottages at Elberon, for Philadelphia parties, and three cottages on 6th avenue and one on 5th avenue, besides a large hotel on Ocean avenue for a Mrs. Bradley, of New York. Col. C. V. N. Wilson is erecting three cottages at North Long Branch, and remodeling three others at Monmouth Beach. Contractor Tappin is engaged on four houses and a hotel for Howard Stokes, of this place.

MONTCLAIR, N. J.—Plans for St. Luke's Church are being prepared by R. H. Robertson, of New York. It will be of stone and will cost about $70,000. Charles D. Marvin, of New York, is engaged upon plans for a three-story brick and terra cotta office building which is to be erected by the First Presbyterian Church Society at a cost of about $15,000. Eight offices will be provided on each of the upper floors and the first story will be occupied by stores. The building will measure 50x50 feet and the front will be in the Romanesque style.

NEW BRIGHTON, S. I.—Hamilton & Mersereau, of New York, have plans for some alterations and additions which Alexander D. Shaw will make to his frame residence. Hardwood floors and new fire-places are to be provided and verandas and greenhouses will be built. The cost has not been estimated.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Geo. Edward Harding & Co., of New York, are preparing plans for a handsome cottage, which is to be erected in this city, at a cost of about $7,000.

ORANGE, N. J.—Richard M. Colgate will build a handsome villa here from plans by R. H. Robertson.

RIDGEFIELD PARK, N. J.—Henry Huber, of New York City, has engaged Architect Horace G. Knapp to draw the plans for an attractive two-story and attic cottage, 20x40, to be built at this place, at a cost of $2,000.

Special Notices.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of the English and American Mortgage Company, Limited, the agents of which in this city are A. W. McLaughlin & Co., No. 146 Broadway. This company offers for sale first mortgages on improved Western real estate, paying 7 per cent. interest. No loans are made for over 50 per cent. of the company's valuation. Capital is now flowing to our Western States. Massachusetts has $100,000,000 secured in Western mortgages, while Englishmen have invested £9,000,000 in the same way. Good security for 7 per cent. interest is difficult to find, and when found should attract capitalists. A. W. McLaughlin & Co., the agents, also take care of estates and do a general brokerage business.

The firm of Wilkinson & Banta, No. 250 Water street, expired by limitation on the first of March. The firm is succeeded by the Abram Cox Stove Company, with Mr. W. B. Wilkinson as manager. This house will continue to sell the "Model Novelty Range," which has been found so useful by house-owners, especially in Brooklyn. It is particularly popular among the owners of flats and apartments where economy of space is necessary; and from this popularity it is quite obvious that it has met a long-felt want in the community.

Contractors' Notes.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Parks until 2 o'clock on Friday, April 26th, for the alteration and repairing of the building of the Metropolitan Museum of Arts, and fitting the same with an entire incandescent electric light plant.

How to Draw a Contract.

An invaluable work for all dealers in realty is found in "The Guide to Buyers and Sellers of Real Estate," by Counsellor Geo. W. Van Siclen. This pamphlet, of only fifty-six pages, offers a complete solution of all the complicated questions that arise in drawing contracts. It discusses questions of titles, liens, curtesy and dower rights, deeds, searches, etc., and contains forms of contracts and judicial decisions which, with other general information, will go far towards making every man his own lawyer. It tells all about fixtures, assumption of mortgages, apportionment of rents, description of property, terms of payment, damages for failure to carry out contracts, information on setting aside contracts for mistake or fraud, and forms of deeds. Published by THE RECORD AND GUIDE, 191 Broadway. Price 50 cents.

Strong, neat binders, especially made for THE RECORD AND GUIDE can be obtained at this office. Those of our subscribers who wish to keep a file of the numbers in a compact form and in regular sequence, can have the binder delivered at their office on receipt of order by postal card. The price is one dollar.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—On the market for Common Hards matters remain fairly uniformed; there is an absence of radical changes in favor of either buyers or sellers. It is evident, however, that there is some little disappointment among receivers, and there is not the growth of strength and enhancement of value some had calculated upon as quite likely to develop by this time. A great many bricks have gone into consumption and there is still a fair outlet open, but demand lacks haste and anxiety and affords no stimulus. The greatest drawback, however, has been found in the volume of supply, and ordinarily well posted operators confess their astonishment over the unexpected magnitude of the arrivals, which toward the end of the week commenced to have a slightly depressing influence and made it a very difficult matter to realize former rates. Indeed, while $8.37½ might be considered a possibility it would only show on something extra attractive, and $8.25 was nearer the top figure, with $8.00 the most popular, and a great deal of custom preparing to sacrifice a little on quality in order to prevent exceeding the latter figure. Advances from primary points report that moulding has not become quite general, and in a few cases fires have been started in the kilns, but it is predicted that it will be well on toward the 1st of June before new brick can become plenty enough to have any important influence upon the market. A gentleman in the trade who has recently made a careful survey calculates that about a week ago there was in the neighborhood of forty million old stock on hand among manufacturers, and that by the 25th of May not over eight, or at the outside ten million new brick can be marketed, and with an average consumption of two million per day it does not look as though there would be too many. Recent free arrivals he does not think tend to show any error in his count, but simply a change in locality of stock. Pales have been somewhat irregular, and while some very nice lots are reported at $3.62½@3.75 per M, about $3.50 is the average top, and undesirable stock sold lower still.

CEMENT.—Domestic grades are selling fairly at former rates, and the rather fuller arrivals of foreign this month do not appear to have had any unfavorable influence. Full previous quotations are generally named and a firm tone quoted. Recent bids solicited for government work were found upon opening to fully sustain regular market valuations, and in some instances ranged a little higher. Accounts from abroad are sustaining.

GLASS.—Demand for window has been somewhat irregular, but, on the whole, very fair, and not much complaint can be heard. Supplies seem to be under good management and not over-abundant, with sufficient harmony of action among sellers to prevent a disturbance of values. Plate also finds average attention and at steady rates throughout. Advices from Pittsburgh indicate movements tending to still further concentrate and control the production of American goods.

HARDWARE.—Although there is a measure of disappointment in the force of demand thus far developed, the season on the whole has been a very good one and promises are still cheerful for most staple descriptions of builders' hardware. Some sections of the country in particular are backward, but it is expected will be heard from in due time. No important changes in price announced, and the market generally has a steady tone.

LATH.—There has been some more or less close figuring during the week, as the arrivals were pretty full, and buyers naturally sought to obtain advantage from that circumstance. They did not make a very great success, however, especially on choice and desirable stock, and the latest sales reported were at $2.25 per M, the same rate ruling at the date of our last. Some faulty slab stock is understood to have sold lower, and round wood down to $2.10, rather more of the latter coming forward than expected; but there seems to be a feeling that all will be worked off, and if reports of light amounts afloat be true a healthy, uniform market preserved.

LIME.—There is nothing but arrivals from the eastward, both Rockland and St. Johns, although a little fuller in quantity have, without serious delay, been placed; and the same report is made regarding the State product, with all receivers claiming a steady, uniform market in the matter of prices. The eastern make continues under good management, and with other localities calling for supplies manufacturers feel a little independent of this market.

LUMBER.—Our local market does not present a great many decidedly new or specially noteworthy features to which attention has not before been called. Consumption is going on apace, with more or less tendency to increase both as to volume and the variety of goods called for, and the effect of this healthy feature is more or less pronounced throughout the entire situation. Dealers, however, seem to hold themselves in restraint very well, and it is only force of necessity that induces them to submit to any extreme views. Indeed, the speculative spirit is really very light thus far, and the business confined to natural legitimate channels, a feature that while it really gives solidity to the general market is unquestionably somewhat annoying to a portion of the trade. Offerings either for early or distant delivery are somewhat more plentiful, but most sellers appear to have very exalted notions as to the paying capacity of this market.

Eastern Spruce is the one particular grade over which some of the most prominent "bull" talk may be heard. Consumption promises well in most quarters and in some instances very full, which of itself is a good starter, and thus far has been assisted by comparatively moderate offerings, the occasional bunches of stock coming to hand having only temporary influence. Receivers, too, insist that the annual story about scarcity of logs, backwardness of the new cut, and high transportation charges are all dead sure this year, and that it must be a sellers' market throughout. Substitutes are likely to be found, indeed are already under engagement to some extent, but there is certain work for which spruce is sure to be taken, so long as it can be had at any cost within the bounds of reason, and it is predicted there will be no more than enough to satisfy the call.

The condition of the wind during the present week has brought forward another large fleet of lumber-laden coasters from both the Provinces and Maine. Some were under contract, but enough remained unsold to create a temporary surplus, and with the usual result in forcing a shading on the least desirable cargoes. They are clearing out rapidly however, and the ever sanguine receivers predict an early restoration of strength, and insist that it will be a very long time before another such bunch can put in an appearance.

Piling is considered good property on the basis of probable scant supply as gauged against the demand. There is considerable here brought over from last season, but receivers, who generally handle a large proportion of the supply, say they are sure to be short, and are calculating upon a higher range of values for the most desirable sticks at least.

Hemlock has been delivered with some freedom this spring, and the more urgent wants of buyers in a measure relieved. The demand, however, continues very good, in part from old custom and in part on new outlets, so that negotiations are steady. Sellers, however, in many cases talk and act as though they felt rather indifferent, as in view of the large amounts already placed and the good control of the remainder, as well as of the output—especially in Pennsylvania—there is little danger of any pressure to realize.

White Pine undergoes very little apparent change. Dealers, in most cases, assert that they are still feeling a certain amount of independence and therefore in no hurry to invest, while on the other hand sellers frequently look wise and intimate that if they were only allowed to unseal their lips the revelations possible would show that in one way or another a large amount of stock was finding a location. Sellers are plenty enough and that appears to be the greatest danger to the market, as close and persistent drumming generally has a sequence in modified cost. Nothing, however, has sold for less than last season, and about $1.00 per M has been asked, and the compromise rates upon which considerable business was probably transacted neither side are anxious should be made public.

Yellow Pine, contrary to predictions of some of the trade, is still kept under fair control and the offering made only to extent of the requirements of the market, except in a few cases from outside sources. Values, in consequence, rule pretty steady, and desirable cuts, specials, etc., command full bids promptly. Some operators report less doing on free on board orders, but others claim a gain, and on the average that section of the business is standing up very well.

Carolina Pine remains firm in price, and it is positively asserted that the combination of manufacturers is determined to give the market all the support it requires. The demand, however, of itself promises much assistance, and altogether the outlook is cheerful for standard and attractive goods. For timber some trade is expected if spruce keeps high, but it will be only on very cheap work and for early consumption, no dealer wanting it for stock.

Hardwoods are generally commanding about former figures and making a pretty good showing in the way of a movement of small parcels into consumption, and the average amount for export including quite a fair variety, and th re is also more or less custom for offerings from first hands. The latter, however, are approached somewhat carefully, as dealers feel in pressing need for stock at the moment and must find special attraction to induce them to move quickly. Poplar is well held and there appears to be a special determination to keep it up, though manufacturers and their agents claim that natural demand will furnish all the real assistance required.

Shingles, between now and then, some very good export orders and the natural gradual increase of home demand are having a fair business. There is an intimation, however, of considerable irregularity on value and not the strengthening tone some dealers had hoped for.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows :

Conditions peculiar to the season have placed the general lumber trade in a state of uncertainty unusual at this time of the year. The winter was remarkably mild, which permitted of continued distribution and consumption of lumber at a period when ordinarily both are at a standstill. This conduced to the winter anticipation of the spring trade throughout the West, and to some extent in the East. The premature opening of spring also permitted farmers to get to work early, which tended to bridge over the usual time of spring trade, which has caused considerable anxiety in the wholesale markets for fear that the loss will not be recovered at any future time during the season. Between the lakes and Missouri River there has been a looking for cut freight rates, which has tended to hesitancy on the part of country dealers about getting forward lumber, as all will want to take advantage of low rates when they come.

Another feature of the situation is the somewhat limited crop of logs, consequent on the open winter, and the delay in driving down the streams for lack of water that has resulted from prolonged dry weather. This induces the manufacturers to insist on firm prices on last season's basis, and in some instances an advance is asked. But the dealers do not respond favorably to this insistence. They are generally dissatisfied with the prevailing demand, which appears to lack life and urgency. As merchants they are unwilling to go into the market to buy lumber freely, and at last season's prices, until they are well assured as to the size of demand throughout the season. The dealers do not take much account of the assumed scarcity of logs, or of the probability that they will not mostly get into the mill booms. They say that there is yet time enough before June for floods of rain that may swell the streams to a driving stage. Thus both the manufacturing and the distributing interests are waiting for the results that will follow later in the season. The attitude of the manufacturers is one of hope and anxiety, and that of the dealers a looking for the main chance, as is common with merchants of all classes.

There is one favorable feature of the situation. The consumptive demand in all the large cities has been heavy ever since the building season opened, and the prospects for the remainder of the year are bright. This assures a large demand from that branch of the trade, which within the past few years has been more important than the rural requirements. Should the country demand rise to its usual proportions later in the season, the round up for the year would show as well as in any previous period. In fact, there is no reason to positively assume that this is not to be a good year for the lumber trade, so far as the volume of distribution is concerned. Any doubt that may now prevail in respect to the general condition is gendered by causes that but half exist, and that may a little later be developed into favorable influences.

The weather throughout the spring has been favorable to the drying of lumber. The result is that the majority of stock in the yards is ready for delivery. As might be concluded, under such circumstances dealers are less anxious to buy in new supplies of dry lumber than is usual at the opening of the cargo market season. With plenty of dry lumber on hand and only a moderate trade prevailing, there is not much stir about future supplies. The dealers are taking affairs easily, and do not appear inclined to push any feature of business beyond an ordinary course. For this reason it is likely that the cargo market will not this season start off with a rush. During the early part of the season the disposition will be to moderation.

Receipts at Chicago thus far in April have been much larger than last year, much of the stock going directly to the yards. During the week ending April 10 the total was 19,380,000 feet, as against 8,537,000 in the corresponding week of 1888. The heavy receipts this year are, of course, accountable to the early opening of navigation.

The Timberman as follows :

From every quarter—from Cheboygan, Saginaw, and Muskegon, from Duluth, Ashland, Minneapolis and Eau Claire—reports of low water and the pressing need of rain are coming in. In the Saginaw district hundreds of men employed on the drives have been discharged, and millions of feet of logs will be hung all summer if a heavy freshet doesn't come.

It is claimed that the drouth in the upper Michigan woods is greater than ever known. Knowing ones claim that there are 1,000,000 feet of logs hung up.

The Eastern wholesalers at Boston, New York, Buffalo and Tonawanda are buying large blocks of lumber in Michigan that is yet in the log, and are paying, in most cases, more than last year's prices. In fact most of the sales made in Michigan to date have been to Eastern dealers. These early purchases and the present trade conditions in that quarter, betoken a prosperous lumber trade for the entire season.

During the last seven days about twenty-five vessels loaded with lumber have been tied at the foot of Franklin street and offered for sale by the commission men. As the current report of the Exchange secretary shows that there is an increase of nearly sixty million feet in the stock on hand, as compared with the condition of stocks one year ago, it seems these first cargoes have gone into consumption quite rapidly.

Several cargoes of cull piece stuff, boards and the like, were sold during the week, and at not more than $7.75 per thousand, something less than the opening price at which this stock sold. Hemlock piece stuff was reported sold at a shade less than $8 per thousand, but it is doubtful if this is true. Extra dry hemlock sold as high as $8.50. Short length pine piece stuff is selling at from $10.25 to $10.50 Long lengths sold at about last fall's closing prices, $11 to $13.

It is to be noted that among the arrivals at the Chicago lumber docks thus far this season hemlock piece stuff has figured conspicuously. Commission men say that there is not as much hemlock piece stuff to come forward as there was last spring, and hence the commodity they are in possession of is more precious. However, trades that have been made thus far have been based on about $8.50 per thousand for short lengths. It is selling in the yards, after handling and drying, at about $11; some say $10.50. Consumers who are using it argue that there is a more moderate investment in the buying of hemlock piece stuff, and as it has been a leading commodity in the East for generations, there is no reason why it should not find a place in the West.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman, Minneapolis, as follows :

During the past ten days business has fallen off considerably. An unexpected and disappointing dullness has come over the market, which makes the dealers feel a little out of sorts. They had prepared for and expected a good spring trade, and though some apprehension was felt least the disturbance in Iowa freight rates in February and March had made inroads in that trade would defeat the natural demand at this market; yet when the differential was restored, trade was so brisk that it was thought the southwest dealers had held their orders, and that the damage done was not alarming after all. The rush which followed the restoration was, however, misleading as an indication of the regular run of business. It was a spurt. During the two weeks immediately following March 15th, when the reduction was made, the shipments were very heavy, and made a large aggregate. The figures of this year, when compared with those of last are favorable to the former, and they have been so continuously every week this year. The shipments this week from Minneapolis are 1,200,000 feet less than for the week previous, but they are 500,000 feet gr ater than for the corresponding week last year, but the shipments of last week were 2,750,000 feet ahead of the shipments of the corresponding week last year.

ENGLAND.

The London Timber Trades Journal as follows:

The heavy pitch pine freights are not traceable to the mere length of voyage, the difference in distance between Pensacola and Lulea in the Gulf of Bothnia not being a thousand miles; the expenses and delays of the Southern ports are what make the shipmasters dislike the shipping places on the Southern shores of the United States. To the White Sea, which is a longer voyage still the freight is not half as much as to Mobile and other places, and shipowners are always ready to charter. It is a pity that so much of the cost of the wood on this side should be swallowed up in the freight.

American Black Walnut.—In lumber especiallly, a good and well-sustained trade is being done at prices which show but little variation. We likewise hear of some important sales of logs having been made by private contract. It is the best qualities, however, that are in most request.

American Whitewood.—This market has a cheerful tone, and late prices are maintained with firmness, but this is mostly apparent with respect to good qualitiest.;

American Satin Walnut.—For this there is no buoyancy in the demand, a slow trade only being done, so that there is not likely to be any wholesale speculation except it be at a very low price.

Sequoia.—In this there is nothing new to report; what few sales have been made were by private contract, very little having been done at public auction. It does not seem at all likely that this trade will ever develop much, at least for cabinet-making purposes.

LIVERPOOL.

Pitch pine timber, both sawn and hewn, continues in good demand, and from the three cargoes now discharging in the Canada Dock for Messrs. Harrison, Robinson & Co., viz., the Equator, W. G. Russell and Annot Lyle, we notice large quantities marked and being forwarded as rapidly as it is landed and measured.

The stock of hewn timber is reduced to 39,000 cubic feet, whilst that of sawn, though apparently ample, includes in it the three cargoes above mentioned upon which little impression has yet been actually made in delivery. In fact, we understood they were all sold out before arrival, or nearly so, therefore they may be eliminated from the total.

Though the importation of oak wagon scantling from the United States has been large during the past month, viz., 81,000 ft., the demand has more than kept pace with it, reducing the stocks to 117,000 ft. This is a step in the right direction but a further reduction of the stock would be desirable if better prices are to be obtained for what is now the cheapest article in the market.

Walnutwood.—Several of the lots lately landed by the steamers from the American ports have been upon consignment, and as is often the case, they are but of indifferent quality. A low price has to be accepted to effect sales, especially from the ship side. Really prime wood is in fair request and maintains its value.

Whitewood—Very little, either in the shape of logs or lumber, has come to hand for some time past. The demand, however, is only languid, and prices easy in tone.

NAILS —The outward movement of stocks has been very fair and on that score there was little to complain of. Demand, however, is sufficiently well guarded to resist any attempt to take advantage of it and buyers refuse to submit to higher rates. Sellers generally seem to think it good policy to meet the market without contest. We quote at $1.80@1.85 for car lots, and $1.90@2.00 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Business has continued very good for all standard descriptions of stock and customers are commencing to add a few extras to their invoices and extending assortments, which is an improvement over last week. It looks, however, as though buyers were very determined to adhere to a thoroughly cautious method and abstain as much as possible from investing beyond well determined requirements. Linseed Oil has remained under control and firm at 56@57c. for Western, and 58@58½c. for City. Spirits Turpentine has sold at higher rates since our last and the general inclination of the market seems to favor sellers, though the close is somewhat unsettled at 46½@47½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Some irregularity of demand has been shown, but it took about the usual quantity of stock to satisfy all the orders, and as a whole the market ruled reasonably steady. First hand offerings are fair in quantity. We quote Pitch $1.35@1.50 per bbl.: Tar at $2.10@2.20, according to quantity, quality and delivery.
